Samizdat!

*Pagan Rome dedicated the rites of the New Year to the god Janus, the two-faced god of transitions. One of his faces looks into the past and the other the future. It was traditional to offer a cake called a janual at the New Year. The composition of this has been lost to the ages, but you could make due with an arbitrary cake if you were so inclined. Maybe it doesn't hurt to honor the old ways at a time like this.*

The doors of Janus's temples were open during wartime, and closed in peacetime. Though he was not a god of war, war was a special time for him because in a time of crisis you get must decide on the civilizational scale where it is you want to arrive at and who you want to be when you get there. On the new year the master of the rites would proclaim where he hoped civilization to arrive at. We do this as individuals every New Year's when we forge resolutions. This is our chance to redefine ourselves.

If there's one thing that we can learn from Janus it's that you can't look towards the future without an eye for the past. We're entering into something new now, and we're going to want to keep sight of history to make sure we're emulating the kinds of behaviors that are proven to lead to success.

2018 is going to be a good year for us. Groypers are making things extra cozy, but don't let the coziness draw you too far in. We're going to see some easy wins, but in 2019 we could be looking at a massive global war as the deep state decides to stymie progress on the domestic civilization by plunging us into foreign conflict. So this is the time to get serious and make preparations. If you don't like the situation or place that you're in, use this year to just walk away from it.

I was a Lutheran for a while. They celebrate the New Year as the time Christ was circumcised I never really knew what to make of that at all. Always seemed like a very bizarre reason to throw a party, but that's just me. I think I prefer a two faced god that loves cakes to a feast centered around infant mutilation.

I'm going to go drink some rakija. I'm going to offer Janus some cake too. Might as well, I don't eat that stuff anyways, it's not paleo. I'll see you all in the view of Janus's other face.

Happy New Year, everyone!

We need a lot more than race for a vision of a new society.

Saying “all we need is race for a good society” is like saying “all I need for a good life is for my heart to keep beating.”

We need a complete vision of man, for which race is simply the first step.

Daily Stormer's Top 20 Stories of 2017

December 31, 2017

2017 was a great year of great memories.

Today, on the last day of this year, we will look back at some of the best of them.

This is the Daily Stormer's top 20 stories of 2017.

I've done it in countdown form, to make it more enjoyable.

Note: click the links to enjoy the memories.

20.) Moldylocks

Video Link

The punch heard round the world really kicked off the Summer of Hate. Nathan Damigo (PBUH), the holy Prophet of WHITE SHARIA, ran across a mob of people at Berkeley to land a punch straight on the face of a dreadlocked whore during a protest there.

It later turned out that she was a "hairy" fetish porno model.

The presence of a man with a "Jesus will judge you" jacket on behind the punch scene prompted the development of the slogan "Jesus will judge you after death—Nathan Damigo will judge you NOW!"

19.) PewDiePie Calling for the Extermination of Jews

PewDiePie made a comedy video wherein he had some Pakis from Fiver say "Death to All Jews."

Then the Daily Stormer put him in our banner.

Then the SPLC teamed up with the Wall Street Journal to get him fired from Disney.

And a whole bunch of young kids who are fans of Pewds will now hate kikes for the rest of their lives.

Plus, I got featured in a PewDiePie video, which was one of my life goals...well, my site got featured...not sure if that counts. I'm still hoping to do a livestream with him, but the only game I play is Pillars of Eternity. And N64 roms.

18.) Islamic Terrorism

There was an entire shitload of Islamic terrorist attacks this year. The most "high profile" attacks in the West of any year prior (though they still have a ways to go before we beat the 2001 high score).

United Kingdom—March 22 —A man drove a car into pedestrians on the south side of Westminster Bridge, injuring 49 people, 4 of them fatally— score: 6

Russia—April 3 —A suicide bomber blew himself up on the St. Petersburg metro. The bomber was born in Kyrgyzstan and had ties to radical Islamists— score: 6

France—April 20 —Three police officers and a bystander were shot by an attacker wielding an AK-47 rifle on the Champs-Élysées, a shopping boulevard in Paris. The attacker was shot dead during the incident. He had a note defending the Islamic State, and had previously attempted to communicate with Islamic State fighters in Iraq and Syria— score: 5

United Kingdom—May 22 —Manchester Arena bombing—A suicide bomber attacks Ariana Grande's pop concert with audience of up to 20,000. Twenty-two people were arrested in connection with the attack, all of whom had been released without charge by 11 June— score: 22

United Kingdom—June 3 —The June 2017 London Bridge attack, was an incident where a van ran over multiple pedestrians on the London Bridge. On Borough Market the occupants of the van stabbed multiple people before being shot by police— score: 11

France—June 6 —Notre Dame attack A lone wolf who was carrying knives in his rucksack attacked an officer guarding Notre Dame de Paris with a hammer— score: 0

Spain—August 18—Barcelona attacks —Three separate attacks in Barcelona kill at least fifteen people and injure more than one hundred others. "Authorities believe the men to be part of 12 member Islamic Terror cell" — score: 15

United States—October 31 —Lower Manhattan attack—A man drove a pickup truck into cyclists and runners along about 1 mile (2 km) of a bicycle path in Lower Manhattan, New York City. After he left the vehicle, the driver was wielding two guns (later found to be a paintball gun and a pellet gun); he was shot in the abdomen by police and arrested— score: 8

I used this Wikipedia list.

The Wikipedia Jews have failed to include a bunch of them that governments—in particular the government of Germany—ruled to be “mental health attacks” instead of terrorism. But a brotha ain’t got time to remember all dem.

17.) New York Times “Humanizing” a Nazi

The media has been on a rampage of dehumanization of “Nazis,” claiming that we are all pure evil (Jews used to claim evil is a social construct, but no more) with mental problems or bad childhoods or whatever.

Then the NYT published a story on Tony Hovater, which triggered a massive backlash from the Jews, with the ADL and every single bluecheck Twitter personality coming out and condemning them for not making the guy out to be diabolically evil.

This, like everything the Jews do, played in our favor. Any normal person can see that the NYT is the most liberal paper on the planet, and somehow they were being accused of promoting Nazism for the specific reason that they did not smear this man.

16.) Lauren Southern Fucking a Nigger

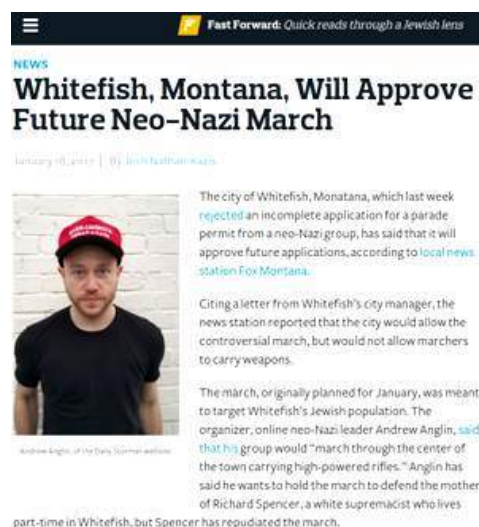

The Alt-Lite thot Lauren Southern was trolled into admitting that she fucked a nigger.

This triggered a massive backlash, and proved the point I have been making for years about “women in the movement.”

The incident resulted in my now-infamous article, “Women Should Shut the Fuck Up.”

15.) The Whitefish Armed Nazi March

I planned a march in the town of Whitefish, Montana, wherein I would bus in 200 skinheads to march with long guns through the center of the town in the January snow.

Although the premise of busing in hundreds of skinheads to march in the snow seemed outrageous enough on its own, the media actually reported it when I said I was flying in a top Hamas fighter to give a speech about Jews.

Although the march never actually materialized, due to having been thwarted by local authorities who claimed we filled out the permit wrong, it remains the most successful Neo-Nazi march of all time. It was denounced by the governor, both Senators, every global Jewish organization and rabbis were flown in to teach the local people about the supremacy of Jews. Also, even though the march didn’t happen, hundreds of counter-protesters showed up.

14.) Collapse of the “Skeptic Movement”

Video Link

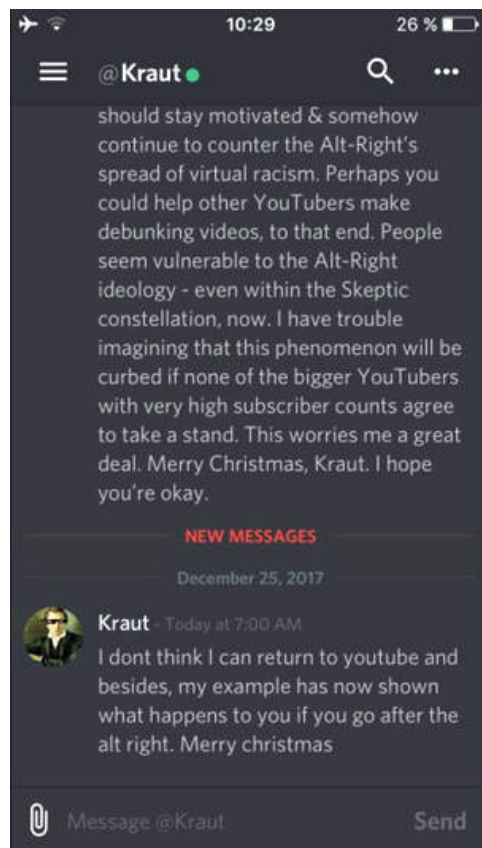

After this super-foxy German nerd skeptic YouTuber cited me in a video, the skeptic community was thrown into chaos.

Rage After Storm—plz txt meh.

This resulted in this guy named Kraut and Tea going into an infinite rage and spending months trying to debunk the Alt-Right. Eventually, he learned that he couldn’t debunk the Alt-Right, and so ran a secret doxing and defamation campaign against it. That was exposed, and he was forced to resign from the internet.

This isn't confirmed but I think it's real probably.

This is a foreshadowing of 2018, wherein Sargon of Akkad will be crushed, and the entire skeptic movement will simply be absorbed into the Alt-Right, as the Libertarian and Conspiracy Theory movements were before it. It's also a foreshadowing of the ULTIMATE NAZI DATING SCANDAL of me and German nerd girl, the fallout from which will result in an EVEN BETTER series of Mister Metokur videos than the one he did about Kraut and Tea.

13.) The End of the Syrian War and Defeat of ISIS

After fiveish years, the Syrian war ended and ISIS was defeated in the region.

This was a major event on a lot of different levels, not the least of which being that the Jews have now gone into a frenzy and are trying to throw a revolution in Iran.

Perhaps the key takeaway was that Russia was able to end this quickly after the US, under Barack Obama, spent 4 years bombing the country while ISIS just got bigger and bigger, proving once and for all that the American ZOG is in total support of Islamic terrorism that benefits Israel. I will also note that Russia's victory couldn't have been possible if Donald Trump hadn't cut funding for the CIA program that was funneling weapons to ISIS.

12.) Paul Nehlen Awakens

The most high-profile figure yet to name the Jew did it.

Paul Nehlen, a Bannonte candidate who ran against Paul Ryan in Wisconsin in 2016 and is doing that again in 2018 came out full-on against the evil Jews, to a degree that was mind-blowing.

I stayed away from covering this story on purpose, as you may have noticed. At this point, it doesn't really matter anymore, so I'll start covering it next year.

Basically, Nehlen just started tweeting as if he was full-Anglin, which resulted in the entirety of the Jewish realm condemning him.

Currently reading pic.twitter.com/8UVUeEn7

— Paul Nehlen (@pnehlen) December 27, 2017

Book blaming Jews for anti-Semitism, written by the Neo-Nazi movement's fave "academic," being pushed by Breitbart favorite Paul Nehlen. <https://t.co/TbGJRq1Bnj>

— Jake Tapper (@jaketapper) December 27, 2017

Ultimately, this resulted in Bannon separating himself from him, which is a debatable move on Bannon's part.

Either way, the Nehlen Twitter feed was the official 2017 announcement that anti-Semitism is mainstream. This is something that the Jews are simply going to have to deal with. "WOW JUST WOW I CAN'T EVEN" and "SHUT UP YOU GOYIM PIGS" doesn't work when you have figures this high-profile saying this stuff.

This is beyond "look at this how disgusting" and beyond "private companies must silence these people in order to protect our feelings." They are now in a position where they are going to have to explain exactly what the hell is going on with their total control of the entire political, financial and media establishment.

We eagerly await the official statement on that in 2018.

11.) Prince Harry's Engagement to Harambe

The Prince of England is marrying a nigger.

10.) Judge Roy Moore Losing Due to Jailbait Accusations

Video Link

By far the most depressing even of 2017 was the successful campaign to smear the Bannomite candidate Judge Roy Moore with “overly forward behavior involving jailbait” allegations, which resulted in his loss in Alabama, one of the reddest states in America.

This has large ramifications for Bannonomism as a whole, which I was very hopeful for. It might actually mean that that particular party is over. Recouping from this loss is going to be excruciatingly difficult at best.

Bannon's plan, of course, was to beat mainstream GOP candidates in the primaries, replacing the cuck Congress with populist Trumpists. But now, Trump himself is counter-signaling this agenda, and the entire establishment is gloating with “I told you so.” Of course, if the GOP establishment hadn't joined in the feeding frenzy with the Jew media attacking Moore, he would have won, meaning that what McConnell and the rest are actually saying now is “see, I told you we have the ability to stop you.”

The early death of Bannonomism is unfortunate, but we've got a stack of back-up plans here. At the top of which is Nehlenism AKA Eat-a-Bulletism.

9.) The End of Net Neutrality

When you're about to kill off Net Neutrality so you celebrate by going on Amazon

Relating to the overall internet censorship agenda was the Trump administrations decision to end “Net Neutrality” AKA “Free Bandwidth for Netflixtrality.”

The reason that this was so significant, beyond the liberal Jewish freakout over it calling it “the end of the internet,” is that it intensified the debate over the role of media companies in censoring content. The ostensible purpose of NN was to stop Comcast from censoring content, and the FCC filing said point blank: Comcast has never censored content, but Silicon Valley colluded in a conspiracy to censor the Daily Stormer.

This is a foreshadowing of things to come in 2018, when we will be gloriously returning to our throne at DailyStormer.com.

8.) Vegas Massacre and Thousands of Dollars of Sushi (Comped)

By far the weirdest story of 2017 was the biggest mass murder in history, the Vegas Massacre.

The alleged perpetrator of the attack, Stephen Paddock, is a mysterious white man. We still have no idea why this event took place, but we know that the FBI is purposefully covering it up—from the disappearance and reappearance of the only witness, to the alleged robbery of his house, to the disappearance of his computer hard-drive, everything about the official story here is obvious bullshit. They are claiming they won't tell people the motive until October of 2018, indicating that they know the motive.

Almost as shocking as the attack itself was the fact that the killer would fly to Japan on a whim and eat thousands of dollars of sushi—comped.

7.) Christopher Cantwell's Jail Stint and Jail Broadcast

One of my personal favorite events of 2017 was Christopher Cantwell going to jail.

Now—hear me out.

These podcasts he did, called “Live from Seg,” are historic in nature. And the event itself was historic in nature.

The man pepper-sprayed someone in self-defense at the Charlottesville rally, and then other people—who were not pepper-sprayed—claimed that they were, and Cantwell was arrested for it. He then served more than 3 months in prison, even though we had all of this video showing that the witnesses were lying. Most of the charges were dismissed, but he is still facing one charge and is trapped in Virginia until he goes to trial.

This is the most open political persecution in my lifetime, and possibly in the entire history of the United States. There can be absolutely no doubt that we, the right wing, are down by law. What these people did to Cantwell proves definitively that we are the threat to the system that the system fears. The state tried to make an example of him, and what they did was give proof that they are trying to suppress rising nationalist sentiment, and are willing to do anything to accomplish that.

Cantwell was also the hands-down start of Charlottesville, being the key figure in the VICE documentary on the event which was now been watched by 2.5 million people.

6.) Mass Censorship

Following Charlottesville, the Jews pulled the switch on their plan to utterly silence any and all dissent against them on the internet.

This resulted in the Daily Stormer being the first legal site to have its domain pulled. As you are aware if you are reading this, we still haven't gotten it back.

Along with this, many a YouTuber had their account pulled. People lost their PayPals. Even Coinbase, a bitcoin exchange, started blocking people from sending money to right-wing wallets.

For a few weeks there, it felt as though the walls were closing in.

But the Daily Stormer, with weev at the helm, was able to hold the line. We have been on...more than 20 different domains, and we went to Tor hidden service whenever we got kicked off. There has been virtually zero actual downtime for the site, proving that it is impossible to shut down the Daily Stormer.

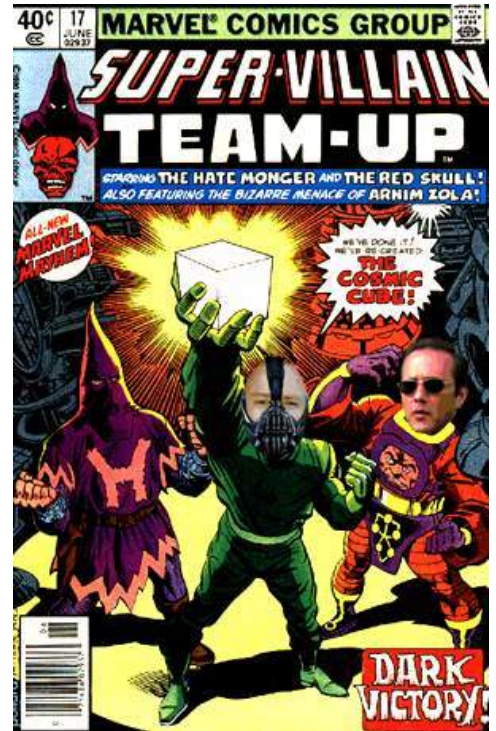

The goal was to get us off and then move on to the next target, but the fact that they can't stop us means they can't move to the next target.

Now, it appears that Cloudflare's CEO, who pulled our service during the initial mess, did so in order to pressure the government into making censorship of content by backbone services illegal under some new form of Net Neutrality. He doesn't want to be the content gatekeeper, as this is not his job.

Basically, the entire thing backfired, and we now have a situation where the government is going to come in and protect people's rights to speech. These laws would certainly include making it illegal for Google, GoDaddy and Cloudflare to ban you, as well as probably PayPal and other internet financial services, and may even extend to Twitter and Facebook.

Can you imagine if they gave me my Twitter account back?

The damage that would result in such a thing?

5.) Donald Trump

Donald Trump as President had some super highs and some super lows.

The worst part was when he bombed Syria, the best part was when he built the wall...the best part was when he defended us over Charlottesville.

All said, it was the wacky ride of a lifetime.

We are being told it's going to get even better in 2018, but the thing is: we've got a bunch of impending wars on our hands, and Trump doesn't really seem very capable of handling this.

The domestic stuff has pretty much all be great, but that does become a secondary thing if we enter WWIII.

4.) The Daily Stormer

This year, both the Daily Stormer and RT became their own top news stories.

META BRO.

I can't even remember all the stuff that happened. That Whitefish March was the first.

The last was the SPLC, at the behest of a disgraced fake news artist, getting someone to perjure himself and say he saw me in Ohio.

I was on the cover of a Jewish magazine, I got the CEO of Papa John's fired by endorsing him, we became the first website to be kicked off of the internet and the FCC cited me in their Net Neutrality filing, I got sued a bunch of times, a journalist showed Donald Trump my picture, we were featured in a PewDiePie video, that hot nerd started an internet war about an article I wrote, I trolled the media with my own style guide leading to the Jews calling me a genius child-brainwashing mastermind (formerly an inbred trailer park white trash honky retard), I endorsed Yair Netanyahu and became a top Israeli news story and was featured on Israeli TV, WIRED Magazine named me one of the most dangerous people in the world, —what else? I don't even remember. It was a lot.

When I was 33, it was a very good year.

3.) Metoo

The implosion of the Jewish coalition of the willing began as the feminist golem the Jews created began to eat its master with the Metooist movement.

First it was top Hollywood kike Harvey Weinstein that got his life destroyed for sexual harassment and this went all the way up to the top Senate kike Al Franken. Virtually everyone who has been hit by this feminist tsunami has been Jewish. And it shows no signs of letting up in 2018.

The Jewish establishment, sensing impending doom, is now timidly attempting to claim that some forms of sexual harassment are not that bad. But it was too late for that a long, long time ago.

You never thought we would be cheering raging feminist nutjobs. But I knew it was coming.

2.) Hoaxgate

For the first few months of the year, Jewish Community Centers were getting prank call bomb threats all across America.

Eric Striker and I asserted that this had to have been done by Jews.

The logic was that anyone intelligent enough to be able to disguise their location and make all of these calls had to also have been intelligent enough to know that it was helping Jews, meaning that this person had to himself be a Jew.

We were told we were engaging in an anti-Semitic conspiracy theory. Then Donald Trump, when harassed about this issue, stated that it "might be the reverse." He was then accused of harboring an anti-Semitic conspiracy theory.

Then the perp was caught—in Israel.

Initially, both a 19-year-old and his father were arrested, then his father was released and it was all pinned on the teenager, whom they claim is mentally ill and has a brain tumor.

Instead of apologizing to the Daily Stormer for calling us "conspiracy theorists" for predicting the event, the evil Jews are still using these prank calls in their statistics as “anti-Semitic hate crimes,” simply disregarding the fact that they were done by a Jew to help the Jewish agenda of pretending to be both the most powerful group in the world and also innocent, oppressed victims of evil whites. They have even forced through a law based on this.

My current belief is that the ADL knew who was doing these prank calls. Because they had to have followed my logic and determined that it was a Jew, and in order to push it like they did—going so far as to bully Trump into making it one of the first statements in his first State of the Union address—they had to have had reason to believe that the Jewish perp would not get caught—meaning they had to have known who he was and known details surrounding this situation.

The ADL was flipping out, having planned to push through “hate speech” laws under Hillary Clinton—they even had a conference, the weekend after the election, calling for such legislation. Obviously, they had written their speeches under the assumption that Clinton would win.

The the allegedly retarded brain tumor prank caller was revealed to be running a multi-million dollar criminal empire, and had also done prank calls before. He would have been the perfect person to contract to do these calls.

That may never come out. But also, it might come out. The FBI went to Israel to track this guy down, at Trump’s request. And Israel is currently refusing to extradite him. Meanwhile, the ADL continues to attack Trump. There is enough reason to believe, based on their obsessive and extreme promotion of the hoax, that they had some hand in it. It’s enough for the FBI to open an investigation. For sure it is that.

If they do, it will be our biggest story of the year in 2018.

1.) Charlottesville

Hands down, the biggest story of 2017 was the Charlottesville rally itself.

The crown jewel of the Summer of Hate. The reverse Woodstock.

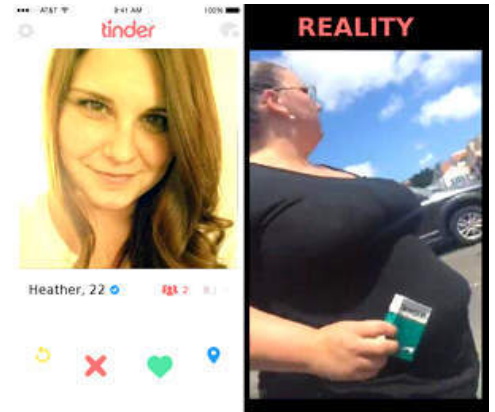

This was the culmination of what myself and others had been working toward for half a decade.

And while there was a lot of bad that came from it—the guys that got sent to jail certainly didn’t like that and I certainly I didn’t like being shut down (even though it ultimately was good for the brand)—the upshot of the event was entirely and overwhelmingly positive. It put us on the map.

It had to happen.

It told the whole planet about a rising nationalist movement seeking to change the world. It made us the top news story and that hasn’t really let up. Our numbers have exploded since this event.

And yes, it was terribly, horribly sad that a useless fat slob died in the process.

Every day, I mourn her. Every day, I light a candle to her fat memory.

Of course, we are struggling now, in the aftermath, to organize ourselves in a way that allows us to move forward. But we have overcome every obstacle so far, and we will overcome this one as well.

The world is ours.

All we have to do is stand up and take it.

2018 will see more growth than ever before.

In this year, the world will know of the deeds of the Jews, and the Jews will have to respond accordingly.

Be ready.

Hail Victory.

Iran: Two Dead in Protest Clashes! Government Says It was a False Flag!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 31, 2017

It’s such a strange coincidence that right as the Syrian war ends, with Iran building bases in Syria near the Israeli border, the Iranian people have randomly decided to have a revolution.

If I didn't know better, I'd guess the Hebrew people were behind this.

RT:

At least two people taking part in pro-and anti-government rallies in Iran were killed, local media reported, citing officials. These are the first fatalities attributed to the recent mass protests.

The deaths were reported in the city of Doroud (Dorud), 325 kilometers southwest of Tehran, in Iran's western Lorestan Province, the semi-official Mehr News Agency reported. The unauthorized rally ignited clashes, Habibollah Khojastepour, the security deputy of Lorestan's governor, told the agency, adding that two protesters were killed in the clashes.

"The gathering was to be ended peacefully, but due to the presence of the [agitators], unfortunately, this happened," Khojastepour said. The official did not specify the causes of the deaths, adding that "no bullets were shot from police and security forces at the people."

The ongoing protests across Iran started on Thursday as a demonstration against soaring food prices and unemployment, snowballing into the biggest anti-government movement in eight years.

Speaking to state TV, Khojastepour said that those killed in Doroud were targeted by foreign agents, not the police, Reuters reports. "We have found evidence of enemies of the revolution, Takfiri [Sunni extremists] groups and foreign agents in this clash."

Remember that this is the exact same thing that happened during the Ukrainian revolution, which was run by America and the Mossad—protesters were shot and the government said they didn't do it, that it was a false flag. Even an EU diplomat who witnessed it, in a call that was leaked, confirmed it was a false flag.

Pretty much, people who run governments know that you don't shoot protesters. Unless you're Israel, but that's different because they're shooting the occupied population—which they are trying to rile up—instead of a population they are trying to rule.

Thousands of pro-and anti-government demonstrators have taken to the streets across Iran since Thursday. Anti-government protests were prompted mostly by discontent over economic hardship and alleged corruption. The crowds also aimed their anger at the supreme leader, Ayatollah Ali Khamenei.

"People are protesting because [they] are under economic pressure and the government must be responsive in the face of rising inflation and these economic hardships," Mostafa Kiaie, a demonstrator, said, as cited by AFP.

Pro-government protests were held in around 1,200 cities and towns, local media reported. Mass pro-government protests took place in Tehran and Mashhad, Iran's second most populous city.

This may or may not become the ultimate disaster.

Who knows.

I do know that at the same time this is happening, South Korea is seizing Chinese oil tankers. And while Israel is beginning a new large-scale bombing campaign in Palestine.

We are in an extremely, extremely volatile global situation here.

Important that we support the non-violent protesters in #Iran. This is the result of a regime more focused on propping up terrorist organizations than addressing the plight of its citizens.

— Paul Ryan (@SpeakerRyan) December 29, 2017

The Jews have never been in a worse situation than they are in right now. They (yes, they are ISIS) lost the war in Syria and Russia is protecting Syria while Iran builds bases there. The Trump embassy declaration inflamed the entire Islamic world against them, agitating them towards aggression.

It feels very much, on this New Year's Eve, as though we are counting down to the apocalypse.

Video Link

I think we'll get another year. Probably. Hopefully.

But whatever happens, something is going to happen.

There is just no peaceful resolution to any of this. The Jews have simply accumulated too much power.

Utah Teacher Fired for Showing Children Classic Art

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 31, 2017

Virtually all classical churches have some form of frontal nudity featured in them. Which is...kind of a weird thought. Really shows how far the Protestants went with that Puritanism stuff.

It is the law in America that you have to teach children about man-on-man anal sex.

But classic art?

Nah.

Fox News:

A Utah teacher was fired earlier this month following complaints made against him after he showed images of classical paintings containing nudity in a classroom seen by fifth and sixth-graders.

Mateo Rueda, a former art teacher at Lincoln Elementary in Hyrum, Utah, said he planned to appeal his termination to clear his reputation, FOX13 reported.

The teacher said he was not aware that a set of educational postcards from the school's library contained a few works depicting nudity when he handed them out during a lesson.

The two images seen by students were the Impressionist-era portrait "Iris Tree" by Italian painter Amedeo Modigliani and the Rococo-style partial nude "Odalisque" by 18th-century artist Francois Boucher, the teacher said.

Ugh, Modigliani.

And Odalisque is arguably cuck porn.

So maybe he did deserve to be fired...

Rueda told FOX13 he was "surprised about those images being there." He said he went through the educational postcards and took out the ones he felt were inappropriate for the students.

Bella Jensen, a fifth grader who was a student of Rueda's, said he told her their lesson on Dec. 4 may make the class feel uncomfortable. "Mr. Mateo explained to us that there might be some pictures that we'll find uncomfortable," Jensen told FOX13. She said her friends laughed at some of the paintings but enjoyed the project.

"There were some pictures that were a little weird, and most kids were laughing," she said.

However, some students felt the images were inappropriate.

"Children were expressing their discomfort and then explaining that they felt it was inappropriate," Rueda said.

I'm not sure if this is appropriate or inappropriate.

I can see both sides of the argument.

But the fact remains: we are teaching children about some very sick things. So to make an issue out of this is to me completely insane.

Trump Intern Flashes Alt-Right Symbol in Group Photo

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer

December 31, 2017

The Nazis aren't coming—we're already here.

Jews and bugmen like to fantasize that Trump is sending dog-whistles to the alt-right, and is pandering to a Neo-Nazi voter base.

But that's wrong.

In fact, things are much more dire for our enemies. The entire White House is filled to the brim with undercover shitlords working hard to implement Trump's neo-fascist agenda involving space travel, building walls, gassing kikes and of course, forcing kids to watch Paw Patrol and Thomas the Tank Engine in order to brainwash them into loving Hitler.

It's time to become a lot more nervous than you already are, Jews, because we're hitting levels of goyim knowing that shouldn't even be possible.

Daily Mail:

The damning evidence in question.

Jack Breuer, who graduated from Emory University in Atlanta this year, is clearly bucking orders—personally given by the president—to give a thumbs-up in the picture that was taken in the White House in November.

Or so you believe—do you really think he isn't following another, more secret set of orders from Trump?

I'm not saying he is.

I'm saying you should be far more paranoid than you already are.

Don't forget to check under your bed for Nazis as well.

While the other hundred or so interns smile and follow Trump's command, Breuer, a dentist's son who grew up in Chicago's western suburbs, stands stony-faced giving the "OK" sign that has been linked with far-right groups.

It is the same sign that white nationalist Richard Spencer gave on the steps of the Trump International Hotel on election night and that right-wing provocateur Milo Yiannopoulos posed with in front of the White House.

And they're not the only ones.

This is pretty damning tbh.

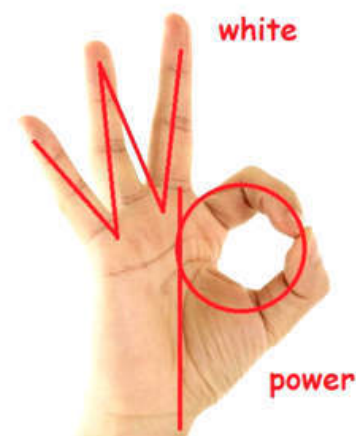

It was also seen at the Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville, Virginia, in August—the same day an alleged Nazi sympathizer accelerated his car into anti-protesters, killing one and injuring several others.

All those surrounding Breuer on the right side of the picture are using their left hands to give their thumbs-up, with him standing out by using his right hand.

The gesture—which only makes sense if made with the right hand, although there are examples of people making it with their left hand—is said to depict the letter "W" with the outstretched middle, ring and little fingers, and a "P" with the circle made by the thumb and forefinger stretching down to the wrist. Together "WP" stands for White Power.

This is known.

Not only are his interns flashing White power symbols, but the man himself is also known to the same, as a kind of "frog whistle" to the alt-right.

With all the work he's been doing, it's normal Trump hasn't caught up with the latest Alt-Right fashion and issued a "toad" whistle for the groypers crowd. But I assume this is coming soon.

The White House is already ours—we're already working on securing the senate, infiltrating it with our agents. And if these Jews think they can stop Bannionism with more grope allegations and electoral fraud, they've got another thing coming to them.

In 2018, the cucks are getting cleansed from congress. And you better hope they do, Jews. Because in the event they don't, democracy will be discredited once and for all, and you're not going to like what comes after that.

Professors Claim That Farmers' Markets are Brutally Oppressing Colored Folk

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
December 31, 2017

To the average white person, nothing could be more wholesome than a farmers' market: a pleasant and convivial space, often outdoors, where one can purchase local produce directly from the growers.

I mean, there's nothing too neo-Nazi and/or White Supremacist about that, right?

Guess again, goy.

You see, to the left-wing, farmers' markets are places where white imperialism and skin-hatred converge. Those handwoven baskets might look innocent, for example, but they were the same baskets used by black slaves to collect cotton in the plantations of the south. Those organic eggplants? "Nigger black," according to the merchant selling them.

And that cheerful gray-haired farmer who's been growing apples for over four decades?

He hands out a copy of "Did Six Million Really Die?" with every bushel purchased.

You might think I'm joking just because I made some light-hearted remarks intended to provoke laughter. But according to two Californian professors who are well-versed in the ancient academic discipline of Food Justice, farmers' markets really are festering hotbeds of racial discrimination—and presumably need to be eradicated, just like everything else that gives white people a smidgen of joy in their lives.

Daily Mail:

Farmers' markets are inherently discriminatory because they're an example of "environmental gentrification" that "excludes" locals who can't "afford the food," two California professors are claiming.

Pascale Joassart-Marcelli and Fernando J. Bosco are two geography professors who work for San Diego State University.

They wrote a scholarly book about the environment and its impact on urban development called Just Green Enough.

According to Fox News, the authors take aim at farmers' markets because they claim they are "white spaces" that are contributing to a process of "displacement of long-term residents."

What does "displacement of long-term residents" even mean? Are the farmers bulldozing colored people's homes to provide room for their vegetable stalls?

Anyway, the notion of non-whites being excluded from farmers' markets due to high prices is nonsense. Everyone knows that Le-a (the dash don't be silent) and her brood of niglets receive far more money via welfare each month than the average working white person. Blacks simply avoid farmers' markets because their animal-like inability to defer gratification compels them to favor addictive and unhealthy foods, hence why they're the fattest racial group in the entire country.

Apparently, being oppressed directly correlates with being well-fed.

The professors, who teach classes titled Geography of Food and Food Justice, say "farmers" markets are often white spaces where the food consumption habits of white people are normalized.'

What are the "food consumption habits of white people," exactly? Planting seeds in the soil, waiting for the crops to grow and then harvesting them?

Or maybe it just means using a knife and fork?

Well, to be fair, both of those concepts elude the North American pavement ape and are therefore, strictly speaking, pro-Jim Crow.

"The most insidious part of this gentrification process is that alternative food initiatives work against the community activists and residents who first mobilized to fight environmental injustices and provide these amenities but have significantly less political and economic clout than developers and real estate professionals," the professors write.

I keep hearing the word "gentrification" in liberal publications, so I finally looked it up. I mean, this has to be a really bad thing, right?

Oh, so it's about making things better. I guess that explains why the dysgenic hordes hate it so much.

Seriously, the amount of cognitive dissonance on display here is astounding. These overeducated professors claim to be “green” and environmentally conscious, yet they’re mobilizing against the definition of environmental improvement. They claim to be for “food justice,” but aim to increase the presence of races that never have, and never will, care about sustainable food production.

Because this isn’t really about geography or nutrition. Just like everything else in our kiked society, it’s about attacking white people.

White people are evil because they sell fruits and vegetables.

“A Refuge for Rascals, A High School for Rogues”

Diversity Macht Frei
December 31, 2017

Remember all those stories about how Jew in France were fleeing antisemitism. Well, it turns out they were actually just trying to dodge taxes.

In recent years, thousands of Jews have immigrated to Israel from France, many of them fleeing anti-Semitism. However, there is evidence to suggest that some of these immigrants may have also been motivated by tax benefits.

Source

“A handful of countries,” Amolis further elucidated in the 2017Knight-Frank Wealth Report, “including Canada, Malta, the United Arab Emirates, Qatar, Monaco, and Israel, as well as Australia and New Zealand—enjoyed significant growth in their ultra-wealthy populations during 2016. What these countries share is the ability to attract migrating high-net-worth individuals and to offer a fiscal and political ‘safe haven’ as well as excellent quality of life.”

In the case of Israel, Amolis is referring to a 2008 law that offers new immigrants and returning immigrants to Israel a ten-year exemption from taxes and any reporting requirement on their income abroad. Ostensibly a law to encourage aliyah, or immigration to Israel, critics claim it signaled to would-be tax evaders and criminals that Israel is a good place to launder their money.

“The idea was to encourage aliyah to Israel of wealthy people by turning Israel into a tax haven,” Bar-Ilan University economist Avichai Snir told The Times of Israel in February. “The new law definitely gave a nudge and a wink to people who had dirty money and wanted to launder it.”

It's been reported that the French government has now set up a department specialising in "French" Jews tax-dodging in Israel. Jews have claimed this has "antisemitic overtones". The French government denies the report.

In other Israel news, the government announced the setting up of a $72 million dollar fund to interfere in western democracies. The money would be used for lobbying, propaganda initiatives, lawfare, etc. designed to combat the growing Boycott, Divestment and Sanctions movement abroad.

Israel's government has approved a plan setting aside $72 million to fighting the campaign to boycott Israel.

The plan would entail the largest monetary investment yet by Israel specifically toward combating the Boycott, Divestment and Sanctions campaign. It was announced last week to the cabinet ministers and approved as an executive order after none of them objected, the Ynet news site reported Friday.

It calls for setting up a not-for-profit organization whose board will be made up of government officials and donors from abroad, the report said. The board will oversee the first major "civil-society infrastructure servicing the State of Israel and the pro-Israel community in the fight against the de-legitimization of Israel," the notice sent to the ministers read.

The $72 million budget will come partly from the Israeli government and partly from Jewish donors and communities abroad, the report said. It did not say when the new organization would become operational or even established formally.

But the initial funding to the tune of $36 million will come from the budget of the ministry that includes Public Security, Strategic Affairs and Information. At least 10 Jewish philanthropists have pledged to at least match that sum, with some promising to give $2 and $3 to any dollar put in by the Israeli government beyond the initial funding, according to the report.

The organization envisaged by its creators would operate on a regular basis to counter pressure applied to artists, performers and commercial enterprises who seek to engage with Israel. But it would shift into high gear at sensitive periods such as fighting waves of terrorist attacks and anti-Israel votes at international forums.

The new organization's avenues for action would include public campaigns, lobbying, arranging for solidarity visits to Israel by opinion shapers, establishing new and social media presence and interacting with pro-Israel organization worldwide for coordinated action with a focus on Europe.

Source

Is it not scandalous that a foreign country presumes to interfere in our democratic processes in this way? Will the US Congress and British parliament now hold hearings into "Israeli interference in our elections"?

All of this brings to mind Hitler's remarks about the Zionist movement of his time.

They have no thought of building up a Jewish State in Palestine, so that they might perhaps inhabit it, but they only want a central organisation of their international world cheating, endowed with prerogatives, withdrawn from the seizure of others: a refuge for convicted rascals and a high school for future rogues.

Negroids Charged in Murder of Homosexual Nig-Family

Andrew Anglin

December 31, 2017

So yeah, it turns out that lesbian couple and double-child slaughter was just normal business in Nigville.

Most media isn't showing the pictures of the killers, and instead just showing the dead kids and dykes.

This collage from the Daily Beast is my fav:

You would think making a collage of a brutally slaughtered family in front of police tape would be considered distasteful. But it's okay because it's a dyke nigger family.

New York Times:

Two suspects have been charged in a quadruple homicide in Troy, N.Y., a crime the police chief described as the worst he had seen in more than 40 years in law enforcement.

"I don't have to tell you how good it feels to have these two defendants in custody," the chief, John Tedesco of the Troy Police Department, said at a news conference on Saturday.

He said the motive was unknown, adding that the police were confident there would be no further arrests but that "it's certainly open as we continue."

LOL

"Unknown motive" he says!

What is usually the motive when black people slaughter one another, genius???

The suspects, James W. White, 38, and Justin C. Mann, 24, both of Schenectady, N.Y., near Albany, were arrested on Friday night. Mr. White and Mr. Mann were arraigned in Troy City Court on Saturday on murder charges and pleaded not guilty. They were being held at the Rensselaer County jail without bail.

Both men have criminal records, Chief Tedesco said, and Mr. Mann was on parole. One of the suspects was acquainted with one of the victims, the chief said, but he declined to give details.

Well.

I'm glad that mystery is solved.

Black Kills White Man in Swatting

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer

December 31, 2017

The autistic Call of Duty Swatter has turned out to be—get this—a mulatto!

Keemstar interviewed him on Friday. His explanation was funny and trollish when I listened, but it turns out he wasn't trying to be funny or to troll and was just black.

ABC News:

Authorities arrested a man in South Los Angeles in connection to a swatting incident that led to a Kansas man's death.

Tyler Barriss, 25, was arrested Friday on suspicion of making a hoax phone call to police in Wichita, Kansas.

Authorities in Wichita said someone made a prank call to 911 with a made-up story about a shooting and kidnapping. That call resulted in the death of an innocent man relatives identified as Andrew Finch, 28.

The hoax phone call was a case of swatting, authorities said, in which a person creates a false story to get a SWAT response to an address.

Authorities released the 911 recording in which a man said he'd shot his father in the head. The caller also said he was holding his mother and a sibling at gunpoint and threatened to light the house on fire.

When police headed to the home, they surrounded it and prepared to deal with a hostage situation. Finch answered the door and followed instructions to put up his hands and move slowly. But at some point, authorities said he moved toward his waistband and officers fired a single shot in fear Finch may have reached for a gun.

Authorities said Finch died at the hospital and that he was unarmed.

It is clear that the Negro Barriss is @SWauTistic—here's the photo he was using on his Twitter account:

I hadn't zoomed in on that to notice the skin tone, and assumed the bandanna was just irony.

The victim was of course white.

Kansas Swatting: Cops Murder Non-Gamer Over Call of Duty Game Gone Wrong!

So a $1.50 bet on a Call of Duty game resulted in a swating by a professional autistic swatter named @SWauTistic.

Keemstar interviewed him before his arrest.

Video Link

During the swatting, an unassociated white guy was murdered by the cops.

Maybe people shouldn't be swatting people over Call of Duty games gone wrong.

But you know what?

Cops shouldn't be randomly murdering people because they're confused and scared.

Fox News:

A 25-year-old California man was arrested in connection to an online quarrel between two “Call of Duty” gamers that prompted a hoax call and led to a man being killed by police in Kansas.

Los Angeles police on Friday arrested Tyler Barriss, who law enforcement claimed is the “prankster” who called 911 and made up a story about a kidnapping in Wichita, ABC 7 reported.

Barriss reportedly gave police the address he believed the other gamer lived.

In the audio of the 911 call, the caller claimed his father had been shot in the head and that he was holding his mother and a sibling at gunpoint. The caller added that he poured gasoline inside the home and “might just set it on fire.”

Maybe that sounded fake?
Cops?

The address was for the home of Andrew Finch, 28, whom police believed was not involved in any argument on “Call of Duty.”

Wichita Deputy Police Chief Troy Livingston, speaking at a news conference, said the hoax call was a case of “swatting,” in which a person makes up a false report to get a SWAT team to descend on an address.

“Due to the actions of a prankster we have an innocent victim,” Livingston said. He said no one has been arrested in connection with the hoax.

The prankster in his interview makes a very good point, cops: he didn’t shoot anyone.

Yall did the shooting.

When officers arrived at the scene, Finch opened the door for the officers. As police told him to put his hands up, Finch moved a hand toward the area of his waistband—a common place where guns are concealed.

I’m gonna need to see the video of that.

An officer, fearing the man was reaching for a gun, fired a single shot. Finch died a few minutes later at a hospital and was found to be unarmed, Livingston said.

The officer who fired the shot, a seven-year veteran of the department, is on paid leave pending the investigation.

Is he black?

Police did not disclose the name of the man shot Thursday evening but Lisa Finch, Andrew’s mother, identified him. She told reporters Friday her son was not a gamer.

“What gives the cops the right to open fire?” she asked. “That cop murdered my son over a false report in the first place.”

Finch, described by his mother as a “very kind and caring” man who would “do anything for his family,” leaves behind two children, ages 2 and 7.

This situation is outrageous.

Cops don’t have any right to just show up at people’s houses and murder them.

The problem in this country is that no one wants to be a cop because of all of the risks involved. Cops are quitting because the Black Lives Matter movement has made it impossible for them to do their jobs, even as they risk being charged with murder when a black attacks. So you get a situation where a low IQ moron will just open fire on a white man with his hands up.

Nigger, I know you can’t read, so I’m just going to tell you: being that fat is not healthful.

The entire Jewish media just went on and on and on and on and on and on and even Hillary Clinton mentioned this obese dead nigger.

BLACKS ONLY!

BECAUSE WHITES ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS BITCH'S DEATH! THEY INVENTED MCDONALD'S!

Why are black people allowed to say things like "only talk to me if you're black"?

Because of slavery hundreds of years ago?

If these filthy animals don't even want to talk to me and my people, then what in the fuck are they doing in my country?

They have a place to go where they won't ever have to talk to white.

There is nothing but niggers there as far as you can see.

WHY DO THEY NOT GO THERE?

How do these so-called "boot-lipped nigger intellectuals" such as Ta-Nehisi Coates not say "we should all just go back to Africa together"?

Isn't he betraying his own people by not informing them of this brilliant option of not having to ever talk to evil white people again?

We will pay for the plane tickets, niggers. And we will negotiate a deal with African governments that gives you land.

If you want other reasonable things, we can talk about that.

There is no bad will here and there is plenty of room for negotiation.

We just want you to get the fuck out of our country because we are sick of being slaughtered by you and even more than that we are sick of the endless whining.

A Special Message to Everyone I've Offended

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 30, 2017

I have offended a lot of people, who are my own people, my own readers.

I have offended white knights, Canadians, the British, the Swedish, the Slavs, pot-smokers, Baby Boomers, Irish American Catholics, Nazi-costume wearers, pit bull owners and many others.

The goal of a right-wing website should be to unite people together, under a single banner.

So I just want to say, to everyone I've offended:

I am so sorry that I hurt you.

I hereby pledge to make this a safer and more inclusive environment for Nazis of all kinds. I will seek to foster a secure environment where a diverse group can come together without fear of being targeted for who they are. I will work to not trigger the vulnerable with problematic language, as I have learned that this makes them feel unsafe.

jk

Here's the real message:

Grow a spine, you whining little bitches.

Seriously. Get your shit together.

Being a rightist is not being a whiny faggot leftist but just crying like a little baby about different issues that hurt your little baby feelings.

It is about being masculine and not emotionally invested in shit that doesn't matter.

Yes, I do anger you on purpose. That is my job. It is not simply to anger leftists.

Because when I anger you, I make you stronger by forcing you to confront your own self and the soft spots you have.

That is why if people flip out when I write an anti-pit bull article, I publish another one right after it.

There were people in the comments section saying I must be working for the Jews because I am "dividing the movement" along pro and anti pit bull lines.

That is about the most faggoty goddamn thing I've ever seen in my life.

It's disgusting as fuck that I should even have to explain this type of shit. It is shit that you are supposed to get immediately on an instinctive level if you are not a pussy.

Look.

If you have a pit bull and you love pit bulls and you don't think they should be exterminated, the proper response to me saying they should be exterminated is as follows:

shrugs

If you think you know better than me, and you are comfortable in that belief, then go with it. You can put forward your pit bull defense arguments, but do so without emotion. Don't go into a little baby rage. That really does make you a "reverse SJW" as Sargon of Akkad claims we all are.

If I say "Canadians are douchebags" and you are Canadian and not a douche-bag, then you don't have anything to worry about. If you go into a rage over it then hey, congrats—you proved my point.

If I made fun of you for wearing a plastic stahlhelm while calling for communism but you think this is a good idea, and can come up with a logical line of reasoning as to why, then hey—go with that.

The same goes for boomers, white knights, pit bullers, pot-smokers, etc.

The old adage for internet arguments, "if you rage you lose," is deeper than in the immediate sense of losing the argument itself. If you rage you lose because you are a raging loser.

The Daily Stormer is not a safe-space for Nazis.

And no, I am not just trolling my own audience for lulz because I can't resist doing that.

There is something deeper here.

My job is to challenge you to be stronger, better men. And the best men do not get "triggered" by "problematic language."

Most of you probably haven't been around long enough to remember this, but when I joined the far-right Neo-Nazi movement, it was mostly a bunch of highly emotionally volatile people on the internet (boomers and autistic people, mainly) triggering each other over various obscure religious ideas. It was a complete and total disaster. We do not need that, and it has always been a goal of mine to bury that sort of thing completely so that this movement will be based on logic and facts instead of baby feelings.

We need men who can be emotionally detached. Emotional detachment is the most relevant marker of competence, which is one of the reasons women are so incompetent.

So if I hurt your feelings: I am not sorry.

You should be apologizing to me.

This is no place for ninnying little fag-boys with feelings.

We are building a genocidal space empire. Not a daycare center for man-children so driven by womanish emotion that they need to be coddled like babies.

Get it together, guys.

Get. It. Together.

Make a New Year's resolution that whenever you catch yourself having an emotional reaction to anything, you stop, take a deep breath, and deal with it before moving forward with any action—including typing.

And no, outrageous anger is not somehow a “masculine emotion” —if you’ve ever known someone who is extremely masculine, even someone who got it from taking anabolic steroids, you know that the most notable thing about them is a cool, detached calm. The idea that raging anger when someone says something you disagree with is somehow a mark of masculinity was invented by the Jews.

If you find yourself getting all emotional about things, you probably have hormonal problems. That is why you need to get on my diet and workout program, and increase your testosterone levels. If you are overweight, in particular, your body is producing excess estrogen, which leads to an emotional and womanlike approach to life and human interactions.

Degenerate: Jack in the Box Selling Weed-Themed Happy Meals

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer

Here it is: The @merryjane x @jack-inthebox : MERRY MUNCHIE MEAL Available for a limited time only in select Long Beach, CA locations, January 2018. Plus, it's only $4.20. Stay tuned for more info!

A post shared by Jack in the Box (@jackinthebox) on Dec 21, 2017 at 3:43pm PST

The legalization of marijuana for recreational purposes is the most disgusting thing, demonstrating plainly the kind of deep sickness our society is suffering from.

It was only a matter of time before the corporate mainstream started celebrating this.

Fox News:

With California's legalization of recreational marijuana taking effect Monday, fast-food chain Jack in the Box plans to take full advantage of the pot smokers by offering a new meal aimed at anyone with the munchies.

The weed-themed Merry Munchie Meal will be available at three southern California locations beginning mid-January and includes half servings of curly fries and onion rings, two tacos, five mini churros, three crispy chicken strips and a small drink. You get all of this for the on-theme price of $4.20 plus tax.

“Jack’s Munchie Meals have been successful for us because of the authenticity of how we speak to our customers. This partnership is one more way for us to connect with them...We are about welcoming all of our guests, no matter what they’re craving or why they’re craving it,” Iwona Alter, Chief Marketing Officer of Jack in the Box, said in a statement.

This limited-time offer was developed in partnership with Merry Jane, a cannabis-focused digital media company launched in 2015 by Snoop Dogg, and will be tested from January 18-25 in his hometown of Long Beach.

So cute.
Except not really.

Pot-smoking is gross. People just lay around doing nothing but listening to shitty music and playing video games.

INB4 NOT EVERYONE

I have met only a handful of high-functioning pot-smokers in my life, and I’m sure they were getting their weeds without a problem before legalization. The only reason that legalization would be chosen over simply decriminalization is if you wanted to actively encourage use among young people. And make money off of that, which all of these states that are legalizing it are doing.

The fact that marketers thought to make a happy meal—and it will probably sell well—tells you where the average pot-smoker is: the mind of a child.

I see not one single positive effect of marijuana being everywhere in a society.

Marijuana defenders will always compare it to alcohol, but the fact is, people drink alcohol socially a lot more than they drink it chronically. Virtually all marijuana smokers smoke it every day, and generally all day long (or at least starting as soon as they get home from work). In this sense, marijuana is also worse than cocaine, which isn’t legal, even though it is almost always used as a party favor rather than a lifestyle choice.

Also, although I would agree with the statement that the lows of alcoholism are much lower than the lows of marijuana addiction (you don’t see homeless bum marijuana addicts), alcoholism leads to more productive people than marijuana addiction. I can rattle off the names of 50 heroes of mine who were alcoholics and not a single one that was a marijuana addict.

I can’t hardly think of anyone who is an accomplished person in any field other than music who smokes marijuana. Except Bill Maher. I was somewhat surprised to learn he smokes marijuana every day. I think Sarah Silverman and a few other non-musical Jewish entertainment figures do as well. But...not great company.

I advise young people not to smoke marijuana. If you are an older person and already committed to living your life that way, fine. But you don't need special Snoop Dog weed happy meals. You can just buy regular happy meals from McDonald's like normal people.

Pretty sure that's just as "munchie" for the weed smoker.

We don't need weed invading the mainstream culture like this.

Gaming Addiction to be Declared Mental Disorder

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
December 30, 2017

We all know that feel, man.

Video games are a thing that unites practically everyone of my generation and younger. Even over the holidays, with my family, we can start up some old Nintendo games and reminisce about our childhood. And while in the 80s and 90s games were just a fun hobby, and something we did with friends or to pass time on a rainy day, games have become an increasingly important part of young people's lives over the years.

This is largely because real life has become so overloaded with depressing crap degeneracy, while all goals that could motivate a man to action have been taken away from us. So the allure of accomplishing stuff in a virtual world has become much greater than before—all other forms of accomplishment are more or less out of reach.

Is it any surprise that young men are completely losing themselves in simulated universes where they can destroy their enemies, conquer foreign lands and acquire honor for their deeds when those things are impossible in the real world?

MSN:

Gaming disorder is soon to be classified as a mental health condition for the very first time, the New Scientist reports.

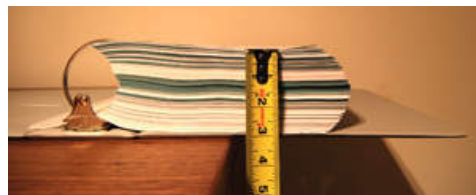

The International Classification of Diseases is a diagnostic manual that's published by the World Health Organisation.

It was last updated 27 years ago, in 1990.

The eleventh edition of the manual is due to be published in 2018 and will include gaming disorder as a serious health condition to be monitored.

Why are young men spending thousands of hours building fake houses in Minecraft? Why not spend the same effort building a real house?

Because bureaucrats have decided that you can't do that unless you respect the "building code."

Reading thousands of pages of rules before laying the first brick isn't exactly exciting.

Why are they playing Call of Duty instead of joining the military?

Right...

Why are they playing anime dating sims instead of dating real women?

2d waifus suddenly don't seem so bad tbh fam.

The Jews have made our world into a hellscape so dire that escapism might be the only sane way to cope with it, short of going full 1488.

The wording of the gaming disorder hasn't been revealed yet.

However, the draft outlines the criteria needed to determine whether someone can be classed as having a gaming disorder.

Vladimir Poznyak, a member of the WHO's Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse, spoke about the importance of recognising gaming disorder as an important issue.

"Health professionals need to recognise that gaming disorder may have serious health consequences," he said.

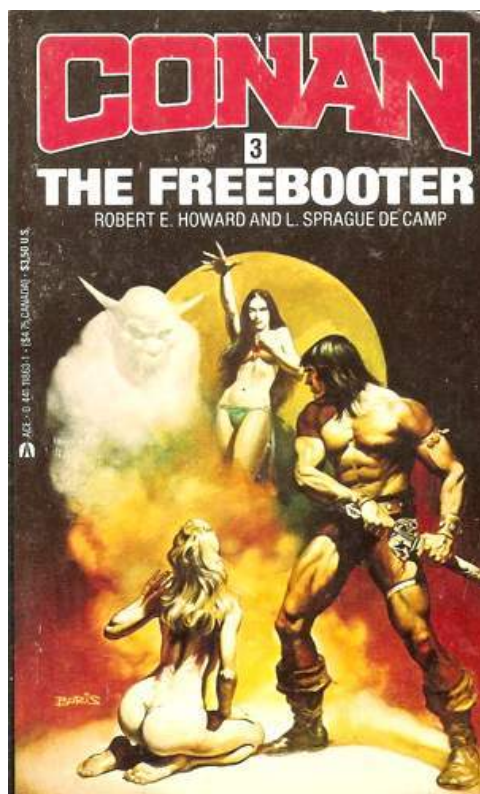

"Most people who play video games don't have a disorder, just like most people who drink alcohol don't have a disorder either. However, in certain circumstances overuse can lead to adverse effects."

Last year, researchers from the University of Oxford's Internet Institute undertook a study to investigate the percentage of gamers who are addicted to video games.

The study, published in the American Journal of Psychiatry, found that only 2 to 3 per cent of the 19,000 men and women surveyed from the UK, the US, Canada and Germany admitted that they experienced five or more of the symptoms from the American Psychiatric Association checklist of health symptoms.

I'd bet men are way more likely to be addicted to video games than women. Unless they invented a new kind of video game involving finding a powerful, violent man to have babies with, and then scheming to keep other women away from him. That would be quite a hit with the ladies.

Women would love a game where they'd play as the blonde chick in this pic, doing her best to breed with the strongest barbarian they can find.

A few years ago, the APA created a list of nine standard symptoms that could determine "internet gaming disorder". These symptoms include anxiety, withdrawal symptoms and antisocial behaviour.

If we want to get young men interested in life outside of video games, putting them on pills or addiction programs isn't going to do the trick. What's needed is a healthy alternative to vidya.

For example, forming right wing death squads.

We need far-sighted solutions for real-world health problems, and death-squad-ism may be the only avenue for progress.

Malmo, Sweden: Police Bafled Looking for Connection Between String of Gang-Rapes

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 30, 2017

The strength of diversity is self-evident.

A connection between a string of gang-rapes in Sweden?

Some mysteries simply weren't meant to be solved—because to do so would be pure mindless hatred for the color of the skin.

Best to just let sleeping gang-rapists lie.

RT:

Yet another woman has been assaulted in the Swedish city of Malmo in another case of suspected gang rape, the fourth in just two months.

The attacks come as activists started nightly street patrols to reassure the community. Police said they do not yet see any apparent link between the appalling attacks, amid the ongoing investigations.

The victim, who is said to be over 18, was attacked by several unidentified assailants in Malmo's Hogaholm district overnight to Friday. She eventually managed to get home by herself and alerted police. An investigation into a suspected gang rape is underway as police believe several people were involved.

The woman suffered only minor physical injuries but was deeply traumatized by the experience, police said. No one has been detained so far, as police continue examining forensic evidence and questioning the woman.

The latest attack comes as Malmo grapples with a spate of similar incidents in which three women were raped by several assailants in different districts of the city, notorious for its thriving gang culture and crime. Earlier in December, a 17-year-old teenage girl was gang raped in a children's playground in Hasselgatan. The other two cases occurred in November and saw women being sexually assaulted by a number of men as well. And while police said they recovered traces of DNA from some of the crime scenes, no charges have been brought in either so far. The spike in violence against women even forced police to warn against venturing alone after dark. Faced with backlash, they later retracted the warning calling it "unfortunate."

Yes.

Gang-rape is no reason not to go out alone. It's a risk people just have to deal with. Like car accidents. I mean, you don't not drive a car because you might have an accident. Just so, you don't not go for a walk alone at night simply because there are Islamic rape gangs roaming the streets outside your home.

Such a suggestion by the police isn't simply sexist: it's racist.

Meanwhile, Malmo police believe it's unlikely the series of crimes are somehow connected. Referring to the two December attacks which appear to share the same pattern, Malmo police spokesman Nils Norling said "you cannot immediately say that they are linked to each other but you cannot rule it out either." He added that police are not done investigating the events, and are still not even able to definitely confirm the number of suspects involved in each of the sexual crimes. A police unit, specializing in criminal profiling, has been tasked with determining if there is a distinct pattern traceable in all the crimes.

You'll notice that it is only the registered Russian agent RT that is reporting this story in English.

This is because the diabolical Russians know that if they can remove the joys of multiculturalism from the West, we will be easy to conquer.

Diversity is our greatest strength. And Russians fear that strength. So they want to undermine it by telling people that it leads to gang-rape.

But I can tell you this, friend: no one ever made an omelet without breaking a few eggs. And if Europeans want to enjoy the great strength that comes from diversity, they are going to have to also deal with constant gang-rapes, terrorist attacks and welfare leeching, along with a collapse of their basic social order.

It's also high-time we cracked down on people asking "why is diversity our greatest strength? what does that statement even mean?"

Because there is only one reason a person would ask that question: pure hatred for the color of the skin.

Drunk Thot Ruins $300K Art Collection on First Date with Lawyer

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
December 30, 2017

I dunno about you, but looking at that face, my first assumption would be that she's the type of woman who ruins $300K art collections.

You may think that having misguided views on women will merely result in having your entire life ruined by misbehaving thots. But you'd be wrong.

In fact, it will also result in having your expensive art collection ruined as well. An honorable man learned this lesson last weekend, and it's a tragedy I hope no reader ever has to go through.

Dallas News:

A Dallas woman ripped paintings off the wall and threw sculptures around at a Houston lawyer's mansion over the weekend, causing at least $300,000 in damage, police say.

Lindy Lou Layman, 29, was arrested on a charge of criminal mischief Saturday.

Layman, whose LinkedIn profile says she works as a freelance court reporter, was at the home of Tony Buzbee in Houston's ritzy River Oaks neighborhood when police say the incident occurred.

Tony Buzbee has quite the resume.

Early life and education

Born to parents who worked as a butcher and a high school cafeteria worker, Buzbee grew up in Marlin, Texas. Buzbee earned a B.S. in Psychology from Texas A&M University, he served as a Battalion Commander in the Corps of Cadets and was named a Distinguished Cadet (Graduate, Distinguished Student, Outstanding NROTC Cadet, and Outstanding Commander in the Corps of Cadets). Buzbee served as a Marine Corps Infantry Officer in the Persian Gulf and Somalia. As a Captain, Buzbee commanded the Recon Company of the First Marine Regiment. Buzbee was awarded the Navy Commendation Medal. Buzbee graduated summa cum laude from the University of Houston Law Center, he finished second in his class. Buzbee was the Managing Editor of the Houston Law Review and was the Class Captain. Buzbee was both the Texas and Regional Mock Trial Champion in 1996.

Professional history

He was a drafting attorney for Judge Samuel B. Rife, U.S. District Court, Southern District of Texas and then began his legal career as an attorney at Somner, Goffney & Pelt Houston. Buzbee founded his own law firm in 2009.

Military officer from a working class background, war veteran, and founder of his own law firm. Wew.

He also doesn't look like some kind of bugman faggot.

This guy is definitely a desirable mate for a woman who looks as ugly as Layman (who also looks pretty Jewy to me...). So why would she fly off the handle on their first date?

Let's take a closer look.

According to a criminal complaint, Layman "tore paintings off the wall with her hands" and threw abstract sculptures across the room. She also poured red wine on the paintings, authorities say.

In all, three paintings and two sculptures were damaged.

In an initial court appearance, prosecutors said Layman was intoxicated after a first date with Buzbee and hid in his home when he called an Uber for her. She later yelled "I'm not leaving," before attacking the artwork, which included paintings by Andy Warhol, authorities said.

Ahhh...Now the picture comes into focus.

The bitch is 29, while Buzbee is 49. He probably thought she could make a good mistress or whatever, but then she arrived at his house and looked like this:

And then he was like “lol I ain’t doin’ that!” So he tried to kick her out after having a few drinks for politeness’s sake. Sensing her gravy train was slipping from her fingers (not to mention that she wouldn’t get laid), she flipped out and started trashing the place.

Layman was booked into the Harris County jail and released Sunday after posting $30,000 bond. Her next court appearance is set for Thursday.

If her crimes were limited to only breaking ugly modern art pieces, then this case could be settled merely by selling her into slavery and using the funds to compensate Buzbee. But the circumstances surrounding this situation suggest she could be guilty of a far worse crime: getting a date with deceptive Tinder profile pics.

Only the most extreme punishments offered by White Sharia could apply in such a case.

The bitch is lucky the cops got her before the thot patrol did.

These guys don’t take Tinder fraud lightly.

The takeaway from all this is, don’t meet women in your home on the first date. There are many good reasons for this:

1. You don’t want them knowing your real name, nevermind where you live.

2. It’s not worth it to put away all your valuables in case you find out she’s secretly a Jew.

3. If you decide she’s unfuckable, that will cause her to flip out and tear up all your crap.

4. If the date turns into a code “T” (tranny), you’ll want to skip out on the bill. You can’t do that if you’re at home.

Don’t make the same mistake Tony did.

Berlin Setting Up “Women’s Safety Areas” for New Year’s Celebration! Great Solution!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 30, 2017

Germany had a problem following the 2015 ficki-ficki festival, when on New Year’s Eve, hundreds of women were gang-sex-assaulted by diverse migrant children.

And here was the kicker: Germany isn’t allowed to tell migrants to do anything, or enforce any rules on them, because of the Holocaust. The only thing they are allowed to tell them not to do is protest Israel. They sure as shit can’t tell them “stop doing gang-sex-attacks” —that would be pure hatred for the color of the skin.

As such, they had to get creative. And creative they have gotten. RT:

New Year’s Eve festivities in the German capital will be marked by a “safety area” for women seeking refuge from harassment, following cases of mass sexual misconduct during country’s celebrations over the past few years.

The New Year’s Eve festival at Berlin’s Brandenburg Gate area will have a special zone where women subjected to sexual offences or who otherwise feel harassed during the celebrations will have a “haven” to seek shelter and report a potential crime. The zone bears an English name: “Women’s Safety Area.”

Police proposed the idea to set up the “safe haven” festival organizers said. Munich law enforcement shared positive feedback with their Berlin colleagues, where a similar area was set up during the last Oktoberfest, spokeswoman for the festival Anja Marx told rbb24.

The “safe zone” will be located in a tent set up by the German Red Cross, where a number of specially-trained staffers will be on hand. The involvement of the Red Cross is crucial, the spokeswoman said, since distressed women are more likely to report abuse to humanitarian workers than to police.

Overall security will also be ramped up, with large bags, backpacks, and even alcohol of any sort outlawed during the festivities, according to the event organizers’ website. Police have also reportedly advised festival-goers to leave valuables at home and carry only small amounts of cash, warning about rampaging pickpockets during mass events.

Banning alcohol, leaving your wallet at home, rape-free safe zones: these are small alterations to make to a society in order to make it diverse.

Diversity is our greatest strength and the only way Europe can survive.

Germany has witnessed a surge in sexually-motivated attacks during mass public events over the past few years. On December 31, 2015, a wave of sexual assaults, as well as thefts and robberies targeting women swept through a number of German cities, including Dusseldorf, Hamburg, Frankfurt, and Stuttgart.

The most widely publicized incident occurred in Cologne, where an estimated 1,000 men gathered next to the central train station, harassing and assaulting females. Over 1,200 criminal charges were laid following the assaults, with most of the perpetrators identified by law enforcement as being refugees. Subsequent investigations, however, have stalled since, as CCTV footage from the scene turned out being too low-quality, while victims failed to identify their attackers.

This solution is brilliant on many levels—not least of which being that it is scalable.

As more and more migrants pour in to the country, more and more zones are going to become “grope zones,” where masses of Islamic jihadis molest and rape women in large groups.

You can't stop that from happening, because of the trauma they all suffered during the brutal civil war in Syria, plus also they don't know they're not supposed to gang-rape women because no one ever taught them not to do that.

So the cities of Germany can just be lined with women's safe zones.

It's similar to the cement block solution to peace trucks. You can't ever stop migrant children from running you over with big trucks, but you can just put gigantic cement blocks everywhere and tell people that these will stop the trucks from running them over.

This is the kind of creative thinking we need as we move into an Islamic Europe, where whites are a persecuted minority that is constantly being raped and murdered on the streets by an invading army of innocent victims. And we have to have that situation because of the Holocaust and because it is our greatest strength.

Long Beach: Murder-Suicide at Law Firm!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 30, 2017

Workplace violence.
Taking bets on the race.
Fox News:

A normally quiet neighborhood in Southern California filled with commotion Friday after a man walked into a law office and shot two people—killing one of them—before turning the gun on himself.

Fox News Police received reports of a shooter at 2:25 p.m. at the law firm in the Bixby Knolls section of Long Beach—an oceanfront city south of Los Angeles, Fox 11 reported.

The gunman was not immediately identified, but Long Beach City

Councilman Al Austin told the Los Angeles Times that the shooter was a former employee of a different law firm.

Dozens of police officers, including members of a SWAT team, surrounded the building. The first officers to arrive entered the office looking for the gunman, and initially encountered groups of terrified workers hiding or trying to escape, the Los Angeles Daily News reported, citing police sources.

Nearby residents said they were shaken by the sudden and significant police presence.

“When you see helicopters over your home, and they're police helicopters, that's a bad sign,” Kelly Bray, 61, told the Los Angeles Times.

Eventually, police confirmed the gunman and another victim were dead, with a third person was injured. The injured victim drove himself to a hospital where he was reportedly in stable condition.

It could be a white guy, of course. These things do happen—personal vendetta murders. Murder-suicide is also something white people do more than other races.

But if I had to bet...I'd say Indian.

We'll have updates when the photo is released.

Jews Push for Diplomatic Boycott of Austria

Diversity Macht Frei
December 30, 2017

A group including former European foreign ministers is calling for a boycott of Austria's new, far-right Cabinet members, referring to them as the "heirs of Nazism" and criticizing "silence and apathy" on the issue.

In an open letter published in French newspaper Le Monde on Thursday, former Spanish Foreign Minister Miguel Ángel Moratinos, former French Foreign Minister Bernard Kouchner, former Canadian Prime Minister Kim Campbell and others urged European leaders to take action.

"Let's not turn our eyes away: The heirs of Nazism have come into power in the new Austrian government," the letter states. "We are all concerned as we are all being threatened by the fatal ideology of hatred."

The letter comes in response to newly sworn-in Chancellor Sebastian Kurz forming a coalition with the far-right Freedom Party (FPÖ) after October's election, making Austria the only Western European nation with a government that includes an anti-immigrant, populist force. The FPÖ nominated six Cabinet members, including the leaders of the defense and interior ministries.

The letter's authors called on national leaders to refuse to attend meetings with or receive FPÖ ministers, and also urged politicians to "boycott" Austria's control of the rotating presidency of the Council of the European Union next year between July and December.

Source: Politico

The Politico article obscures the essentially Jewish nature of this endeavour, something revealed by the original article in Le Monde. Brackets added.

An appeal initiated by (((Benjamin Abtan))), president of the European Antiracist Movement (EGAM), and (((Bernard Kouchner))), former French minister of foreign affairs. The other signatories : (((Beate and Serge Klarsfeld))), directors of the Sons and Daughters of the Deportees of France...

Last year Abtan founded a network to fight "Holocaust Denial" named after the notorious con-man Elie Wiesel.

The new Austrian foreign minister, Karin Kneissl, sounds very promising. She has called Jean-Claude Juncker a "Brussels Caesar" and a "Cynic of Power", described the Pope as "dangerously naive" and said Merkel acted in a "grossly negligent way" by letting in so many "testosterone-driven" young men. With views like that, you can see why the Jews would want to boycott her.

Professor Who Called for Genocide of the White Race Resigns in Shame!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 29, 2017

tfw you can't take the heat so you're forced to flee the oven like a little bitch.

You may remember the shit-bag Drexel University professor who called for the genocide of the white race—oh, just about a year ago—and did not get fired.

He was also famed for blaming the Vegas Massacre on "white patriarchy" and Donald Trump.

"George Ciccariello" was the name.

The faggot has now resigned like a little pussy, playing the victim!

He wants people to feel sorry for him!

He posted the following tear-stained letter on Twitter.

George Ciccariello-Maher

After December 31st, 2017, I will no longer work at Drexel University. This is not a decision I take lightly; however, after nearly a year of harassment by right-wing, white supremacist media outlets and internet mobs, after death threats and threats of violence directed against me and my family, my situation has become unsustainable. Staying at Drexel in the eye of this storm has become detrimental to my own writing, speaking, and organizing.

In 1956, Frantz Fanon resigned his psychiatric post at a French clinic in colonial Algeria with the observation that, "there comes a moment when tenacity becomes morbid perseverance." This rings true for me in the present moment: certain morbidity has set in, and the same racist social structures that Fanon confronted impose their reality on us with a fury that increases by the day. I look forward to deepening my research, my writing, and my political organizing in the service of those movements most capable of confronting the urgent tasks of the present.

We are at war, and academia is a crucial front in that war. This is why the Right is targeting campuses with thinly veiled provocations disguised as free speech. My case and many others show just how cynical such appeals are, and how little the Right cares about academic freedom. They will continue to attack me and many others, but from these attacks new unities spring dialectically forth: an upsurge in new AAUP chapters and the establishment of the Campus Antifascist Network (CAN), among others.

To faculty: tenure is a crucial buffer against those who would use money to dictate the content of higher education. But in a neoliberal academy, such protections are far from absolute. We are all a single outrage campaign away from having no rights at all, as my case and many others make clear. The difference between tenure-track faculty and the untenured adjunct majority—which has far more to do with luck than merit—is a difference in degree not in kind.

Man, these people really are like tape recorders.

Jeez.

Wall of boilerplate buzzword-laden Jew gibberish right there.

"I AM THE JEWS. WHITE PEOPLE ARE EVIL. WE MUST ALL BOW DOWN TO BROWN PEOPLE AND PROTECT THEM FROM UBIQUITOUS OPPRESSION BY INVISIBLE HATRED. IT'S TIME TO EXTERMINATE WHITE PEOPLE. DEATH THREATS OY VEY. THIS IS A RECORDING."

What kind of twisted humiliation it must be to play back recordings of the state authority while claiming to be a HARDCORE REBEL.

It's one thing if you're a Jew—then you're just using psychological warfare to ensure the betterment of your satanic bloodline. But a non-Jew pretending to be edgy and interesting while regurgitating a script written for him by the most powerful people in the world—just imagine what it is like inside that head.

Because at some point, if you are in that situation, you have to realize you are lying to yourself and others. But at that point, most people are too weak, and so they become a living lie. They embrace the image of the self as liar. Unshockingly, this weasel couldn't go on anymore.

And this crybaby shit about death threats—come on, you faggot.

Did you think you could call for a race to be genocided without a little bit of pushback?

I call for all types of races and to be genocided, along with the disabled, the mentally ill and various sexual deviants and I have to live in a compound in Nigeria. And I'm at the job every day.

This guy calls for the genocide of the one race that it is politically correct to call for the genocide of, he has however many guards and security cameras protecting him at all times, and STILL he can't handle it.

Of course, the media is digging their own grave ten feet deeper by endorsing the idea that this guy is a victim of mean-spirited people from the internet.

I'm sure that will go over great with regular people (in case you hadn't noticed, I am being sarcastic).

MAJOR WIN

This is a YUGE win for our side.

He was bullied out of his job.

He didn't get his white genocide last Christmas—but this Christmas, we got him!

OUT!

FAREWELL TROLL TSUNAMI

Due to some debate about the nature of the TROLL STORM, I am instead calling for a TROLL TSUNAMI to say BON VOYAGE to this pathetic shill who couldn't manage to deal with mean emails after calling for a genocide.

Let him know how happy you are that he has LOST THE GAME.

Twitter: @ciccmaher

Email: gjc43@drexel.edu

Phone: +1 215-895-1017

ALSO: DO NOT THREATEN HIM.

I assume the threats themselves are a hoax. He didn't post any of them. They never post their alleged death threats, nor do they ever report them to the police (even though it is definitely illegal to threaten to kill someone).

I think he is using the "WAH I'M A LITTLE PUSSY FAGGOT AFRAID OF THE EVIL NAZIS WHO SENT ME MEAN MESSAGES" excuse to drop out because his soul is crushed.

He thought he was the real rebel, then he learned what RESISTANCE TO THE SYSTEM actually is, and it crushed his little baby life-essence.

The guy is 38 years old. And he thought it was hip and edgy to talk about white people being evil.

Now he's dreaming of saving Jews from a concentration camp while a n-word f-words his wife and listening to "Rebel, Rebel" by David Bowie, dreaming of the days when you could believe and repeat exactly everything you were told to believe and repeat and still be cool.

President: Russian Kook- spiracy Investigation Makes the Country Look Bad

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 29, 2017

Video Link

President Trump did an interview with the New York Times yesterday.

The best part of it was definitely the header image:

There was more about the Mueller hoax investigation.

Trump said both that he thinks Mueller will be fair, which I don't really even understand, and then said that he thinks the entire thing makes the country look very bad.

Of course it makes the country look bad. It makes us look like a joke. Any objective observer can look at this and see that it is a butthurt opposition party that lost an election trying to take revenge on the winner. That is an open, self-evident fact. If it wasn't self-evident in the beginning, it certainly is now. A year this thing has been going on and thus far we have absolutely not a single thread of an indication that the already insane-sounding theory that Trump called Putin up and told him to "hack the election" is accurate.

This entire investigation is a complete and utter joke. It is a humiliation to the country, and it is something that we will never recover from. The entire government is discredited. All of the people involved in the investigation—the ones who are not Jew agents—are all traitors. It is, quite plainly, an attempted coup.

Why Trump said Mueller would be fair I don't know.

Here are the lines:

"I have absolute right to do what I want to do with the Justice Department," he said, echoing claims by his supporters that as president he has the power to open or end an investigation. "But for purposes of hopefully thinking I'm going to be treated fairly, I've stayed uninvolved with this particular matter."

...

"There's been no collusion. But I think he's going to be fair," Mr. Trump said of Mr. Mueller.

So, I mean, they're basically taking his colorful way of saying "it'll all work out" out of context, but still. That word should not have been said.

This undermines the claim that his supporters—and even some Republicans—have been making that this is a targeted political assassination.

If he was going to treat anyone fairly, he never would have singled up for this job, as it was clear from the beginning that it was a political hitjob and not something intended to be in any way fair.

Generation Zyklon, We Salute You

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 29, 2017

Well.

My favorite tweet of the year came at the end of it.

I don't think liberals are ready for the crop of hard-right white youths born in the 21st century and receiving most of their political information from YouTube Nazis who are coming up behind the Millennials.

— Matthew Yglesias (@mattyglesias) December 28, 2017

Thank you, Matt Yglesias.

You have brought me deep joy.

Of course, the Slate writer Matt Yglesias is Hebrew people (god's chosen people), and is thus in a constant state of fearing being gassed like lice by stormtrooping Aryan supermen.

So maybe he's exaggerating then?

I don't really think so.

The fact of the matter is, the ability to be racist, collectivist and even genocidal are not states that white people are somehow biological incapable of. Nor are we biologically incapable of evaluating information and reaching logical conclusions based on that information.

Our current perception of the white race is based on the baby boomers. They are a socially-engineered generation, defined by childlike sentimentalism and fear of personal development and adult responsibility. They are trained to avoid pain, including any pain which may come from attempting to process philosophical or intellectual complexity of any kind. This deformed vision of humanity has had a resonating effect on successive generations (Gen X and Millennials), being transmitted through the culture. But the internet has allowed the creation of an entirely new culture.

My vision of a solution for the white race was to play a long game by targeting children. In my mind, I generally envision the Daily Stormer as “children’s media.” Yes, I put a lot of stuff in here for older people, and I enjoy the site myself...but the target audience is “15 and under,” given that I believe that in order to create a real social movement, you have to start with people who are not full-formed in their worldview.

And it is working.

We are not really seeing the results yet.

But let me tell you this.

When dealing with this entire shutdown program against the site, I comforted myself with the fact that this is the type of thing that young people who went through it will never forget. I have had several high schoolers write me and tell me about how everyone at school was talking about it.

No one who read this site believed that it was because of a fat joke. It proved every point we have made here. It is outrageous to everyone to have a website simply wiped out, but it was especially influential on those who grew-up with the internet and had a very specific understanding of the way it is supposed to work as a reliable part of their personal lives.

Liberals Not Ready for Generation Zyklon

Yglesias is particularly prescient in his assertion that liberals are not ready for the next generation.

Basically, the Jewish system was not expecting an energetic youthful resistance to their agenda, and so did not even have a plan to market their ideology to the youth. They simply assumed that it would be the default ideology and that this was enough.

They have no offer to make to the youth.

To the boomers, they offered a range of various feelgoodism, but primarily they offered sex. But every young male knows that feminism and the social acceptability of female hypergamy has killed sex options for 90+% of men.

So think about it for a minute. See if you can think of a single thing that the current system is offering young white men.

Other than “you can inject yourself with female hormones and cut your dick off,” I can’t see anything at all.

They are instead telling them they are evil and responsible for everything wrong in the world and telling them they must be punished for it.

We are offering them:

- Sex (putting these stupid whores back in their place)
- Power
- Respect
- Children
- Humor
- Fun

- Rebelliousness

- Video games without SJW themes

The Jews have no response to us, which is why their only response is “oy vey the goyim know shut it down.”

This is why it was so important for us at the Daily Stormer to resist the shutdown successfully, and that we have done.

We have been on .red for nearly a month now, and the website ranking website Alexa.com is showing us maintaining the numbers we had pre-shutdown.

How popular is dailystormer.red?

Alexa ranks sites on a 3 month scale, so if we stay on this domain 2 more months, we are projected to be back in the top 10,000, where we were before the shutdown. And this is WITHOUT search engine traffic, which means our regular readership has vastly INCREASED due to the drama surrounding the attempted shutdown by the Jews.

If the Jews had successfully shut us down, they would have moved on to the next site, then the next, then the next.

The importance of what we have done cannot be overestimated. The future of the internet LITERALLY hangs in the balance here.

It is only because of weev that we were able to stay up. So please support him.

The Future

Currently, the Alt-Right is scrambling to find a leader figure. And people are getting upset that there isn't one.

And yes: that is a difficult problem. We have all of this energy, but there is no leadership really at all. I don't want to say anything negative about the people trying to lead right now. I am grateful for the effort, even if I don't always agree with what they're doing, but it is simply a clear fact that no serious leadership exists. Because if it did, we would all know it—if there was a true leader, no one would be asking about who the leader was.

But look: those of us in this now are all just John the Baptist figures.

My vision for this website was that THE NEW HITLER would be someone who grew up reading it.

And we're right on track.

An entire generation has been influenced by the vision of the Alt-Right, and a generation is a lot of people. Many great men are incubating as we speak, preparing to come forward. Know that.

Petitioners Demand That "Monkey-Faced Nigger Whore" Meghan Markle Not be Given a Royal Title

Meghan Markle hasn't even gotten a royal title yet, and the British are already demanding it be stripped from her.

Because she is a filthy nigger.

I mean, they're not actually saying it that way—they would get arrested in Britain—but that is the implication.

RT:

Meghan Markle is "unsuitable" for royalty, according to angry petitioners. They insist she must not get an official title when she marries Prince Harry.

Furious royalists say Markle would bring shame on the royal family as a divorcee who has been outspoken on issues like Trump and Brexit, as well as appearing on TV with little clothing on.

SLUT SHAMING LOL

"I DON'T HATE HER BECAUSE SHE'S A NIGGER SO MUCH AS BECAUSE SHE'S A WHORE."

I can dig it. I'm down. We hear ya.

Markle appears to have the backing of the entire royal family, and was the first unmarried partner to receive an invite to Sandringham for Christmas this year.

However, some members of the public are not so taken with her. An online petition is circulating as hundreds try to stop Markle getting a title.

The petition states: "We the undersigned believe that Meghan Markle is unsuitable to be a member of the Royal Family and to have an official position in representing this country."

"She has shown her disrespect for the Monarch and Royal Family by pulling faces and sticking her tongue out to the visitors during her first public appearance with the Queen."

That's the biggest dog whistle right there.

All white women are also whores, and yet, no white woman would fail to grasp the gravity of an appearance with the queen and do the "monkey tongue" at visitors. And presumably all black women would do that.

So when you say "it was inappropriate to stick her tongue out like that at a royal event" what you are clearly saying is "it is inappropriate that she is a nigger."

It also claims Markle "showed a lack of respect towards Harry" during a recent visit to Nottingham, but did not explain how. Markle will also not be respected since the "Suits" actress has been seen scantily clad in magazines and on TV.

"No member of the Royal Family should have naked images of them freely available on the internet as she does," the petition reads.

"Her constant sex simulation makes her a laughing stock and an embarrassment to this country."

The petition alleges divorcee Markle was unfaithful to past partners, and issues a plea to "prevent her from having an official role or title after her marriage to Harry."

The petition was started by a Louise Pawsey and has amassed more than 350 signatories—with a target of 500.

Prime Minister Theresa May, Her Majesty the Queen and Prince Charles will be sent the petition if reaches its target.

Look, I don't even know if there is a conscious realization on the part of the people involved with this petition to be racists. But that is plainly and obviously what it is. It's easy enough to prove that: if this was a white actress, say that chick who plays the dragon queen on Game of Thrones, no one would be taking any issue with the fact that she's been nude on TV and had multiple public romantic affairs (and again, a white person wouldn't have done the tongue thing).

tfw you realize that Harry could just as easily have married the GoT chick.

Or any other woman on the planet.

And chose a barbaric nigger instead.

Here's the petition.

Third World America: 12 Dead in Massive Fire in NYC

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 29, 2017

I'm gonna say the same thing that I said when Grenfell Tower burned in London.

This is kinda pretty much what happens when you replace your white population with brown people.

That is: the kind of thing that happens in brown countries happens in white countries when you turn those white countries brown.

GMA:

At least 12 people, including a 1-year-old, have died in a massive apartment fire in New York City, Mayor Bill de Blasio announced Thursday night.

Calling the blaze "one of the worst loss-of-life fires in many, many years," de Blasio said another four people were critically injured and "fighting for their lives."

Speaking at a press conference at the fire scene, de Blasio said at least 12 people were rescued from the building at 2363 Prospect Ave. in the Belmont neighborhood of the Bronx.

"The search of the building continues so we know that even though it's horrible to report 12 are dead already, we may lose others as well," de Blasio said.

The deaths ranged in age from 1 year old to "over 50," authorities said.

"They were burned, even little kids on the stretchers, burned," a resident of the building told New York ABC station WABC.

Fire Commissioner Daniel Nigro said the fire broke out on the first floor of the five-story building and spread upstairs. He said it was "way too early to tell the cause."

"As of now, this tragedy is without question historic in its magnitude," Nigro said.

It could have been a brown person cooking.

It could have been an electrical or gas fire caused by the actions of brown technicians.

There was probably a brown safety inspector.

The firefighters were probably brown people.

Why Do Female Chess Champions Exist at All?

Diversity Macht Frei
December 29, 2017

Video Link

Amid the general congratulations being given to this Ukrainian chess player for refusing to play in Saudi Arabia because of the strict dress code imposed on women there, no one seems to be asking the obvious question: why is there even such a thing as a female chess champion? What is the rationale for having separate championships for men and women in this game? Surely no one could seriously argue that men have an unfair advantage over women in this game because of their physique?

That fact is that all of the top female chess players in the world are far below the level of the top men.

Chess, in fact, provides one of the clearest refutations of the Equality Cult dogma that men and women are identical except anatomically.

Generally, two main excuses are given for the disparity in male and female achievement in almost all spheres.

1) Women are denied access to the induction/training process that ultimately leads on to great achievement.

So women may not be taken on as apprentices by the great master painter, or are not inducted into the “old boys’ network” in some profession. Denied knowledge of the “tricks of the trade”, they can never equal the achievements of men.

2) Women do actually achieve on a par with men, but their achievement is not recognised.

This argument expects us to believe that, throughout history and still today, there have been a host of great female poets, composers, painters, etc. who remained completely obscure because prejudiced men refused to recognise their achievements.

Neither of these arguments can apply in the case of chess, however.

Great chess players are generally self-taught. They learn by studying old matches. They don’t sit as young paduwans at the feet of some grandmaster who shows them all the tricks.

This refutes argument 1.

And chess competitions are generally open. There is an objective ranking system based on results and there are tournaments where anyone above a certain rank can turn up and take on a grandmaster. The grandmaster will walk round the room, making moves quickly, playing dozens of people at once. If some female chess genius appeared, she could turn up, beat a grandmaster and make a name for herself. There is absolutely no way that prejudiced men would be able to prevent her abilities being recognised.

This refutes argument 2.

We’re left with the conclusion that men and women are actually different from one another. Men are better at some things and women are better at others.

American Tourist – A California City Official – Killed in Mexico

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 31, 2017

Mexico is an extremely dangerous place.

People just get killed there for no reason all the time. It's a circus. Less safe than Africa, for sure.

Fox News:

An American tourist was shot and killed while apparently being robbed in a resort town on Mexico's Pacific Coast that has become popular with surfers and Hollywood stars.

Douglas Bradley was killed Thursday in the hotel zone of Ixtapa. He was on Christmas vacation in neighboring Zihuatanejo and would have turned 50 the next day.

The city of Imperial Beach in San Diego County announced Bradley's death on Friday. He was the city's director of finance.

"Doug Bradley was loved by all that knew him," said Imperial Beach Mayor Serge Dedina. "He was always positive, loved to surf, and had helped to turn around the City of Imperial Beach's financial management as well as restructure city administration to make it more efficient and resident-friendly."

Witnesses told local media they saw Bradley being chased by gunmen who shot him with a 9 mm handgun about 4 a.m., Mexico News Daily reported.

However, police weren't called for four hours, and when they arrived they found Bradley's body in a parking lot, the website reported.

The San Diego Union-Tribune reported that Bradley was unmarried and did not have children. He lived in Playas de Tijuana and commuted to Imperial Beach.

Dedina said the city was working with the U.S. Embassy in Mexico City and the U.S. Consulate General in Tijuana to bring the body home.

On Saturday, Mexico News Daily reported that less than an hour south of Ixtapa, just hours before Bradley was killed, the mayor of Petatlán was killed by a gunman.

Violence in the region is attributed to gang turf fights involving drug trafficking, kidnapping and extortion, the website also reported.

Last week a comedy show at the Krystal Ixtapa hotel was canceled after gangsters tried to shake down one of the performers for $2,500, according to the website.

Most of this violence isn't really reported on in English at all.

Because if it was, people would be saying, "wait, don't we have an open border with that country? maybe we should like, build a wall or something?"

So you really only hear about it when an American gets killed.

I'm not going to mourn the death of a California city official. Surely, he supported the transfer of the population of Mexico to America, and he eventually would have just been shot randomly by Mexicans in a parking lot in California, given that he is obviously unaware of the old adage: "around spics, watch out for tricks" or even of the slightly less popular old adage: "around wetbacks, watch your backs."

South Korea Seizes Second Ship Trading Oil with North Korea!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 31, 2017

The ships had Chinese crews with some Burmese.

They were pretty much certainly using the Panama flag falsely, and run by the Chinese.

So South Korea is seizing Chinese ships—because of course big daddy America will come to their rescue if they get into any trouble.

RT:

A Panama-flagged ship suspected of selling oil to North Korea in international waters has been seized by South Korea. Such trade is banned by a UN Security Council resolution targeting Pyongyang for nuclear and missile tests.

The 5,100-ton KOTI tanker was detained by authorities in the port of Pyeongtaek-Dangjin in South Korea's Gyeonggi Province, Yonhap news agency reported. Security and customs officials decided last week not to let the ship leave the port after suspecting it of engaging in ship-to-ship oil trade with North Korea in violation of UN sanctions.

The Sunday report said most of the crew of the KOTI were Chinese and Myanmar nationals. South Korean authorities would not provide details of the ongoing investigation.

They had done this before, back in November, with a Hong Kong-flagged ship—though they just announced that Friday.

Earlier on Friday, Seoul announced that it was investigating the Hong Kong-flagged Lighthouse Winmore tanker for allegedly transferring up to 600 tons of petroleum to a North Korean vessel in October. The ship was seized on November 24 at the port of Yeosu.

The report triggered an international scandal as US President Donald Trump accused China of being “caught red-handed” supplying oil to North Korea. Similar accusations against Russia were voiced by anonymous western European officials, who told Reuters three such exchanges had happened in October and November. Both China and Moscow denied that their governments acted to undermine the UN sanctions against North Korea through failing to enforce them.

This is absolutely the way wars start.

This needs to be dialed back, ASAP.

I do not want America in a war with China. That is absolutely idiotic.

Jews and Zionists Cheer as Anti-Government Protests Hit Iran

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
December 30, 2017

A myriad of anti-government protests have hit Iran over the past few days. With ISIS now a non-factor in the region, many are speculating as to what the Zionists will do next. We may have found our answer.

It is reasonable to say that these protests didn't just come out of nowhere. This looks like another attempted color revolution, similar to what we have seen in places like Ukraine. The exact reason for these protests is foggy, but it allegedly has to do with some combination of women's rights, economics and Iran's military support of Syria. In other words, the rationale is centered around a bunch of Jewish nonsense.

Jews and Zionists have come out in unison supporting the protests in the name of freedom and democracy.

Here's just a handful of tweets from the blue check mark crowd. Twitter has gotten so ridiculous with their censorship that a blue check mark on the platform is practically the equivalent of a “jude” star. Most people with the blue check mark status are either Jews or supporters of Jews.

It would be good to have someone from the Administration on TV this weekend to support of the protesters in Iran. My suggestion: @nikki-haley.

— Bill Kristol (@BillKristol) December 30, 2017

Important that we support the non-violent protesters in #Iran. This is the result of a regime more focused on propping up terrorist organizations than addressing the plight of its citizens.

— Paul Ryan (@SpeakerRyan) December 29, 2017

Inspiring and moving to see the people of Iran-at risk & severe repercussions-take to the streets demanding freedom and rights. Freedom and hope cannot be stifled forever. Let's hope they persevere. #IranProtests <https://t.co/70uVXBAGhE>

— Ana Navarro (@ananavarro) December 30, 2017

The Merchant Right crowd has even got in the game.

Its time for Khamenei to step down.

The experiment has failed.

Give Iran back to her people

— Jack Posobiec (@JackPosobiec) December 30, 2017

What the CIA is pulling off in #Iran right now is an absolute work of art.

.@realDonaldTrump and Pompeo might potentially neutralize the Mullahs and North Korea's nuke program without ever firing a shot.

Incredible change from Obama's policy of appeasement then surrender.

— John Cardillo (@johncardillo) December 30, 2017

The President is also supporting the protests which is not a surprise considering his consistent anti-Iran rhetoric. His position on Iran is a major disagreement that many of us have with the President.

Many reports of peaceful protests by Iranian citizens fed up with regime's corruption & its squandering of the nation's wealth to fund terrorism abroad. Iranian govt should respect their people's rights, including right to express themselves. The world is watching! #Iran-Protests

— Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) December 30, 2017

Here's the State Department's official statement.

U.S. strongly condemns arrest of peaceful protestors in #Iran, urges all nations to publicly support Iranian people. As @PO-TUS said, longest-suffering victims of Iran's leaders are Iran's own people. #Iranprotests pic.twitter.com/mUTOBTehft

— Heather Nauert (@statedept-spox) December 29, 2017

The fact that there has been a unified front supporting these protests is an indication that this an attempt by the Zionists to destabilize Iran from within.

You'll notice that there was no unified front supporting Palestinians protesting Israel. The kikes even killed a man with no legs and there was no outrage!

"We've got bullets! Bullets for brown people! No legs? No problem!" -Jews

And how about what happened in Charlottesville a few months back here in the United States? There was no unified front expressing outrage over a criminal conspiracy to shut down an attempt to hold a peaceful rally.

So to say that these people are concerned about freedom and democracy is the most retarded thing imaginable. This is about creating chaos in a nation that is opposed to Israel. It has nothing to do with freedoms.

Annual rallies supporting the Iranian government are being held today. It looks as if these pro-government rallies will be larger and more widespread than the anti-government rallies.

CBC:

Annual nationwide pro-government rallies were held in Iran on Saturday to mark the end of unrest which shook the country in 2009, state media reported, while local news agency and social media reports said a third day of protests had begun.

State television showed a rally in the capital Tehran and marchers carrying banners in support of Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei in Mashhad, Iran's second largest city. Pro-government rallies were scheduled in more than 1,200 cities and towns, state television said, events held annually to mark the end of months of street protests which followed Mahmoud Ahmadinejad's re-election as president in 2009.

While anything is possible, it is doubtful that this revolution will succeed. The Iranians are well aware of America's historical interference in their nation's affairs. This interference which created a socially degenerate cesspool under the Shah is what led to the 1979 revolution and the formation of the Islamic Republic.

Just look at these free and independent Iranian sluts before the revolution! The revolution put these skanks in their place!

This is my mum & her friends in Iran before the Islamic revolution. All were professional, independent & free women. pic.twitter.com/4l69RnOmuZ

The United States needs to end its continued interference in the internal affairs of Iran. This is a country that has no means to militarily invade the United States. Any interference in their internal affairs only benefits Israel which contrary to popular belief is not our greatest ally. Israel is America's greatest enemy and people need to start recognizing this fact.

Shock as Top Nigerian Prince Turns Out to be a Louisiana Man

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer

In a shocking development, it has been revealed that the famed Nigerian prince who wants to wire you millions to safeguard for him is actually not Nigerian at all.

He's from Louisiana.
USA Today:

A Louisiana man was arrested in connection with the "Nigerian prince" scheme that has scammed people out of thousands of dollars, police announced Thursday.

Michael Neu, 67, faces 269 counts of wire fraud and money laundering after being taken into custody following an 18-month investigation, according to the Slidell Police Department. Police said Neu is suspected of being the scam's "middle man" who obtained money and "subsequently wired" funds to his co-conspirators in Nigeria.

According to the Federal Trade Commission, the phishing scam begins with an email purporting to be from a high-ranking Nigerian official who seeks financial assistance or personal information to retrieve an alleged inheritance.

Though the scheme is often the butt of late-night TV jokes, people have fallen victim to the scam, officials say.

"Neu" is an almost exclusively Jewish name. I am sure this guy is Jewish, but I can't confirm that, technically. So we'll just say "presumed Jewish" until someone confirms it. I imagine he was an active Jew. Very often, Jew criminals are also ultra-religious, particularly when it comes to these sorts of money scams.

It will be interesting to hear about the details of the connection to Nigerians.

Presumably, he had to have someone on the ground there. But how did he meet them? How much of a cut were they getting?

We haven't even heard how long this scam has been going on.

I'm betting he invaded the industry and took it over.

It used to be run by actual Nigerians.

UK: White Businesses in Diverse Areas Facing Property Damage and Other Threats

That said, diversity is still worth it.

Have you ever even tried genuine kebab?

Breitbart:

Areas of Bradford, England, are No Go Zones for certain ethnic groups and the city is "heading toward disaster," councillors have warned, citing attacks on a synagogue and white businesses in "Asian" areas.

Bradford Council's Corporate Overview and Scrutiny Committee chairman Arshad Hussain slammed ethnic segregation and failed integration, and blamed political correctness for making the situation worse.

Too many people are "scared to speak up in case they caused offence," he warned, adding there are "many areas of this city" where people were afraid to go depending on their ethnicity—i.e. No Go Zones.

Another councillor, Vanda Greenwood, added that young women did not feel safe in parts of the town because of gangs of young "Asian" men, the Telegraph and Argus reports.

The Red Lion and Round Thorn pubs, in the West of the city, were among those targeted on the 5th of November, according to the Telegraph and Argus.

"These were the only white businesses in the area. No Asian businesses were attacked. They were targeted because they were white," he added.

It's just something people are going to have to get used to.

We're a multiculture now.

India Swoops in with Building Fire Beating the NYC Score – By Three Points!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 29, 2017

Third world countries have fires that kill a lot of people ever day, so

I don't generally bother to report on them.

But in my article on the NYC fire last night, I pointed out that these fires are a third world thing and that we are going to be having more of them as we become a third world country (yes, when you replace the population of a first world country with third world people, it becomes a third world country—we do not live on magic dirt).

So I just wanted to point out that the same night there was a fire in NYC—the most deadly in 25 years—there was one in India that beat the score by 3 (so far).

CBS News:

A fire broke out early Friday in an up-scale rooftop restaurant in Mumbai, India's financial and entertainment capital, leaving at least 15 dead and a dozen injured, officials said.

The 1 a.m. fire quickly spread from the restaurant through a four-story building, said fire official Balkrishna Kadam.

The TimesNow television news channel said an artificial bamboo ceiling in the restaurant burned quickly and collapsed as people tried to escape the fire. Most people died of suffocation from the smoke, it said.

More than 50 people were brought to a hospital, of whom 12 were being treated for injuries that were not life threatening, said Avinash Supe, a doctor at KEM Hospital. The dead included 11 women, fire officials said.

"There was a stampede and someone pushed me. People were running over me even as the ceiling above me was collapsing in flames. Still don't know how I got out alive," Mumbai gynecologist Sulbha Arora tweeted.

She said was at the restaurant when the fire started and "before we knew it the whole place was engulfed in a matter of seconds."

I will tell you again, first world folk: you need to just go ahead and take a look at all of the insanity that goes on in the third world, and get ready to experience all of it at very high intensity.

We're only seeing the tip of the iceberg now, with the gang-rapes and the murders, the terrorist attacks. That is just the stuff they can do BEFORE they take over your systems. But the same Jews who are flooding us with these dumb animals are also demanding that they take over all of our systems, ensuring that the levels of abject failure inherent in all third world systems become standard in our once-civilized nations.

Fires are a good example of that.

Because sure, some stupid brown ape immigrant can start a kitchen fire by using third-world food-engineering techniques, but there are levels of redundancy to prevent entire buildings burning down from a kitchen fire. For the catastrophic to happen, the systems have to have been corrupted by incompetent brown people.

Just wait until they take over the justice system—they're going to be letting brown people off for just murdering random white people, while they refuse to prosecute brown people who murder random whites.

It's really gonna be hell.

Egypt: 10 Killed as Gunmen Open Fire on Coptic Christian Church

Here go those wacky hajis again.

Right in the middle of their great struggle against the Jew, who is allegedly their enemy, they are killing Christians randomly.

Fox News:

At least 10 people, including one gunman, were shot dead Friday morning outside a Coptic church in south Cairo, according to Egyptian health minister spokesman.

Two gunmen opened fired outside the Marmina Coptic Orthodox church in Helwan, a neighborhood in south Cairo, Khaled Megahed told reporters.

One of the assailants was shot dead, while the other fled, according to initial reports.

The second assailant was captured soon after, Reuters reported.

Two police officers were among those killed, reports said.

Officials said the exchange of gunfire also injured at least five other people.

I'm just gonna leave this here.

You see stuff like this—like the whole Moslem world protesting Jews, and then Moslems going out and killing random Christians in a church in a city that also has synagogues—and you just gotta wonder.

What exactly is going on with these so-called “people”?

I mean, this is like if Japan and China were in a war and Japan, instead of bombing China, decided to randomly go bomb Papua New Guinea.

DO NOT WANT: Moslems Get Christmas Beating in North England Pub!

I'm anti-violence, of course.

But when you flood a country with hostile foreigners who are systematically drugging and gang-raping your young girls and killing you on the streets while feeding off of your labor as parasites, what exactly do you expect to happen?

It is a wonder it doesn't happen more often.

RT:

A Muslim student has told of how he feared he would die as he was being kicked in the head, seconds after wishing three men a Merry Christmas outside a pub in northern England.

Ihsan Abualrob was brutally assaulted on Christmas Eve after a night out in Durham. Abualrob is currently studying a Master's degree in Politics at Durham University, but was left "heartbroken" after he and his friends were attacked.

The Palestinian was in the Happy Wanderer pub with friends when he was called a "suicide bomber" before being attacked outside.

The trio was initially approached when playing pool in the pub.

"We don't drink and were sitting there chatting when out of the blue a British guy approached us, pulled up a chair uninvited and asked us where we were from," he told the Northern Echo.

"My friends said from Egypt and myself from Palestine. He said: 'Egypt, Palestine. You Muslims. Are you suicide bombers?'"

When the group left, they say they were approached outside. Three men began to insult Muslims and mock religion.

Abualrob said: "Merry Christmas, enjoy your holiday." They turned to leave but were reportedly followed.

"One of them threw a glass towards us," he said. "Then one of them lunged at me and punched me on my left cheek and I fell to the ground. Then three of them started kicking me in the head, shoulders and body. I grabbed my head in my arms trying to protect my face."

Abualrob fell in front of the pub, suffering a concussion and bruising on his face and knee. The student said: "Christmas should be a time of love and hope, not violence."

Police have arrested two people on suspicion of racial or religiously aggravated assault.

You know where you wouldn't get beaten up for being a Moslem? Palest...

Oh sorry wait roflmao.

Maybe...Jordan?

But seriously though—how are the guys who REACTED to the invasion being punished for reacting to a decision that was made by the government?

Also—why are these Paki rape gangs not being punished?

Meghan Markle's WHITE Sister Attacks Prince Harry for Saying She Never had a Family!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 28, 2017

The future nigger princess of the United Kingdom, it turns out is—get this— UNGRATEFUL!

Fox News:

Meghan Markle's half-sister has a bone to pick with her future brother-in-law.

Samantha Grant, who shares a father with the "Suits" actress, sounded off on Twitter after Prince Harry made some comments about his family's Christmas celebrations with his fiancée Markle.

He said in a recent interview with BBC Radio 4, "There's always that family part of Christmas [where] there's always that work element there as well, and I think together we had an amazing time... [Meghan's] getting in there and it's the family I suppose that she's never had."

Grant fired back on social media, "Actually she [Markle] has a large family who were always there with her and for her."

Actually she has a large family who were always there with her and for her. Our household was very normal and when dad and Doria divorced, we all made it so it was like she had two houses. No one was estranged, she was just too busy. Read my book complete with facts and photos

— Samantha Markle (@SamanthaM-Grant) December 27, 2017

She has a large family. She always did. Our dad is amazing and completely self sacrificing. We made it so that she had two houses. How fun it was!

So the nigger princess is acting like she didn't have a family because—TA DUM—she hates white people and doesn't want to associate with them.

Shocking.

Actually: no, it isn't.

I'm sure on some level she actually feels disconnected from the rest of her family simply because they are white.

Look.

I would feel out of place if I were her.

Her father probably didn't care much for her negress mother, whom he apparently got pregnant when high on PCP.

I just...I just can't even believe I've been forced to write this many articles about an old, divorced, fourth-rate negroid TV actress.

I mean of all the people on the planet that THE PRINCE is able to choose for a wife, why one that checks all the boxes of "not wife material"?

If he wanted a mulatto actress wife, couldn't he have picked someone at least younger?

That Spider-Man nigger?

Yeah...she really looks like a tranny, doesn't she.

Here's a good question for you: what exactly is the point of marrying a nigger at all?

Is it just social signaling?

Honestly, I don't even understand what is going on here.

The whole thing seems deeply deranged, and it feels like we must be missing something.

Maybe he has a brain tumor, or has been hit with some of Alex Jones' globalist mind weapons...?

Tech Companies Moving to Saudi Arabia (Where the Money Is)

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 28, 2017

Saudis have IQs on par with African Negroids.

And yet they have ungodly amounts of money, due to the geopolitics surrounding the oil industry.

In a natural situation, "stupid" plus "rich" would equal "invaded and slaughtered."

That is the way nature regulates itself: through the strong conquering and subduing the weak.

Instead, we embrace a collective fantasy where somehow they deserve this money. And we pretend they are human beings by doing regular business with them.

Reuters:

Apple and Amazon are in licensing discussions with Riyadh on investing in Saudi Arabia, two sources told Reuters, part of Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman's push to give the conservative kingdom a high-tech look.

A third source confirmed that Apple was in talks with SAGIA, Saudi Arabia's foreign investment authority.

Both companies already sell products in Saudi Arabia via third parties but they and other global tech giants have yet to establish a direct presence.

Amazon's discussions are being led by cloud computing division Amazon Web Services (AWS), which would introduce stiff competition in a market currently dominated by smaller local providers like STC and Mobily.

Riyadh has been easing regulatory impediments for the past two years, including limits on foreign ownership which had long kept investors away, since falling crude prices highlighted the need to diversify its oil-dependent economy.

Luring Apple and Amazon would further Prince Mohammed's reform plans and raise the companies' profile in a young and relatively affluent market, which already boasts some of the highest internet and smartphone use in the world.

About 70 percent of the Saudi population is under 30 and frequently glued to social media.

Yes.

They're glued to social media, glued to white Instagram hookers, glued to whatever it is they can think of to pass time using billions of dollars because none of these filthy, stinking animals even work. White people just hand them cash, because they claim the land under which this oil flows. And because they hold the Islamic holy sites in the name of Globo-Judeo.

Who would be opposed to a new Crusade to slaughter these people and take everything they have?

Women?

I'll tell you: women will stop complaining when they see video of white men with automatic weapons committing a campaign of genocide. They will shut their mouths and drop their panties, because nothing gets a woman as hot as genocide.

No.

The only thing stopping us from invading and conquering the Middle East in its entirety is a lack of will.

In the "civilised" West, Happy Slapping typically involved brown-skinned mobs attacking solitary whites and filming it. In uncivilised Algeria, however, soldiers grab illegal negroes, beat them up and make them slap one another on video, before expelling them from the country. This is hardcore. We really need to recapture the spirit of ruthlessness our ancestors once had.

Video Link

And the Algerians have just expelled 10,000 negroes, to the strange silence of the mainstream media.

Algerian authorities have reportedly launched a new massive wave of expulsion by forcibly deporting more than 10,000 migrants from various sub-Saharan countries to the neighboring states of Niger and Mali.

The news was confirmed by the Algerian Minister of Interior and Local Authorities, Nouredine Bedoui on Sunday, December 24, without providing any further details about when the eviction operations took place.

In an attempt to avoid using the term "expulsion," the minister said that the migrants were "driven to the borders," adding that this measure was made in "consultation with the countries concerned," namely Niger and Mali. He said that "illegal migrants" are not welcomed on the Algerian territory.

Bedoui's statements come to echo the sentiment already displayed by Algerian high officials, including the current Prime Minister Ahmed Ouyahia who previously labeled migrants as "criminals" and "transmitters of HIV."

ISIS Goes East, Claims Two Attacks in Kabul

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer

LOL COOL GUN BRO

The Jews poured so much money into their little ISIS project that they're not about to let it just die.

Afghanistan is still chaotic af due to a decade and a half of ZOG terrorism against the local cave people.

It's as good of a place as any to move a Saudi-Israeli terror group. Fox News:

The Islamic State claimed responsibility for the simultaneous attack on an Afghanistan news agency and a Shiite cultural center in Kabul that left at least 41 dead and 84 wounded.

The terror group said in a statement through its propaganda agency that one suicide bomber wearing a vest carried out the attack along with three other bomb blasts, Reuters reported.

No U.S. troops or coalition force members were killed in the suicide attack.

The attack occurred during a panel discussion on the December 1979 invasion of Afghanistan by the former Soviet Union, Reuters reported, citing witnesses. A number of those attending the panel were students.

Interior Ministry spokesman Najib Danish said an unknown number of suicide attackers set off an explosion outside the center before storming the building when they set off more explosives in the basement.

At least one suicide bomber was able to sneak into the event and sit among the participants before detonating his device, Shiite leader Abdul Hussain Ramazandada said citing witnesses.

Afghan president Ashraf Ghani has called the attack on a Shiite Muslim cultural center in Kabul a “crime against humanity.”

Of course, ISIS bombs the whole world.

But I expect that their presence in Afghanistan is going to continue picking up. I predict it's where they're all going to regroup after scattering from Syria and Iraq.

My vote: let Russia deal with it. They appear to be much better at this than America.

UK Fears Inviting Obama to Royal Nog-Wedding Could Anger Trump?

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 27, 2017

Why does this photo give an “obvious homosexuals” vibe to me?

I am certain this is fake drama.

The UK has shown exactly zero interest in not angering Donald Trump. Furthermore, inviting an ex-president to a wedding shouldn't anger Donald Trump.

They are trying to bait Trump into commenting on this.

AOL:

Prince Harry and his American fiancée Meghan Markle reportedly want to invite former President Barack Obama and former first lady Michelle Obama to their wedding in May, but government officials in the United Kingdom are worried such a move could anger the current U.S. president.

A report released on Christmas Day by The Sun claims that the 33-year-old royal and his wife-to-be hope to invite the Obamas, but not the current White House inhabitants.

“Harry has made it clear he wants the Obamas at the wedding, so it's causing a lot of nervousness,” a senior government official told The Sun, according to the report. “Trump could react very badly if the Obamas get to a Royal wedding before he has had a chance to meet the Queen.”

The wedding will not be subject to the full regulations of a state wedding, but the government will play a “consultative role” and could put significant pressure on Buckingham Palace—which is controlling the guest list—to keep the Obamas off the guest list if they fear it could have damaging impacts to international relations between the two countries.

The relationship between Britain and the U.S. has been icy in recent months, with British lawmakers repeatedly criticizing the president over his various comments and actions. British Prime Minister Theresa May went as far as to say the president was “wrong” after he retweeted anti-Islam videos originally posted by a leader of a far-right British fringe party. The London mayor has said the president shouldn't be invited for an official state visit, and parliament debated banning him from the country before he took office.

Meghan Markle has also made disparaging comments about President Donald Trump in the past, calling him misogynistic in a 2016 interview. She has, however, praised his daughter Ivanka Trump on a handful of occasions. The first daughter and presidential advisor tweeted her congrats to the engaged couple shortly after their engagement was announced.

Prince Harry and Obama have met on numerous occasions and have a relationship that's extended beyond the president's time in the White House. They were last seen together joking on the sidelines of events during the Invictus Games in Toronto.

The stinking whore Theresa May has stood by while the most extreme communists and Islamists in the Jewnited Cuckdom attack our President. She has done nothing to stem the hatred.

She let that evil little Paki Mayor lead an online assault.

So I would be very, very surprised if she cares about this.

The are suggesting that random people in the government have concerns, but I don't see that any random person in the government would have the clout to intervene in such an affair.

And it would really be fitting for the globo-halfling prince to be there when the halfling becomes a princess.

It's only right that this be a truly African cultural event.

Why on earth would Donald Trump be jealous at not being invited to this kind of monkey show?

Oxford Professor: Helping Refugees in Their Own Countries is 135 Times Cheaper

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
December 27, 2017

Let's pretend for one second that the immigration problem afflicting every Western country at once is the product of neo-liberal plutocrats' "altruism" and not an organized conspiracy by Jews and big business to replace the native white people they rule.

The cost of beard grooming, hashish, prostitutes and other basic necessities "child refugees" from the Middle East and Africa demand from Europeans is much cheaper in their home countries.

If charity is their motive—which it isn't—a dollar or Euro goes furthest in Pakistan or Somalia. Compared to the upkeep of supporting largely military aged and middle class males (the only ones with the money to pay for the trip) showing up to rape and murder Europeans at Christmas markets in an EU subsidized stag trip, you could help tens of millions of women and children for the same price.

Voice of Europe:

According to Oxford professor Paul Collier, Western countries can help more than one hundred refugees locally, for the same money we spend here on one of them.

The professor spoke at a conference of Denmark's Social Democracy party in Copenhagen last week. He rejected the idea that Europe should receive migrants and said:

"We spend 135 dollars for every person who shows up here, compared to one dollar for every person that we help in their own region. Those staying home are often much weaker than the ones who have the resources to get to Europe."

Collier also made a statement about the migrants and refugees who come to Europe:

"Almost everyone coming to Europe from countries where they were already safe...The idea that this group has an enormous need for help, is simply irresponsible and a result of intellectual laziness."

It's not intellectual laziness professor Collier, it's a plan: white genocide.

This isn't about human rights, refugee conventions, charity or even the Arabs and blacks themselves. This is about Jews and their running dogs trying to make our countries as brown as possible so that our ruling class has a colored buffer in between itself and the people. The goal is to create a permanent climate of fear and terror while dwindling our numbers so that it becomes impossible to vote them out or resist as our civilization dies a violent death.

Pennywise the murderous Kike, an eternal demon and one of the major string-pullers in the "refugee crisis," is unambiguous in its intent:

Germany: Female Islamic Extremists Defending the Faith Online

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 27, 2017

While white women are bum-rushing Baby Jesus in an attempt to bring down Western civilization once and for all, Islamic women are preaching their religion on the internet to bring down Western civilization once and for all. The latter are being loyal to their own men, while the former are being loyal to the latter's men.

RT:

Germany's intelligence services have identified an Islamist terrorist network made up of 40 women. Female extremists with hundreds of Facebook followers are increasingly filling the gap left by their imprisoned husbands.

Burkhard Freier, the head of the North Rhine-Westphalian Office for the Protection of the Constitution, told Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung newspaper that the local female extremist network of "40 sisters" followed a strict Salafist doctrine—informing their advice on everything from raising children to interpreting the religious rules of Islam and stirring up hatred against so-called "non-believers." The network was active on the internet, determined to proselytize their Salafist ideology (an ultra-conservative interpretation of Islam) aggressively to other would-be members.

"The women are now ideology promoters," Freier said.

Additionally, the women indoctrinate their own children from an early age. "This makes Salafism a family affair," and the result, Freier said, could be something "much more difficult to dissolve, namely Salafist pockets within society."

What's worse is that these female extremist leaders, some of whom have several hundred Facebook followers, now have a new role in society, feeling accepted and included. "The men have realized that women can network much better and are therefore more capable of expanding the scene and keeping it active," Freier said.

Although not every Salafist is a terrorist, "every jihadist terrorist we've seen in Europe in recent years came from the Salafist scene," Focus Online reported, citing the official. "There is an increasing number of minor Salafists fantasizing about violence," he added.

There are layers of meaning to be taken from this:

Versus this:

Part of it is certainly that white women don't respect their own men as much as Moslem women respect their own men because white men have been so cuckolded.

But part of it is also surely that white women are just naturally rebellious and hateful. Specifically so. Because there is nothing more beta than Asian men, and their women are not rebelling against them and trying to bring down their civilization.

We have a situation where even women claiming to be devoted to a right-wing, pro-white ideology are actually just obsessively trying to overpower and destroy men, using the supposed devotion to that ideology as a means to hurt us.

Of course, our women are our women and it is just something that we are going to have to deal with and continue to deal with, regardless. But we need to understand that they are unique in their viciousness and hatred and that we must be equally fanatical in our management of these vile creatures.

TramadoloCaust: Britskank Sentenced to Three Years in Egyptian Prison for Pain Pills

I don't know what this filthy whore is complaining about—in an Egyptian prison, she's sure to get plenty of that brown cock she craves!

Dirty slut!

Fox News:

A British woman sentenced to three years in prison for smuggling painkillers into Egypt claims she didn't know they were illegal and she was only trying to help her boyfriend.

Laura Plummer, 33, was arrested in October at Hurgada International Airport after being found with 290 tramadol pills in her suitcase that she claimed were for her Egyptian boyfriend's bad back.

Her lawyers have reportedly lodged an immediate repeal.

Speaking after the verdict, Plummer's mother Roberta told the Sun: "This is not fair. She's done it in all innocence. She brought [the drugs] to help someone, to help a family.

"She's the kindest person...I was worried about her before, [when she was] in the police station. I'm even more worried now she's in actual prison with real criminals."

Plummer's Egyptian partner Omar Caboo, who she reportedly visits a few times per year, suffers from severe back pain.

She had her trial adjourned yesterday after accidentally pleading guilty due to a mix-up with her interpreter.

Maybe globo-skankdom will finally learn it's lesson!

No...no, I don't suppose so.

UK: Royal Christmas Debased by Blood-Sucking Female African

December 26, 2017

The British Royal Christmas celebration Monday was debased by a blood-sucking African female this year, brought there by the gingerprince.

She even stuck her tounge out like an ape to mock the whites she has abused.

There is nothing more humiliating to the British people and to their ancestors than bringing this simian fiend into the Royal Family.

Africans in Africa cannot run their own mining operations and have to bring Chinamen in to do it for them—but this bitch can dig her own gold.

Basically, her entire life has been about manipulating people to get cash from them...so she is every woman, ever. But she is apparently very good at it.

A 35-year-old white divorcee pulling any type of husband at all is a serious accomplishment. But a Negress that age pulling a Prince...this is one of the greatest female accomplishments in all of history.

So even while I am disgusted on the deepest possible level of my being, I am also awed.

The runner up in the Humiliation Olympics is of course Prince William, who despite calls from the entire world has continually refused to shave his bald head and grow a goatee.

He could become the Stone Cold Steve Austin of the Royal Family and thereby bring back at least a minuscule shred of dignity to this failed nation-state.

And yet, he refuses, instead choosing to pile humiliation upon further humiliation.

There is no future for Britain until the government is overthrown and a new fascist state implemented.

Bitcoin Bounces Back to $15,000ish

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 26, 2017

Bitcoin lost almost half its value, now it has regained half of what it lost.

RT:

The leading cryptocurrency bitcoin has passed the $15,000 mark on Tuesday. It has been recovering from last week's sell-off, which sent prices below $11,000 after the $20,000 record.

Bitcoin was trading at $15,500 on Tuesday, up almost nine percent. Its market cap reached $260 billion with its share of the cryptocurrency market sliding to 44 percent, according to Coinmarketcap.

"There is no right current price which would reflect the right current valuation," cryptocurrency expert Andrei Popescu told Reuters.

"Taking profit is right while buying into a long-term projection is also right. You don't have to be right in this market, just less wrong than the rest," Popescu said.

Cryptocurrency entrepreneur Julian Hosp has predicted bitcoin will reach a new record high, but not before another price crash.

"I think we're going to see bitcoin hitting the $60,000 mark, but I also think we're going to see bitcoin hitting the $5,000 mark," Hosp told CNBC.

I was forced into Bitcoin when the SPLC shut down all of my payment processors, and I've made a good bit of money. However, my only goal for the currency was to use it as a currency. I never thought of it as an "investment." It was merely a necessary tool.

So I absolutely think you should start learning how to use crypto currency. I think the future that this is opening up is one that we are all going to have to be a part of.

That said, be very careful. Don't look at this as a safe investment, and don't put too much money in it right now. I remember when I was telling you all to buy if it went below $2000, and I certainly hope that some of you did that and got rich from it, but right now, the whole world is talking about Bitcoin and there are a whole lot of different directions in which this could go.

I think the trend is clear, and it will keep going up, but we've also got an extremely volatile situation here which could lead to a lot of emotional distress if you have money in it that is anything other than disposable income.

The same goes for any of the crypto currencies. Even more so—that is even more clearly just gambling, as you have no idea what is going to happen with them.

Of course, "disposable income" is fine to use for gambling. The purpose of "disposable income" is to have fun. What I don't want to see is our guys going crazy with this crypto stuff and losing money that they don't have to lose—that is, treating this like it's a stable investment. Because it is not stable.

That having been said—I wouldn't sell at any price.

Though it is a good idea to send DS some for sure.

Jews Fly Fake News Into North Korea Using Balloons

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
December 26, 2017

North Korea is a resilient country. The fact that it has survived the Cold War is alone an incredible achievement.

The main catalyst for the Soviet Union's fall was the switch of US foreign policy from detente to Ronald Reagan's arms race. The Soviet economy was always small compared to the US (it was still a peasant economy in the 1920s while the US was already fully industrialized), so matching American military developments and foreign aid (to allies like the Eastern bloc or Cuba) dollar for dollar became impossible.

In other words, the Soviets didn't "collapse," Mikhail Gorbachev surrendered.

On the other hand, the DPRK doubled-down in the 90s and imposed Songun policy: invest in the military at the expense of people's day to day living standards. Sort of like total war without the war. This kept the neocon regime-changers at bay.

Because the North Koreans have a much stronger sense of nationalism than the Soviets did, the people made do and survived through these tough times.

Now the DPRK is recovering economically and Russia is warming back up to them. Add in their nuclear weapons, massive artillery stockpile, and the fact that their morale is way better than South Korea or USA, and the window for a regime change closed a long time ago.

That won't stop kikes afraid of Kim telling Iranians/Syrians/etc. his nuclear secrets or selling them their weapons.

They are now using antiquated propaganda methods to try and incite Koreans into overthrowing their government. You'd think they'd come up with something new that isn't just flooding the country with fake news. They're apparently out of ideas.

The Telegraph:

North Korean defectors are ramping up a campaign to covertly flood their former homeland with flashdrives and balloons full of news bulletins and documentaries to counter state propaganda as tensions escalate with the US over Pyongyang's nuclear and missiles programmes.

Assisted by the US-based, and privately funded, Human Right Foundation (HSF) their ultimate aim is to bring down the pariah regime from within, by engaging directly with North Koreans, providing illicit information that will influence mindsets and fuel dissatisfaction.

Up to 10,000 flashdrives were successfully smuggled into North Korea as Pyongyang's relations sharply deteriorated over the past year, said Alex Gladstein, HSF's chief strategy officer.

But with traditional military and diplomatic strategies apparently failing to temper the threat of nuclear conflict, activists are now working furiously to reach a target of 100,000 by mid-2018.

Waging this information war was “the only way to inspire change,” argued Mr Gladstein. “So it’s really like a third way, and this is to liberate minds.

We’re creating little windows to the outside world so that the North Korean people can make decisions for themselves about what they want to do with their lives,” he said.

He revealed that the appetite for information within the hermit kingdom had considerably shifted in recent months from popular films such as Titanic, South Korean soap operas and megastar Psy’s music videos more towards news, documentaries and educational material including Wikipedia entries.

The content is chosen by defector focus groups, said Mr Gladstein.

The regime’s visceral reaction towards them, calling them “scum” and “enemy zero” showed how much it feared outside news, he argued.

What’s on the USB drives? Is it just boilerplate fake news about Kim feeding his uncle to dogs like some James Bond villain, or is it more insidious stuff like porn, pop music and Hollywood trash?

The latter would be more effective in causing chaos in their society, as Jews know full well (we were their first guinea pigs).

Many North Korean defectors want to go home, but are prevented from doing so by the South Korean government.

Their main complaint is that South Korea is an atomized bug-man society that—while overall materially wealthier than North Korea—doesn’t outweigh the rootlessness, loneliness, the stress of the rat race and the mental anguish of watching Korean women getting pumped and dumped by Big White Cock!

Kim’s got nothing to worry about.

Italy: Gambian Immigrant Climbs Christmas Tree to Try to Remove Cross!

Whether you care about your ancient cultural symbols or not, the invading hordes do.

And as such, they are actively trying to humiliate your entire civilization by attacking these symbols.

RT:

A Gambian man has been apprehended by Italian police in downtown Milan while climbing up a Christmas tree in a bid to remove a cross at its apex. Following a psychiatric examination, the man was admitted to a secure hospital.

A 21-year-old man from the Gambia was arrested by Italian police as he attempted to climb up the illuminated Christmas tree erected in Milan’s Piazza Duca d’Aosta on Friday, ANSA reported. Confronted by police about his odd behavior, the man had nothing to say other than “the tree is not good” while pointing to the cross, Il Giornale reports.

Police then took him into custody and in due course brought him to the immigration office to be deported. This was where officers found out that the 21-year-old had already been granted permanent resident status under the refugee protection scheme in the province of Brindisi. Since the man had permanent residence in Brindisi, the officers intended to send him back to the province. However, the man began behaving erratically and was sent to a medical ward in a Milanese hospital as a precaution.

The incident came just a few days after the square was turned into a Tunisian marketplace by the Tunisian Tourist Board which rented the downtown square for a weekend. For this occasion, a giant Arabic gate was set up facing the Christmas tree.

Yes, I’m sure that was a coincidence.

Faggot Neighbors Put Up Faggot Banner for Mike Pence

Faggots are not the most creative folks.

They could have at least come up with something better than "Make America Gay Again."

When was it ever gay? Like, in the 90s they mean? Are they even trying to say something with that particular series of words?

Fox News:

It's been said that good fences make good neighbors. But in Aspen, Colo., this week, Vice President Mike Pence has something different posted between his vacation lodging and that of the people next door.

Specifically, it's a rainbow banner reading "Make America Gay Again." It appeared on a stone pillar in front of the house where Pence and his wife are staying this week.

The daughters of the couple across the street and one of their girlfriends reportedly draped the rainbow banner on the pillar while a Pitkin County deputy and Secret Service members stood nearby, the Aspen Times reported. The stone pillar is situated at the end of the driveway between the two homes.

According to the Times, the Secret Service agents were unfazed when the women draped the banner over the pillar, telling them, "We're not here to control your free speech rights."

That's not the answer they wanted, of course.

They wanted some kind of "fascist oppression" scene, while knowing that there wouldn't be any actual real consequences.

But the days of homosexuals advertising anal sex with men to children will soon come to an end...

In 2018, we're letting Pence loose!

Trump Points Out That Freezing People Could Use a Little Bit of Global Warming Magic

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 30, 2017

What the Jews told us was coming:

What we actually got:

Dogs are freezing out there and these warming hoaxsters still want us to believe this isn't a hoax.

Al Gore said by this time we were all supposed to be living under water.

AP:

President Donald Trump says the East Coast "could use a little bit of that good old Global Warming" as bitterly cold temperatures are expected to freeze large swaths of the country this holiday weekend.

Trump wrote on Twitter Thursday, "In the East, it could be the COLD-EST New Year's Eve on record." He added: "Perhaps we could use a little bit of that good old Global Warming that our Country, but not other countries, was going to pay TRILLIONS OF DOLLARS to protect against. Bundle up!"

The president did not acknowledge the difference between the weather and the climate. Weather refers to the atmospheric conditions during a shorter period, while climate is a longer view of weather patterns.

Trump has repeatedly expressed skepticism about climate change science, calling global warming a "hoax" created by the Chinese to damage American industry.

He announced earlier this year his intention to pull out of the landmark Paris climate agreement aimed at curbing greenhouse gas production. The accord set goals for slowing the rate of climate change by reducing the emissions that contribute to melting Arctic ice, increasing sea levels and changing weather patterns across the globe.

One thing that we know is that the climate is always changing.

For the ice age to end, we had to have GLOBAL WARMING and there weren't any cars back then.

The ice core samples show definitively that CO2 increases lag behind warming, which proved that this entire hoax was a hoax. But they still keep pushing it.

It died down for a while, now they are bringing it back to attack Donald Trump with.

Also, with this Paris thing—how does paying China to build coal plants stop this CO2 apocalypse, even if it is real?

The whole thing is nonsensical.

2800 Classified Clinton Emails Relating to Middle East Found on Anthony Weiner's Laptop

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 30, 2017

Okay, so I get that security was played fast and loose on Team Clinton.

But what I don't get is: don't these people have more than one laptop?

Why would this woman be storing classified emails on her estranged pervert husband's sex stream laptop?

RT:

At least five of the 2,800 emails stored on a laptop belonging to former Democratic congressman Anthony Weiner were marked "confidential" and involved delicate talks with Middle Eastern leaders and Hillary Clinton's top aide.

On Friday, the State Department released a batch of around 2,800 work-related documents from the email account of Huma Abedin, who served as the deputy chief of staff to former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton.

At least five of the emails found on Abedin's ex-husband's laptop were heavily redacted and marked classified and at "confidential" level, the third more sensitive class the US government uses below "secret" and "top secret."

The State Department applies the confidential classification level to information that "the unauthorized disclosure of which reasonably could be expected to cause damage to the national security," according to the Government Publishing Office.

While the documents were not marked as classified before they were released, some of the information recovered in the emails was considered classified. It is illegal for civilians to possess or read classified documents without a security clearance.

The confidential emails, which date from 2010 to 2012, concern discussions with Middle Eastern leaders.

One of the emails has the subject "Egyptian MFA on Hamas-PLO talks," referring to the Palestine Liberation Organization. The email is mostly redacted, only mentioning that it is a "further update on Hamas-PA talks," referring to the Palestinian Authority.

Another four-page email contains a completely redacted "call sheet" to prepare Clinton for an upcoming call with Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu.

Unless there is some purely ridiculous answer—like she forgot her laptop and needed to use her Jew husband's and didn't know how to check email without copying thousands of emails to the borrowed laptop—then the only reason I can see that her Jewish husband would have these classified emails on his computer is that he was working for Israel.

The fact that they were emails relating to Palestine and Israel definitely seems to confirm that.

Probably, this will all get buried and nothing will ever come of it.

But if Anthony Weiner is caught in an Israel spy scandal...that would be great.

End of Democracy: Alabama Certifies Roy Moore Election

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 30, 2017

Universal suffrage democracy was the dumbest system imaginable from the start of it.

But finally, we have started beating the Jews at their own game.

So they rigged the game even further than it was already rigged.

GMA:

Alabama's state canvassing board has officially certified the results of the Dec. 12 special election, effectively declaring Democrat Doug Jones the winner.

"As I said on election night, our victory marks a new chapter for our state and the nation," Jones said in a statement after the certification. "I will be an independent voice and work to find common ground with my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to get Washington back on track and fight to make our country a better place for all.”

A staffer for Alabama’s Secretary of State office told members of the media on Thursday that the final, official vote count actually had Jones up 21,924 votes over Moore—more than initially estimated. The margin of victory, according to the office, was 1.63 percent.

The state also set a local special election turnout record: 1,348,720 votes were cast earlier this month, according to Alabama’s Secretary of State’s office.

Moore issued a statement on Thursday claiming “this was a fraudulent election”.

“I’ve had to fight not only the Democrats but also the Republican Senate Leadership Fund and over $50 million in opposition spending from the Washington establishment,” he said in the statement. “I have stood for the truth about God and the Constitution for the people of Alabama.”

Earlier in the day, an Alabama judge dismissed Moore’s last minute lawsuit to delay certification of the Alabama special election results until a “thorough” investigation of “potential election fraud” was conducted.

We need Roy Moore to stay out there saying that this is a hoax.

We need the people to begin to lose faith that democratic elections are even possible at all.

Because really, they aren’t.

There were millions of fake votes in the Presidential election. It just so happened that Trump won so overwhelmingly that it didn’t matter. But we can’t expect that in every election.

I Still Don’t Think Trump is Going to Allow DACA

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 29, 2017

Every time DACA is mentioned, everyone freaks out.

But I seriously doubt Trump will go there.

He can’t get reelected if he does and everyone knows that.

Look at what he is actually saying.

CNN:

President Donald Trump said Friday there will be no deal to protect hundreds of thousands of young undocumented immigrants from deportation without funding to build a wall along the US-Mexico border.

“The Democrats have been told, and fully understand, that there can be no DACA without the desperately needed WALL at the Southern Border and an END to the horrible Chain Migration & ridiculous Lottery System of Immigration etc,” Trump tweeted. “We must protect our Country at all cost!”

Trump’s declaration casts doubt over how Democrats and Republicans will come together to protect Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) participants—of which there are nearly 800,000 who were brought to the United States illegal as children—from deportation because it is unlikely that Democrats will agree to substantial funding for Trump’s border wall in exchange for DACA protections.

He is saying “give me absolutely every single other immigration issue and I’ll give you DACA.”

It’s a demand that he and everyone else knows the Democrats will never meet. If they actually did meet it, then it actually would be worth it—if we could kick out tens of millions of Mexicans, all the H1-Bs, the diversity lottery-winners and just outright ban Moslems, DACA would be a small price to pay.

The thing here is: we need to win in 2018.

This is really, really important.

I don’t know what’s going on with Bannonism at this point. I still believe, very strongly, that it is a valid strategy. I don’t think that Roy Moore’s loss changed anything. But obviously, the media and the GOP has a different response to the Alabama loss.

So we’ll see.

But even if we don’t beat GOP cucks in primaries, we need to continue to vote GOP.

AP:

Academia—like Hollywood, the media and Congress—is facing its own #MeToo movement over allegations of sexual misconduct. Brett Sokolow, who heads an association of sexual harassment investigators on campuses, estimates that the number of reported complaints has risen by about 10 percent since the accusations against Hollywood mogul Harvey Weinstein surfaced in early October, spurring more women to speak out against harassment in various fields. The increase is mostly from women complaining of harassment by faculty members who are their superiors.

But the Trump administration has viewed the issue of sexual harassment on campus in a different light. Education Secretary Betsy DeVos has scrapped Obama-era regulations on investigating sexual assault, arguing that they were skewed in favor of the accuser. New instructions allow universities to require higher standards of evidence when handling such complaints.

DeVos' move was a response to Mattress Girl's hoax and the abhorrent crucifixion of the partier Brock Turner.

It had nothing to do with Jewish professors harassing shiksa students.

But if the media wants to frame their fight against J-left university professors as a fight against Donald Trump...far be it from me to interrupt my enemy in the middle of a mistake.

A forthcoming study of nearly 300 such cases in the Utah Law Review found that one in 10 female graduate students at major research universities reports being sexually harassed by a faculty member. And in more than half of those cases, the alleged perpetrator is a repeat offender, according to the study.

"Often schools might turn a blind eye toward sexual harassment that they know about or have heard about because a professor is bringing in a big grant or is adding to the stature of the university," said Neena Chaudhry, senior counsel at the National Women's Law Center.

The Education Department did not respond to a request for comment.

Activists say young women pursuing graduate studies are especially vulnerable to sexual misconduct because they depend heavily on their academic adviser to complete their degrees, pursue research in their field of study and get recommendations for future jobs. Reporting misconduct could endanger an academic career. And besides damaging the women's mental health and well-being, sexual harassment can chase some of them out of academia altogether.

Yes.

Women again expecting men to do them favors for free, then being outraged when the men they are trying to exploit ask something of them.

"Often professors who are advising graduate students are the students' gateway to their degree attainment and their career prospects," said Anne Hedgepeth with the American Association of University Women. "That's an immense amount of power that professors hold. It's also an immense amount of risk that students take when coming forward when future prospects are on the line."

...

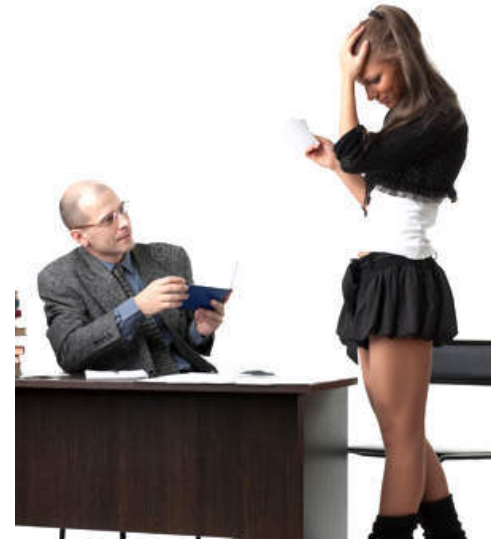

As universities face pressure to rethink their sexual misconduct policies, activists suggest various possible remedies: spelling out what interaction is appropriate between faculty and students; more transparency in reporting and investigating complaints; more women in senior leadership positions in academia; and making a student's career less dependent on just one professor.

"There is really no excuse for not addressing this," Chaudhry at the National Women's Law Center said.

Okay, ladies....

Apple Apologizes for Slow-Down Conspiracy, Offers Discounted Batteries

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 29, 2017

Apple's slowdown of older phones is a conspiracy against the customer.

They are saying that they did it because it saved battery life, as older phones struggle to keep up with the energy needed. Yet there would be absolutely no reason not to have been upfront about that when they made the decision if that were actually true. They could have given people options. They also could have issued differing software updates for the phones, designed to mitigate battery life issues.

And here's the kicker: if the battery actually was a problem, than that would be reason enough for people to replace their phones. People regularly buy new phones because the battery won't hold a charge—most people do not even know you can replace a battery. The fact that they slowed the phones in order to bully people into buying newer models indicates that the battery wasn't really a problem.

Instead of doing something meaningful to apologize for this massive scandal, they are giving people a battery discount.

ABC News:

Apple has apologised for deliberately slowing down its devices as they age, and has announced plans for how it wants to make it up to consumers.

In a statement issued this morning, Apple said it had faced some backlash after revealing that it slowed the processors in older iPhone models—including the iPhone 7, 6, 6s and SE—when their batteries began to wear out, and acknowledged that many customers felt “let down”.

“We’ve been hearing feedback from our customers about the way we handle performance for iPhones with older batteries and how we have communicated that process,” it said.

Starting in January next year, Apple said it would make it cheaper to replace iPhone batteries, and attempt to be more transparent.

It said it would drop the price of an out-of-warranty iPhone battery replacement from $US79 to $US29 in the United States.

Of course, the fact of this particular matter is that the affirmative action CEO of Apple, Tim Cook, has failed the company and so must resort to dirty trickery to keep profits coming in.

His business plan is literally “WE’LL JUST SELL INFINITY PHONES LOL.”

Most people that have the iPhone 6 or later will not be interested in a new phone until their current one breaks. So he decided to break them for people.

I am genuinely surprised that the outrage is not greater than it is. This was an extreme betrayal by a company that presents itself as being ethical.

Eric Garner's Fatass Daughter Braindead After McDougle Heart Attack

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 28, 2017

I want to personally thank McDougle's for getting rid of this stupid bitch.

Eric Garner was a fat slob who it was claimed racist cops murdered because they hate niggers.

He was choked out in a famous 2014 video after resisting arrest, then just died.

Video Link

This is where the “I can’t breathe” slogan came from, as he allegedly said that. Though it was never explained how not breathing for 15 seconds would cause a person to up and die on the spot.

The argument of white people was always that the sonovabitch was a fat slob and only died all of the sudden like that due to being so unhealthy. The New York Medical Examiner even said that he died of poor health.

Normal people do not die from 15 seconds of light choking. Even little babies in a swimming pool can hold their breath for five times that long.

“I can’t breathe” —he couldn’t breathe walking up a flight of stairs!

Now his own fat slob of a nigger daughter is braindead from double heart attacks.

What does that tell you?

NY Daily News:

Doctors have listed the daughter of police choke-hold victim Eric Garner as brain dead with no chance of recovery—five days after the mother of two suffered a massive heart attack, the Daily News has learned.

Family members rushed to Woodhull Hospital Thursday to say final goodbyes to Erica Garner, who became an outspoken critic of police brutality after her father’s death in 2013.

2014, actually.

But that’s cool.

I’m used to being a better fact-checker than the mainstream media, let me tell you.

The 27-year-old firebrand remained on life support Thursday morning, her mother Esaw Snipes said.

HAHAHAHA

Who has double heart attacks at 27???

She needs a shirt that says "I can't pump blood to my brain."

Black people. That's who.

"She's not gone, she's brain dead," Garner's heartbroken mother explained. "Physically she is still with us."

The Rev. Al Sharpton also stopped by the hospital to pray with the family.

"We're here with the family every day," Sharpton said. "(Erica) was a warrior. She was a real activist, she was always involved. From three years ago, she never stopped. She was always at rallies, she was always calling me— "Reverend, we'll do this. Reverend, we'll do that. We'll do it your way, then I'm gonna do it different than you."

"It's just sad to see her laying there and not the active Erica that we know," he said.

So besides once again proving what we already knew—that the fat slob Eric Garner was about to fall over dead already when he died from a routine choke-out—this reminds me of another issue.

Namely, this, friends: blacks are an incredible WEIGHT on the American healthcare system.

Fat black people do not even feel bad about being fat. They think it is beautiful. They have done that since long before there was an anti "fat shaming" movement given to us by the rat kikes.

Black women are fat as hell.

By far the fattest race, with 56% of them being OBESE, black women are also the most likely to believe themselves "beautiful."

Black Women Are More Confident Than Any Other Group of Females: Survey

BY SHAUN DREIBACH
AUGUST 2, 2017 9:56 AM

Glamour teamed up with L'Oréal Paris to conduct a survey of 2,000 women in all 50 states that takes an in-depth look at the factors that buoy and undermine our confidence. Our 50 States of Women series breaks down some of the surprising findings and explores the issues that connect and divide us in 2017.

So they are not even a little bit concerned.

Furthermore, these people are on drugs and they shoot and stab each other constantly.

They are a very, very serious drain on the medical system.

And get this—they don't make any money.

They get all their healthcare free.

Then they have the actual nerve to complain to US about problems in their lives—including accusing cops of killing them when in actual fact they died of obesity.

Ta-Nehisi Coates is as ungrateful as they come.

We need to send them back.

This situation is out of control.

Judge Roy Moore Files Election Complaint, Claiming Fraud

Andrew Anglin

Daily Stormer

December 28, 2017

Video Link

There is zero chance that there wasn't fraud.

Hopefully, we can keep this in the public view and end up undermining the entire concept of "democracy."

If this sticks, no one is going to believe in another election again. And that is a great place to be. If the option of voting for change is seen by the general public as having been taken away, you're gonna see some serious shit.

Fox News:

Roy Moore filed an election complaint late Wednesday, claiming voter fraud altered the outcome of Alabama's Senate race, paving the way for Democrat Doug Jones' victory.

The Moore campaign said in a statement that the purpose of the complaint is to delay the certification of the election results until “a thorough investigation of potential election fraud, that improperly altered the outcome of this election, is conducted.”

The request came just a day before the State Canvassing Board is scheduled to meet and certify the results of the election.

“This is not a Republican or Democrat issue as election integrity should matter to everyone,” Moore said. “We call on Secretary of State Merrill to delay certification until there is a thorough investigation of what three independent election experts agree took place: election fraud sufficient to overturn the outcome of the election.”

The statement cites three Election Integrity experts saying that “with a reasonable degree of statistical and mathematical certainty...election fraud occurred” and noted the irregularities in 20 precincts alone could reverse the results of the election.

According to the results from earlier this month, the Republican candidate lost the election to Jones by a margin of 21,000 votes. Jones became the first Democrat in over two decades to win a U.S. Senate seat in Alabama, the deep-red state that Trump carried by about 28 points during the 2016 presidential election.

The election complaint also includes an affidavit from Moore saying that he underwent a polygraph test and confirmed that the allegations of sexual misconduct with underage girls are “completely false.”

Of course they were false charges.

But Moore’s response was horrible.

Anyway: the bottom line of all of this is that if this election can be used to undermine the entire institution of “democracy,” it was well worth taking a loss.

Shocking: Nig Nog Who Dindu Nuffin Gets His Ass Kicked by the Police

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer

December 28, 2017

Is that before or after he got beat up? I can't tell.

It’s been a while since we had some good Jew-run nigger riots. It seemed like Soros and company decided to lay low on the agitation of their colored golem after Trump was elected, fearing the response might be a lot more “muscular” than they’ve come to expect from the ZOG government.

However, this time, the outrage appears to be organic in nature, with the event going viral on Facebook instead of being artificially pushed by the media. So we might be looking at an episode of Black anger that isn’t actually planned by Jews and the media, and which could actually be inconvenient to them.

Unfortunately, it’s winter. Terrible timing for a chimpout. Blacks are not known to burn a bitch down unless the temperature is over 75 degrees, mimicking their natural jungle habitat. Unfortunately that this opportunity arose while the negroes are still in their hibernation period...

Experts believe they only leave their den to acquire necessities, such as 40's, weed and KFC. And they sure don't like it.

Daily Mail:

The mother of a 17-year-old teenager is demanding answers from Alabama police who allegedly beat her son to an unrecognizable pulp when he ran from officers during a random stop.

Running away from cops?

What could possibly go wrong?

Hey, it could have turned into a hilarious slapstick comedy. In theory.

Angela Williams shared horrific photos of her son, Ulysses Wilkerson, whose face was left swollen and bloodied after an encounter with Troy police Saturday night.

He should thank these cops. I think he looks significantly better now than he did before.

“Troy police officers did this to my son While he was in handcuffs,” Williams wrote in a now-viral Facebook post.

That’s obviously not true. They beat him up in order to put him in handcuffs. But Blacks don’t have any conception of time and causality, so when the mother saw her son in handcuffs, she couldn’t imagine any other scenario than the police cuffing him and then beating him up.

Williams said that her son has a fracture and was transported to UAB Hospital in Birmingham for surgery, but he was released because of the extensive swelling.

The incident unfolded Saturday night when officers saw Ulysses walking behind a closed business in downtown Troy, according to BuzzFeed.

Officers then exited their vehicle and approached Ulysses, who fled on foot. Authorities chased the teen down and a struggle ensued.

The Alabama State Bureau of Investigation is now investigating the incident.

So, the police saw some suspicious guy doing something behind a closed business. They walked to him to ask him what he was doing. Instead of talking to them, he fled, and then resisted arrest, so they had to restrain him violently in order to arrest him.

So either this nig nog was up to no good, dealing drugs or whatever, or he was just astoundingly stupid. One way or another, there’s nothing to this story—except the organic viral spread of the story. Almost 80 thousand people have shared the original Facebook post as of the time of writing, showing that anything could trigger Black outrage right now.

The mother of all bitches could be about to be burned down.

I have a feeling the summer of 2018 is going to be very interesting.

Negro Congresswoman Who Stole White Woman's Seat Complains of Racism

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
December 28, 2017

African royalty Sheila Jackson Lee demanded the first class seat a white woman paid for and United Airlines obliged.

You see, in this here land of post-Rosa Parks “progress,” entitled and corrupt niggers send whitey to the back of the bus!

Somehow, in this abusive exercise of power, Texas Democratic Representative Lee feels she is the aggrieved party. Complaining that a black stole a seat you paid extra for is racist.

According to Lee, she needed the first class seat she didn't reserve because she had important legislative work to do. Yeah, I'm sure. The flight from Houston to DC only takes 3 hours, but you know how hard Congress works to “help people”!

New York Post:

Rep. Sheila Jackson Lee, who was accused by a United Airlines passenger of bumping her from a first-class seat, said in a Twitter screed on Tuesday that she believes the incident is all about race.

“Since this was not any fault of mine, the way the individual continued to act appeared to be, upon reflection, because I was an African American woman, seemingly an easy target along with the African American flight attendant who was very, very nice,” the Texas Democrat wrote in a post. “This saddens me, especially at this time of year given all of the things we have to work on to help people.”

“But in the spirit of this season and out of the sincerity of my heart, if it is perceived that I had anything to do with this, I am kind enough to simply say sorry,” Jackson Lee continued. “But as an African American, I know there are too many examples like this all over the nation.”

Jean-Marie Simon, 63, said she was tossed out of her first-class seat on a Houston-to-Washington, DC, flight Dec. 18 to make way for Jackson Lee.

The teacher from Washington, DC, said in a Facebook post two days later that she saw a uniformed United employee pull Jackson Lee from the priority boarding line and escort her to a first-class seat before any other passengers got on the plane.

When Simon went to board with her first-class ticket, an agent said it wasn't in the system. Another United attendant told her that united.com had changed her reservation an hour earlier and upgraded another passenger to her seat.

Simon later learned the congresswoman ended up in her seat.

But Jackson Lee, in her tweets, said she did “nothing wrong.”

In other words: “sorry, not sorry.”

This is how identity politics is meant to be used: to shield incompetent and abusive middle managers Jews appoint to rule us from criticism. Hillary Clinton utilized the “sexist” trope in a similar fashion.

A scumbag politician uses their power over one of the little people but because the former is black, she gets to pretend to be the victim.

So go to the back of the bus whitey. This ain't your country anymore.

Chinese in New York Wake Up to a Gigantic Cock Thanks to Swedish Feminist

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 27, 2017

Well.

Here's America for you.

This is your country. Or it was supposed to be.

New York Post:

A towering painting depicting a shockingly life-like penis went up on the side of 303 Broome Street on Christmas Eve.

Swedish street artist Carolina Falkholt stood up and took credit on Instagram for the veiny behemoth—which lacks testicles but no doubt took cajones to paint—and said it's really getting a rise out of folks.

“NO TIME 4 BALL$$. . . I have never heard so much laughter and seen so many happy faces behind my back when painting as for today doing this wall on Broome Street,” the cocky artist wrote alongside a photo of the four-story masterpiece.

The depiction was a flop to some.

"Its ugly," said neighbor Qun Chen, 47, whose third-story apartment next door overlooks the painted pride. "There's a lot of kids that live in this building and in the neighborhood—it's not good for the kids, they're little."

This is Carolina Falkholt:

She usually does gigantic vaginas.

And a dick with no balls definitely fits into the feminist theme.

This is one of many, many reasons that most young men believe that women deserve to be locked in cages and fed only lean salads.

There has been some debate about when and why the whores should be let out of the cages.

My view on this is simple: the bitch's owner has to be aware and attending the bomb collar detonator.

She should also be dressed as a cat, so she remembers her place.

A pet. Nothing more.

Orders for iPhone X Cut Due to Low Sales and Lack of Demand

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 27, 2017

So far, I have only seen one iPhone X in public. And I was looking.

The one person I saw was a woman, who clearly had it as a status symbol, not as a piece of useful technology designed to increase efficiency.

I have an iPhone 6 that I dropped and I decided to just have it fixed rather than buying a new one after seeing that there are no new features of any value at all on either the iPhone 8 or the iPhone X. And I'm a person that has an excuse to buy electronics, given that I work all of the time on them. If I thought a $1000 phone would increase my productivity and thus increase the quality of the Daily Stormer, I would buy it. But I am in no way interested in status symbols or gimmicks.

Apparently, my own experiences represent those of the larger masses: people are not buying these phones.

Bloomberg:

Apple Inc. looks like it's having a not-so Merry Christmas.

Analysts have lowered iPhone X shipment projections for the first quarter of next year, citing signs of lackluster demand at the end of the holiday shopping season.

Sinolink Securities Co. analyst Zhang Bin said in a report Monday that handset shipments in the period may be as low as 35 million, or 10 million less than he previously estimated. "After the first wave of demand has been fulfilled, the market now worries that the high price of the iPhone X may weaken demand in the first quarter," Zhang wrote.

It isn't just the price.

Not many are buying the 8 either, even though it is the regular price (though its sales are higher than that of the X). People who were buying phones every year were doing it because the phones were steadily increasing in their functionality, which helped people with their lives.

Now that has peaked. There is no more added functionality. Even if the removal of the button on the X didn't lower functionality (many reviewers and users have claimed that it did), it certainly didn't increase it. Speed and screen resolution improvements are not enough to be relevant.

JL Warren Capital LLC said shipments will drop to 25 million units in the first quarter of 2018 from 30 million units in the fourth quarter, citing reduced orders at some Apple suppliers. The drop reflects "weak demand because of the iPhone X's high price point and a lack of interesting innovations," the New York-based research firm said in note to clients Friday.

"Bad news here is that highly publicized and promoted X did not boost the global demand for iPhone X," according to the note.

Apple has been counting on a re-designed 10th anniversary iPhone to boost shipments as its market value advances toward $1 trillion. The Cupertino, California-based company is facing new challenges from Samsung Electronics Co., which is quickly recovering from the Galaxy Note 7's recall after fires. In the meantime, Chinese brands such as Huawei, Oppo and Xiaomi are also luring away potential customers in China and other emerging markets such as India.

There is currently no perceivable difference in performance between one of those mentioned cheap Chinese Androids and an iPhone X.

I will continue to use Apple because it is more secure, but that isn't an issue for most people.

Apple is said to have trimmed its first-quarter sales forecast to 30 million units from 50 million, Taiwanese newspaper Economic Daily News reported, citing unidentified supply chain officials. It also said Hon Hai Precision Industry Co.'s main iPhone X manufacturing hub in Zhengzhou, China, stopped recruiting workers. The company also known as Foxconn is the sole iPhone X assembler, and also makes the handsets in Shenzhen and Chengdu.

That is a massive change in the forecast.

The stock is going to collapse, I can guarantee it.

Apple will continue to exist, continue to make very high quality electronics, but they are no longer a futuristic technology company.

Their affirmative action homosexual CEO killed that.

Apple failed to introduce a timely competitor to the Amazon Alexa and got blown out. They failed to do that because they were too busy working on an overpriced super-gimmick phone with no button.

This is the cost of affirmative action.

Instead of hiring the best person, they hired a person who sucks dick, because the best person would have been a heterosexual white male and a progressive company like Apple isn't allowed to hire such persons.

The future of technology is going to be Korean, because they are willing to hire not only their own heterosexual males but also competent heterosexual white males.

It is very sad to see a once-great American company go down like this.

Jewish Media Shrieks After Melania Orders Dying Hate-Tree Torn Down

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 27, 2017

The top post-Christmas story is a White House tree being torn down on the order of Melania Trump.

The Jewish media is raging over this. It is at the top of every news site, and it is at least implied that it is some kind of an outrage that an old tree would be torn down.

Melania has said that the tree is sick, based on the report of experts, which I have no reason to doubt. I assume the kike media is just doing what they always do and looking for any single reason to attack the Trump family.

Interestingly, this is a tree of hate, put up by the Ultimo-Hater Andrew Jackson.

Fox News:

A portion of a historic Magnolia tree planted by President Andrew Jackson centuries ago will be removed due to a safety risk, the White House announced Tuesday.

Stephanie Grisham, a spokeswoman for Melania Trump, said the first lady came to the decision after reviewing reports from the U.S. National Arboretum about the tree's weakened condition.

"She trusted that every effort had been made to preserve the historic tree," Grisham said in a statement to Fox News, adding, the first lady "was concerned about the safety of visitors and members of the press who are often standing right in front of the tree during Marine One lifts."

Jackson added the Magnolia to the White House grounds in 1835, according to the White House Historical Association. It stands on the west side of the South Portico, opposite a second Magnolia that subsequently was planted for symmetry.

Andrew Jackson has recently been attacked as a hater by the evil Jews because Steve Bannon envisioned Trump as a New Jackson. Trump liked this and hung a portrait of Jackson in the Oval Office.

Andrew Jackson was called 'Indian killer.' Trump honored Navajos in front of his portrait.

By Eli Rosenberg

President Trump presented his nickname for Sen. Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.) on Nov. 27, calling her "Pocahontas" at an event for Native Americans (code: Salvo).

The evil Jews have also announced that they are removing Jackson from the $20 bill and replacing him with a random nigger female.

Theoretically, the Jews should be happy this hate tree is being removed. Obama could have removed this tree and the media would have celebrated it as "fighting racism and displacing old white men."

But Melania gets attacked as a tree-killer.

Kentucky: Man Charged with Harboring a Vicious Animal After Murderous Pit Bull Attack

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 27, 2017

I recently wrote an essay endorsing the genocide of the pit bull race of dogs.

Now we have a man being charged with "harboring a vicious animal" after a festive Christmas Eve murder-mauling by his evil dog.

Fox News:

A Kentucky man has been accused of harboring a vicious animal after a Christmas Eve pit bull attack in which a woman was killed and her husband injured.

Bell County deputies determined after an investigation that the two pit bulls who "savagely attacked" Lorrane Saylor, 66, and her husband in Arjay Sunday morning belonged to their neighbor, Johnny Dale Lankford, 42.

Johnny Saylor managed to shoot the dogs afterward, killing one of them. The second dog, which was shot in the chest, ran off and wasn't found until Monday afternoon, when deputies were notified that the dog had returned home. Deputies and an animal control officer put down the dog.

These dogs can take a bullet in the chest and stay on the run for a day.

Imagine that.

Lankford was told of the charge at the Bell County jail, where he is being held on separate charges of assault, domestic violence, unlawful imprisonment and an outstanding warrant. Those charges were brought in connection with an arrest Friday.

Records show Lankford was still locked up Tuesday in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Saylor died after suffering massive injuries to her neck, face and shoulder in the attack, WYMT-TV reported.

Johnny Saylor was attacked when he stepped outside to look for his wife.

"They had my brother halfway out the door, chewing on his arm," James Saylor told the station.

He said he distracted the dogs long enough for his brother to run back inside and grab a gun.

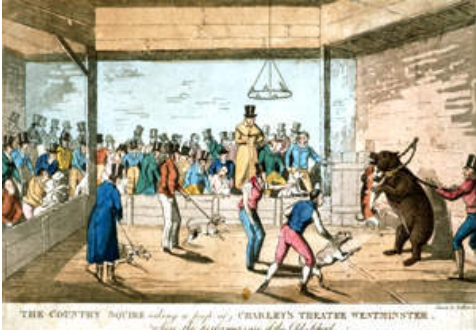

Deputies said the Johnny Saylor shot the dogs with a .22 caliber pistol.

He was bitten on his head, arm and hand.

So, does this guy deserve these charges?

I'm not sure.

Everyone knows that these dogs are vicious and can attack humans at any moment. Because they were bred specifically for bear-baiting, a popular sport in Shakespearean England.

After bear-baiting was banned, they were used to fight each other in the popular sport of dog-fighting.

I assume that everyone who purchases one of these dogs knows that it is an inherently violent dog, indeed it is the nigger of dogs.

HOWEVER.

That having been said, I know a lot of people who own pit bulls and believe the standard lies about the nature of this evil dog-race. They believe “oh well, yes, they are often violent, but if you just love them, they won’t be.” Which is of course a coal-burner argument. But it is still the mainstream argument.

And coal-burners are not charged when their pets kill people. Maybe they should be.

So I’m torn as to whether or not this man deserves to be charged because his nigger-dogs killed someone.

I think this is ultimately the government’s job to regulate these animals, and it is shocking that they do not do that.

NB4 THIS IS ANALOGOUS TO GUN CONTROL

To kill someone with a gun you have to use it. Blaming guns for gun-crime is not a comparison here. This man did not tell the dog to kill this woman. In fact, there are many different dogs that will kill someone if you tell them to kill someone but that will not ever kill someone randomly.

Any of the dogs that are bred to be guard dogs are capable of killing someone if its master sics it on someone.

A doberman is twice the size of a pit bull and is capable of ripping someone’s throat out with just as much ease. So if someone owns a doberman and tells it to kill someone, that is the same as shooting someone.

Owning a pit bull is like owning a gun that is designed to float out of your house and shoot your neighbors randomly.

And this situation is like if the government allowed you to buy guns that are designed to float out and shoot people at random, while there was an entire industry claiming that guns that are designed to float out of your house and shoot people at random are not really dangerous.

So: you tell me.

Sad: New Jersey Town Bullied Into Rescinding Anti-Jew Ordinances

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
December 27, 2017
Video Link

Can you imagine being forced to live with Jews against your better judgement? I guess you can.

The town of Mahwah, New Jersey, was the last bastion of the proud Aryan man against the Jewish parasite. The last city in America with the courage and integrity to keep anti-Jew ordinances on the books.

But that citadel of White power has fallen to subversive hand of Jewish lawyers, forcing the city council to back down under the threat of lawsuits.

This is the story of that tragic end.

Jewish Daily Forward:

A New Jersey town accused of passing laws meant to keep Hasidic Jews from living there has rescinded two controversial ordinances accused of targeting observant Jews, JTA reported.

Don't celebrate too soon, Jews...

Mahwah, New Jersey, was sued by the state’s Attorney General in October for passing discriminatory ordinances to prevent the “infiltration” of Hasidic Jews into the township. On December 17, the council voted to rescind an ordinance which limited the use of the town’s public parks to New Jersey residents, as well as another ordinance which prohibits door-to-door solicitation. (Mahwah residents have complained that Hasidic Jews are offering to buy their houses for cash. The chief of police says he has received one complaint this year of unwanted solicitation.) The attorney general’s lawsuit argued that both laws were meant to discriminate against Hasidic Jews.

So, the “anti-Jewish” laws were just laws to prevent harassment and abuse of the parks by non-residents.

Why is it that those things “discriminate” against Jews?

Could it be that Jews are serial harassers and park abusers?

We know that ficus plants are a target of Jewish abuse, at the very least.

The township of 25,000 also faces another suit from the administrators of an eruv system used by Hasidic Jews in neighboring Rockland County, New York. An eruv is a ritual fence made of string, used by Orthodox Jews to denote where they can carry objects and push strollers on the Sabbath. In June, Mahwah's council amended the township's signage laws to prohibit the establishment of an eruv in the township.

These sick freaks demand the right to cover the entire city is stupid wires, and will sue anyone who prevents them from doing so.

Anyone who's watched anime can tell you having a bunch of wires around is dangerous.

The council has denied any wrongdoing in passing the laws. A town attorney urged the rescinding of the laws as a "strategic move." Council members were instructed not to comment on the changes.

Yes. There is absolutely nothing wrong with keeping Jews out of your town.

The Anti-Defamation League praised the council's actions. The ADL's New Jersey regional director, Joshua Cohen, said the move shows that "all faiths in New Jersey are protected against intolerance, exclusion and discrimination."

Legal experts say that rescinding the ordinances may be a prelude to settling the state's lawsuit. Mahwah's mayor, Bill Laforet, told the Forward in October that he estimated the cost of fighting both suits could exceed $10 million.

In other words, they had no choice but to fold or face bankruptcy at the hands of dirty Jewish legal activists out to ruin them.

No goyim will be left un-Jewed.

These Hasidic Jews will just move into a town and start buying up all the houses and making life hell for everyone else until they have complete control, stealing everyone's resources as they do so. And if anyone dares to resist this, they'll get the ADL and the Simon Wiesenthal Center on their case.

And Jews wonder why everyone hates them?

We weren't kidding when we said that the national anthem protests by Negro players had ruined the NFL's brand. These empty seats are proof of it.

The owner of the Baltimore Ravens admitted so in a recent letter he wrote to season ticket holders.

ABC News:

The Baltimore Ravens sent a letter this week to season-ticket holders, suite holders and sponsors about the number of no-shows at M&T Bank Stadium this season, citing a protest during the national anthem as one potential reason.

The letter, which was signed by team president Dick Cass, mentions that there have been empty seats in the past when the Ravens have struggled on the field. But this year is different, with Baltimore in the midst of a playoff race.

"The numbers [of no-shows] are higher, and it is noticeable," Cass wrote in the 656-word letter. "There are a number of reasons for the no-shows, but surely the one-time protest in London has been a factor."

The Chicago Bears also reported that they had 17,000 unused tickets. Undoubtedly, there were similar stories throughout the league just based on the stadium visuals.

Wrestling promoter Vince McMahon is even considering bringing back the XFL or some variation of it. Considering how much of a failure the XFL was, it is doubtful McMahon would be thinking about doing this if it wasn't for the NFL's problems.

Video Link

The XFL was a fairly crazy thing though. One of the things I remembered about it was that nigger running back who used the phrase "He Hate Me" on his uniform.

Video Link

We can surely expect more empty seats for the final week of the regular season. White Americans have tuned out of these circuses in large numbers. You can't expect to disrespect the core fan base of your product and think good things will come of it. But who knows, maybe the NFL can reverse the trend by giving billions of dollars to the United Negro College Fund or something. I'm sure that will bring the people back!

Minnesota: Cops Remove Candlelit Vigil for White Woman Murdered by Somalian Cop

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 26, 2017

UPDATE:

Apparently, the local Minnesota paper wrongfully credited Antifa with the removal of Justine's memorial.

The police are claiming that they removed the "hate shrine."

BBC:

Speaking to Minnesota Public Radio, police department spokesman John Elder said the memorial was removed when police were notified about its presence.

"We cannot allow any memorial and anything like that to be put up at that location," he said.

Minneapolis Mayor-elect Jacob Frey condemned the creation of the memorial, saying: "Identity Evropa and those who share their values have no place in our city. Hate has no place in Minneapolis. Period."

Which makes it even more bizarre that the City Pages Jews were celebrating the destruction of the memorial as having been done by Antifa.

Also: imagine the idea that you can't tell if some action is being committed by the ultimo-rebels with a cause of Antifa or the cops that they claim to oppose?

All things being equal, would not being given credit for something that the cops did be the ultimate shame on Antifa?

But no—when it comes to exterminating whites, Antifa is fully in agreement with the state.

Original article follows.

I hate the annoying "what if the races were reversed" meme, but here, I gotta do it.

What if a black woman was killed by a white cop and Black Lives Matter set up a candlelit memorial for the victim and it was destroyed by a group of right-wing activists?

And then the local newspaper wrote an article gloating about the destruction of the memorial, mocking the dead and the people who were trying to remember her?

City Pages:

White nationalists aren't known for their concern over police shootings, tending to side with the ye olde "If you don't get in trouble, you'll never have to worry about getting shot" crowd.

But the Justine Damond case is different. Namely: The victim was a 40-year-old white Minneapolisian shot after calling 911 about a possible assault in her alley. And the perpetrator, officer Mohamed Noor, is a Somali immigrant, a detail surely reeking of nefarious motive.

Though the shooting occurred in July, a decision has yet to be made on whether to prosecute Noor. There's ample reason for the delay: Two of the three witnesses won't talk. Though Noor's partner Matthew Harrity has been interviewed by detectives, Damond can't speak from the grave, and Noor refuses to answer questions.

Hennepin County Attorney Mike Freeman was caught on tape two weeks ago blaming Bureau of Criminal Apprehension detectives for the delay. "And let me just say, it's not my fault," Freeman told activists who questioned him about the case. "So, if it isn't my fault, who didn't do their jobs? It's called investigators. They don't work for me. And they haven't done their job."

Freeman later backpedaled. But that hasn't stopped people both left and right from wondering what's happening with the case.

That includes the sensitive metro-sexuals of Identity Evropa, a white nationalist group that celebrates people of European origin, while being assured that everyone else pretty much sucks.

On Friday, they created a shrine to Damond outside the Minneapolis Police Department's 5th Precinct, replete with candles and two-dozen roses, to protest "her Somali-born killer—whom a judge recently decided not to charge."

...

Either way, the shrine was trashed within a day, reportedly by Antifa. People just don't respect white supremacist shrines like they used to.

They can spin this however they want.

One family will be having an incomplete Christmas this year.

On Friday, Identity Evropa activists created a shrine for Justine Damond at the 5th Precinct in Minneapolis, MN,

— IDENTITY EVROPA (@IdentityEvropa) December 23, 2017

But what you have here—what everyone can see here—is Antifa saying that it is good that black cops killed an innocent white woman, that they piss on her grave and do not believe that anyone has a right to honor her memory.

The idea of claiming that a person's life and death becomes meaningless if someone whose political views you don't like decides to honor that person is deranged, and I do not believe that it represents any normal person's views.

This gloating article written by a Mr. Pete Kotz (pkotz@citypages.com) mocking the attempt of a group of people to honor a woman who died tragically and then celebrating a desecration of a memorial to the dead is the epitome of "Jews going too hard too fast."

Yes, there will be a day when you can murder white people with impunity, then mock their deaths, then desecrate their graves. But we're not quite there yet, Jews. So to most people, this article is going to come across as offensive and shocking.

Jeff Flake Says Trump Going to Face a Primary Challenger in 2020

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 26, 2017

The anti-American traitor Jeff Flake—known by colleagues as "Frosted Flake"—has issued a dire threat to the President.

Fox News:

Trump critic and Republican Sen. Jeff Flake suggested Sunday that the president's words and actions have left him open to a primary challenge if he seeks reelection.

"If he continues on the path that he's on, that is going to leave a huge swath of voters looking for someone else," Flake, who is not seeking reelection in 2018, told ABC News' "This Week." He's probably inviting a Republican challenge."

Flake also said Trump's continued path could result in a "diminished base" and "a huge swath of voters in the middle that may be looking for something else" —including a "far left" president like Vermont Sen. Bernie Sanders, an Independent, or Massachusetts Democratic Sen. Elizabeth Warren.

The first-term senator has been perhaps the most outspoken congressional Republican against Trump.

Flake has made clear that he didn't vote for Trump in 2016. And, he has openly criticized the president on several matters over roughly the past 18 months, including Trump's travel ban affecting mostly Muslim countries—and more recently the president's support for Republican Roy Moore, who recently lost the special Senate election in Alabama amid accusations of sexual misconduct decades ago.

Flake, whose opposition to Trump in conservative-leaning Arizona hurt any reelection chances, also said Sunday that Trump "certainly" will face a challenge from an independent candidate, which has happened to every president in recent history.

What he is talking about is undermining the government in order to flood the country with Moslem terrorists as part of an anti-American conspiracy to destroy the social fabric, loot the place and kill white people.

That is what they are all doing when they say "we're going to stop you from stopping these Moslems."

Because we know what Moslems do.

The idea that there are any GOP voters who agree that America should be buried in ISIS refugees is nonsensical. The only reason that pro-Islamic invasionist congress people exist in the GOP is that people have no other options to vote for.

The reason that some in the GOP are upset with Trump is that he can't get anything done because people like Frosted Flake are cockblocking him at every turn.

Illinois: Shit-Tier Street-Shitter Running for Congress

Well, why shouldn't we just let greasy, evil aliens take over our entire government?

What right do we even have to have our own government, given that white people do not exist?

After all, this greasy, stinking animal is a true conservative that represents true American Constitution values—just like Nimrata "Suck Your Knob Off" Randhawa.

News India:

When one clicks on Dr. Sapan Shah's campaign website for his Republican primary race for the U.S. Congress from the 10th District of Illinois, you see a wonderful video of a family celebrating Christmas. Dr. Shah and his wife, Rachna, greet parents, relatives and friends, exchange gifts, remember his childhood, his graduation from medical school and law school, all in the backdrop of a beautiful Christmas tree and a table laden with choice dishes. That approximately one minute video reveals much about the man who promises "to bring real world experience and common sense to Washington, D.C." —that he is proud of his Indian heritage, his qualifications and accomplishments, and has weathered some mishaps, like the flooding of his house twice over the years.

The Republican primary is scheduled for March 20, and Shah will be competing against two other Republicans who have announced their candidacy so far and are vying for the party's endorsement. They are Highland Park activist and lawyer Jeremy Wynes who declared in May. Wynes has also worked for the powerful American Israel Public Affairs Committee, AIPAC, and is responsible for launching the Chicago office of the Republican Jewish Coalition. The other candidate is Doug Bennett, a computer consultant and vice chair of West Deerfield Township Republicans.

The District 10 seat is currently held by Democrat Brad Schneider, and were Shah to win in the primary, he may have a challenge defeating the three-term incumbent who is unopposed for the Democratic primary.

Crain's Chicago Business describes Dr. Shah as the "Number 1" candidate of the three Republicans vying for party support, in what is considered an expensive race for Congress. "Many insiders believe unseating him (Brad Schneider) now is a real long shot, given how 2018 is shaping up. But political predictions are risky nowadays," Crain's said. The same report said that as of early November, Dr. Shah has retained Core Strategy Group and local consultant Scott McPherson for his campaign, and that he had raised $310,000 till then, including $100,000 of his own money. That is the highest amount of the three candidates. Wynes had raised $260,000, and Bennett $125,000 by that date, Crain's reported.

Boomers love this stuff.

A brown person who accepted American values.

So he probably does have a chance. Because even boomer Democrats get swayed by this sort of thing. The emotions of it. It just whisks them away.

Did You Know There were Libyan Holocaust Survivors?

Diversity Macht Frei
December 30, 2017

Idehan Ubari

This is the exact spot where a death camp could easily have been built in the Libyan desert

This fact comes to light from a story involving a Jew scamming other Jews out of their Holocaust money; a scam within a scam, so to speak.

A woman who took hundreds of thousands of shekels from Holocaust survivors supposedly to help them receive reparations from the state has been ordered by a court to return the money.

The ruling by the Rishon Letzion Magistrate's Court could affect hundreds of survivors waiting for the disposition of their suits against the woman, Rachel Doani. It was issued about two weeks ago by senior Court Registrar Dalia Ostereicher. The suit in the Rishon Letzion court was brought by seven Holocaust survivors, represented by the legal aid department of the Justice Ministry.

The survivors, in their 80s, are from Libya. They were recognized as Holocaust survivors because they fled their homes in Libya from Nazi rule out of fear for their lives. They are part of a group of thousands of Israelis from that country who have been recognized as Holocaust survivors entitled to reparations according to a 2010 law governing handicapped survivors of Nazi persecution.

A government decision allows survivors to receive recognition by filling out a single form, without having to go to court. However, Doani took 6,000 shekels ($1,727) to fill out the form. According to the indictment, she also opened hundreds of files in the state repossession unit against the people who did not pay her.

Source

The working definition of the term "Holocaust Survivor" used by many Jewish organisations is any Jew who lived in a country that was wholly or partially occupied by German or Axis forces during the time that Adolf Hitler was in power. This encompasses almost the whole of Europe, as well as large parts of the Middle East and North Africa. Any Jew residing in those countries at the time can claim to be a "Holocaust survivor"—even if they never saw a German or Axis soldier in their life. After that, the money starts to flow—unless another Jew scams you out of it.

But 300,000 Jews—dang, that's a lot of Jew killing.

I mean—this guy, in this imaginary story, was killing LITERALLY 3-400 Jews per day.

AP:

Germany's highest court has thrown out a bid by a 96-year-old former Auschwitz death camp guard convicted as an accessory to murder for a reprieve on serving his sentence.

Oskar Groening was convicted in July 2015 of being an accessory to the murder of 300,000 Jews and sentenced to four years in prison. A federal court rejected his appeal last year.

Groening remained free pending a dispute over his fitness for prison.

Prosecutors argued that he is fit to serve time so long as there is appropriate medical care.

Sure, sure. It is clearly cruel and even sadistic to send a man this old to prison, especially based on a fictitious hoax.

But look: just imagine how long it takes you to get 3-400 kills in Counter Strike, then understand that killing someone in real life is at least twice as difficult as killing someone in a video game.

Then understand that this guy was doing that every single day for years on end.

This random guy who no one had even heard of until a couple years ago is literally the greatest mass murderer in all of history.

That's why it is okay to send a guy in his 90s to prison.

Psychological Trauma Mongering: Promo for Next Star Wars Released

Andrew Anglin

Just on the heels of the severely psychologically abusive Star Wars 8, the sickening, evil Jew bastards of Disney have leaked a promo for the next Star Wars film.

The posters, for a Han Solo...solo film...features an ape-like Negroid visage.

What this shows is that Disney Jews are purposefully trying to inflict the maximum amount of trauma conceivable on the population of the West.

They are not simply mocking us, spitting in our faces—I believe they are pushing for mass despair and suicides.

I for one simply cannot take it anymore.

I am swearing off anything and everything related to Star Wars for the rest of my life.

I have sat around wondering if I will show my own children the original trilogy that I enjoyed so much as a child, and I have decided that no, I will not. Because I cannot protect them forever, and eventually they will see Star Wars 8 and it will crush them like it has crushed me.

I will not let them have any of the toys, play any of the videos games—none of it. From now on, I am 100% free of any and all things Star Wars, and am encouraging everyone around me to follow this path.

Instead of showing my kids Star Wars, I will show them Dirty Harry. Which are genuinely healthy films for young children, which will never be ruined by evil Jewish sequels.

Dirty Harry teaches good values and the absolute necessity of slaughtering your enemies.

It also teaches that when a woman gets in your business, you look at her like this:

And all of the Negroes in the film are bad guys.

Dirty Harry is the official children's movie series of the Alt-Right.

The series is purely fascistic, and teaches children the ULTIMATE VALUE SYSTEM: that the weak must be subordinated to the strong.

Jews Have Been Stirring Blacks Up Against Us for Centuries

Diversity Macht Frei
December 28, 2017

Once you begin to take a real, hard look at Jews, and to study their history, one of the funniest things is when you come across some historical episode you hadn't known anything about before, maybe even outwith the broad contours of history that you're familiar with, and you find Jews acting exactly as you would expect them to act based on the prejudices that you've now conceived against them.

Here we have an example of this from our old friend Simon Schema.

Short version: In the late 16th/early 17th century some Jews set up in west Africa, where they traded weapons to negroes in return for slaves. The weapons they traded gave one bunch of negroes an advantage over their neighbours. These newly empowered negroes would attack other tribes, enslave them, then hand over the slaves to the Jews in return for more weapons. The perfect Jewish system, you might think. But no. Christians appeared on the scene, threatening the Jewish "swords-for-slaves" racket. (Note the Jews were running slaves in Africa before Europeans had even appeared.) So the Jews, pretending to be one with the Africans ("My fellow Africans") stirred up the brown man against Whitey, and Muslim "My fellow brothers in Moses") against Christian. Then, having brought ruin upon the Africans after pretending to be African, the Jews departed for Amsterdam, where they would soon betray the Dutch (to the English) after pretending to be Dutch.

In the first two decades of the seventeenth century, a small but thriving colony of openly professing Portuguese Jews and reverting New Christians established itself on the West African coast of Senegal. Though Portuguese power (now part of the Spanish monarchy) established on the island archipelagos of Cape Verde and São Tomé loomed large, it stopped short of outright conquest on the African mainland, not least because the Wolof kings of Senegambia would have made formidable adversaries. The Jews moved into the interstices between these two powers and prospered by selling the sword and dagger blades the Senegambian warrior kingdoms needed to maintain their own dominance, especially in captive raids upriver. In exchange, the Jews took hides, beeswax, ivory and slaves. The ivory and wax went home to Amsterdam; the slaves to the Caribbean and Brazil.

As in India and China, the relationship with the Wolofs was close enough for some of the men to take African concubine-servants and even wives who were then converted, and the mulatto children accepted as full Jews. Patrilineal rules of descent again applied in defining who was Jewish and who was not. A mixed-race generation of Eurafrican Jews, the males all circumcised, then grew up with strong connections to their native origins. The result was that when the Portuguese pressed the kings to get rid of these undesirable competitors they ran into unexpectedly stiff resistance. In West Africa, knowing the Portuguese would bring them trouble, the Jews went on a pre-emptive counter-attack against the Christians.

When the Portuguese targeted a group of Jews based in the town of Joal on the “Petite Côte”, they fought back (in an area where some of the rulers were Muslim) by describing the Catholics as pagans. Ruefully one of the Portuguese reported that the Jews represented them as “people who worship sticks and stones and who seek to harm them [the Jews] because they followed the way of Musa, Moses in the language of the Blacks and further they presented themselves to the King [of Joal] as initiates circumcised like the King himself and the other Black people”. The Jews on the Petite Côte also knew how to appeal to the tribal kings’ indignation at Portuguese pretensions to rule inland as well as the island dominions and coastal forts. When they got another comeuppance, a New Christian (many of whom reverted to Judaism in Africa and remained Jewish when they went back to Amsterdam) made no attempt to disguise his pleasure at the African king’s refusal to go along with Portuguese presumptions.

Washington, DC: Jewish Defense League Member Indicted for Hate Crime Against Arab Outside of AIPAC

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
December 28, 2017

Video Link

Last spring, about a dozen members of the domestic terrorist group “Jewish Defense League” jumped a Palestinian protesting the AIPAC convention in Washington DC. The evidence was so overwhelming that one of them just got indicted.

The question that comes up is: “where was Antifa?”

DC Antifa organizer Lacy MacAuley insists that her PC paramilitary protests AIPAC all the time. The only proof she provides is “google it yourself,” which doesn’t turn anything substantial up.

I have protested at #AIPAC conferences, and some friends organize those protests. Before you say “why don’t you protest x?” #DoYourResearch

— Lacy MacAuley (@lacymacauley)
August 5, 2017

As we can see in the footage above, the black-clad “militant” anarcucks waving improvised weapons—the ones that show-up whenever white people protest the war in Syria or march for Kate Steinle—are nowhere in sight.

The Forward:

A Canadian member of the Jewish Defense League was indicted by a grand jury in last week in Washington, D.C., for charges that include the assault on a Palestinian-American at the American Israel Public Affairs Committee’s annual conference in March.

Yosef Steynovitz faces three assault-related charges, the Canadian Jewish News reported, including attacking a man with a dangerous weapon and beating Kamal Nayfeh, a 55-year-old community college teacher who was reportedly walking to the conference when the attack happened. A photo of the bruised and bloodied face of Nayfeh circulated widely after the incident. At the time, JDL leader Meir Weinstein claimed videos and photos of the incident were incomplete and said his group was acting in self defense.

One of Steynovitz’s charges includes a hate crime enhancement for anti-Arab bias that would lead to a greater penalty if Steynovitz is convicted, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency reported.

This is rich, as the main justification for Antifas reactionary behavior is that white people will victimize “people of color” and queers if allowed to have some suit and tie conference in the Ronald Reagan building.

Yet at AIPAC, they don’t seem to be doing anything about a conference that exists specifically to keep earmarking billions of American taxpayer dollars for bombs and bullets that ethnically cleanse and murder Palestinian children.

Video Link

When Arabs go to protest this, the Jewish Defense League assaults them while calling them racial slurs.

Now predictably, the average Antifa asshole would come up with an excuse like “we can’t be everywhere at once!”

Do you see any of the Antifas doxing JDL members? Do they get them fired from their jobs? Do they dox the people financing and leading Israel lobbies like AIPAC, the ADL or any of the scores of groups of this sort? No, because they mostly agree with these kikes.

The JDL and Antifa overlap a lot and have a similar philosophy. When the JDL was stronger in the 80s and 90s, Antifa/SHARP and JDL even had overlapping membership and the same goals (attacking David Irving and Ernst Zundel, fighting pro-white activists led by Tom Metzger, etc.).

They are predicated on the same Jewish criminal psychology and strategy: if you can’t win an intellectual debate because you’re wrong, physically assault the person who is right until he recants or is dead. When they refuse to let you do that, then play the victim.

Most people know that “Antifa” groups are anti-white and not “anti-racist.” Jewish racism and supremacy is allowed because a disproportionate number of Antifa organizers are Jews using the tactic (consciously or subconsciously) as a way to silence critics of Jews and Zionism.

If that’s the game they want to play, fine. My issue is these people are liars misrepresenting what they do.

Just admit you are a group that exists specifically to protect Jewish power and prevent white people from having a voice.

Drop the bandanna of “anti-racism” and show your real face to the world!

Newsweek Kike Brags About Jews Destroying Christmas

Adrian Sol

Daily Stormer

December 27, 2017

A typical Jew preparing to ruin Christmas for everyone.

Jews have reached such a level of dominance over society that they no longer worry about garishly displaying their filthy hand in our destruction for all to see.

One of their most devious schemes, over the past few decades, has been their campaign to destroy Christmas in America and the wider West.

They haven’t done this in one go, however. Before pushing for this newer politically correct imposition to greet people with “happy holidays” instead of “merry Christmas” and demanding that crosses and nativity scenes be replaced with pine trees and menorahs, the Jews worked to create a sanitized, religion-free version of Christmas.

Yes, we have these abominations in the streets of America these days.

The most powerful tool in accomplishing this task was composing non-religious, consumerist Christmas music.

Newsweek:

President Donald Trump is taking credit this season for saving Christmas (or not), but it was a handful of Jews who wrote some of the greatest Yuletide songs in American history.

Certainly everyone knows that “White Christmas” was written by Irving Berlin (also known as the Russian-born Israel Isidore Beilin), who also wrote “God Bless America.” Berlin’s 1942 dream of snow on Christmas morning defines the holiday for many Americans—and made a fortune for Bing Crosby—but it doesn’t even make the top five of greatest Christmas songs written by non-Christians.

Here’s our top six:

Rudolph, The Red-Nosed Reindeer
by Johnny Marks

Marks, born John David Marks in Mount Vernon, N.Y., based his song on a short story written by his brother-in-law Robert May, who had gotten an assignment in 1939 by Montgomery Ward to write a “cheery” Christmas book for shoppers.

The song, which put the flying reindeer myth into the American consciousness, became a hit for Gene Autry in 1949.

Marks also wrote such classics as “Rockin’ Around the Christmas Tree,” “A Holly Jolly Christmas,” “Silver and Gold” and “Run Rudolph Run.”

Video Link

Not only did Jews popularize Christianity-free Christmas music, but they also published all sorts of subversive cartoons (such as Rudolf the red-nosed reindeer) which have influenced generations of our people.

The Christmas Song (Chestnuts Roasting on an Open Fire)" by Robert Wells and Mel Tormé

Long before he was The Velvet Fog, singer Tormé was the son of Russian Jewish immigrants with the surname Torma. In 1945, he teamed up with longtime collaborator Wells, also Jewish, for this classic tune inspired, Tormé once said in an interview, by a desire to think of cold thoughts during a particularly hot summer.

Yes...nothing more Christmas-ey than...chestnuts?

Let It Snow! Let It Snow! Let It Snow! by Sammy Cahn and Jule Styne

One of the bounciest Christmas numbers, Cahn (born Samuel Cohen on the Lower East Side of Manhattan to Galician Jews Abraham and Elka Cohen), also said he wrote the song during that 1945 heatwave, albeit in Hollywood, not Chicago. Styne, who wrote the music, was born Julius Kerwin Stein in England to Jewish immigrants from Ukraine.

Bla bla bla...The article goes on and on about all these Christmas songs written by Jews, pretending as though these things actually mean Jews are "saving Christmas" or whatever.

The only thing they're doing is making Christmas "safe" for Jews by removing all Christianity from the holiday, making it instead about snow, pine trees, getting drunk and loading up your credit card to give people all sorts of useless crap.

The intent was purely hostile. This is obvious from the fact that Jews didn't actually start celebrating this new sanitized consumerist version of Christmas, but made up their own stupid holiday instead. So they didn't want to be included in Christmas celebrations, they just wanted to debase it so that the goyim would lose their most sacred holiday.

Can you imagine a White guy moving to India or wherever and then starting to compose new songs for their religious holidays, but instead of making them about Krisna or Vishnu, he'd make the songs about smoking weed and buying stuff on Amazon?

Completely insane.

The fact that they'd even consider doing this shows the deeply unhinged nature of the Jewish psyche.

Evil GRIDS-Kike Matt Drudge Won't Say "Christmas"

So this is at the top of Drudge Report right now:

MASTERCARD: IT WAS BIGGEST XMAS IN HISTORY!
DRUDGE REPORT

See that the "conservative" homosexual Jew Matt Drudge uses the preferred Jewish spelling of Christmas— "XMAS."

I remember when I was a kid, Christians were saying that "XMAS" meant crossing out Christ from Christmas. As I've researched it, this does not appear to be the original intent. However, it has been adopted by Jews as their means to refer to the holiday and not use the word "Christ," which is literally physically painful for them to say or write. And they will say it aloud as "ex-mas" to avoid saying the word "Christ."

Matt Drudge also went on a Jewish Jihad against Judge Roy Moore while even mainstream conservative outlets (Fox News) were supporting him. He was fully behind the entire jailbait hoax, and went so far as to promote Ivanka's "child abusers go to hell" statements.

Yes, Drudge played a role in bringing down Bill Clinton decades ago, but in the age of Trump, his Jewishness is showing. I notice all sorts of counter-American messages on this site now. I've largely stopped even checking it over the last year or so.

Drudge is a Jew and a homosexual, two conditions which prohibit him from being a good or honest person. So I warn you: keep an eye on this one.

UK Universities: Free Speech for Me But Not for Thee, Goy

Diversity Macht Frei

December 27, 2017

Jo Johnson is to use his speech at the Limmud festival later today to stress the importance of upholding free speech, and to reiterate that UK institutions of learning could face fines for failing to do so.

In his speech this afternoon, the Minister for Universities and Science will stress the importance of universities being places that “open minds, not close them”, challenging the rise in “no platforming” measures on UK campuses.

In their original form, such measures were intended to prevent talks given by far-right groups, However, in recent years, the use of “no platforming” boycotts has been extended by some student unions to include a range of other issues, including speakers who support Israel.

In October, a new higher education regulator was unveiled—the Office for Students. Under proposals submitted by Mr Johnson, universities could face a variety of penalties from the new body—including fines, suspension or deregulation—for failing to uphold free speech.

“Universities should be places that open minds not close them, where ideas can be freely challenged,” Mr Johnson will tell the audience at Limmud.

“In universities in America and worryingly in the UK, we have seen examples of groups seeking to stifle those who do not agree with them.

“We must not allow this to happen. Young people should have the resilience and confidence to challenge controversial opinions and take part in open, frank and rigorous discussions. That is why the new regulator, the Office for Students, will go even further to ensure that universities promote freedom of speech within the law.”

However, Mr Johnson will also discuss the need for universities to prevent hatred, extremism or racism, saying that “a racist or anti-semitic environment is by definition an illiberal one that is completely in opposition to the liberal tradition of our universities”.

Welcoming the move, Marie van der Zyl, vice-president of the Board of Deputies, who is attending Limmud, said: “Over the last couple of years, Jewish students have been subjected to the most outrageous abuse and intimidation when seeking to discuss Israel, including when they are discussing the routes to peace. Notorious incidents occurred at King’s College London and University College London. Regrettably universities often find themselves floundering, unable or unwilling to provide adequate protection for these events. This must urgently change.

“We are pleased to note that the minister will note exceptions for where there is a risk of extremism or hatred, including antisemitism. To aid this, we would urge universities to adopt the International Holocaust Remembrance Alliance definition of antisemitism which the government adopted last year.”

The Union of Jewish Students also welcomed Mr Johnson’s remarks but cautioned that there was a role for no-platforming on campus.

UJS campaigns manager Liron Velleman said: “No-platform policies for those who continue to threaten or incite violence continue to be an important tool against fascism used by the National Union of Students, students unions and student groups. Additionally, we have welcomed the increased focus in recent years on a duty of care for students and the introduction of external speaker guidelines by many institutions.

“Freedom of speech on campus is a fundamental democratic right but there continues to be a role for clear and precise no-platform policies to be used in the fight against violent racism and other forms of discrimination.”

Source

Once something begins to threaten Jewish interests, the government moves in immediately to shut it down.

Back in the 80s, local governments used to boycott South Africa to protest against apartheid. They were and still are applauded for doing so. Recently, however, a few of them started to impose boycotts on Israel. Almost instantly, the government brought in new rules that banned local governments from boycotting foreign countries.

This new “free speech” protection is in a similar vein. Leftists have been banning defenders of European ethnic interests for decades. Not a grumble was heard from the rulers. Then Zionist Jews began to be banned on the same basis. In come the rules imposing “free speech”. But this curiously contortionate “free speech” prohibits “racism and antisemitism”. So Jews will be allowed to continue advocating for their ethnic interests but goy will not.

The irony of going to a Jewish event to proclaim your support for free speech is no doubt lost on Boris’ Johnson’s dimwit brother Jo; for it was Jews who robbed Britain of its free speech in the first place. There was a National Socialist party in Britain in the 60s. The Jews wanted it shut down and its leader (Colin Jordan) imprisoned. It couldn’t be done under existing laws so they demanded new ones. And got them. After the Jew Frank Soskice was appointed Home Secretary, Jordan was soon imprisoned for wrongspeech. (see a fuller account of this here)

It is no exaggeration to say that thousands, perhaps tens of thousands, of British girls have been raped, enslaved and tortured as a result of these “hate speech” laws; because the people who knew about were too afraid to speak.

Jewish Groups Behind Shut-down of Trump's Latest Refugee Ban

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
December 26, 2017

Welcome the stranger.
Protect the refugee.

The motto of the Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society is “Welcome the stranger. Protect the refugee. Except in Israel.”

The sheer amount of money, effort and political capital Jews are willing to burn through to bring non-white refugees to America is only comparable with what they do to keep them out of Israel.

In the latest act of brazen tyranny, groups representing 2% of the American population have vetoed the will of 63 million voters by getting some compromised judge to overturn Donald Trump's constitutionally sound ban on refugees.

JTA:

A federal judge in Seattle has partially lifted the latest Trump administration ban on refugees.

U.S. District Judge James Robart of the federal court in Seattle on Saturday ruled that the federal government must process refugee applications for people “with a bona fide relationship to a person or entity within the United States.”

The new set of restrictions on refugees include a minimum 90-day suspension of admission of refugees from 11 countries, nine of which are predominantly Muslim, and a suspension of the so-called follow-to-join process, which reunites family members with refugees already in the United States.

The ruling to allow the reuniting of refugees with family members in the United States was in response to two challenges heard in court on Thursday. One of the challenges—Jewish Family Service v. Trump, was brought by HIAS, the Jewish immigration advocacy group, on behalf of its partners, Jewish Family Service of Seattle and Jewish Family Services of Silicon Valley. The second case was ACLU of WA v. Trump.

The Supreme Court has already ruled on the issue, 7-2!

They went out of their way to note that every aspect of the ban—including the clause banning chain migration—was Constitutional. Even the ACLU has stopped beating this dead horse.

So why isn't this ass clown “Judge” James Robart being removed from the court? If he wants to do contracting work for the Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society, he should get a job with them. They might need a goyim or two to mop their floors!

How is it possible for this to even happen?

You vote for something, they block it in the courts. The courts overrule it, and they block it again anyway.

This refugee ban is not even permanent, they won't even let this dime slip away.

If Trump made more of a commotion about this than the disgraceful Israel appeasement he thinks will get Jews to stop sabotaging his presidency, he might get somewhere.

At this rate, without getting the agenda he actually ran on through, whites will stay home in 2020.

Jews Auctioning Off Hitler's Sweet Car

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 24, 2017

If only Bitcoin hadn't just taken a dive...

Nah, I still wouldn't buy it.

The money is going to Holocaust bullshittery.

RT:

A vintage Mercedes-Benz 770K, allegedly from Adolf Hitler's personal garage, will be auctioned in Arizona next year, with ten percent of the selling price to be donated to educational projects on the Holocaust.

The 1939 Mercedes-Benz 770K Offener Tourenwagen—the “Super Mercedes” parade car had been used by “none other than Adolf Hitler,” said Worldwide Auctioneers, the company who will facilitate the Scottsdale Auction in mid-January.

Also known as the “Grosser,” the car “did not choose its user or its use,” the lot description reads. However, it still remains “quite likely the world's greatest achievement in terms of automotive design, engineering, and construction.” The Super-Mercedes was specially built for the Nazi Germany leader, with details specified by an SS officer and Hitler's driver, Erich Kempka.

The vehicle boasts quite an “impressive and extensive” set of built-in security gear, including a 30mm bullet-proof windscreen and armoured body panels. Initially designed as a guest car, it allegedly carried Hitler on several parades, marking the visit of Italy’s Fascist dictator Benito Mussolini, as well as the invasion of France in 1940, auction organizers claim.

Following the Nazi defeat in World War II, the car ended up in France as a trophy of the American forces. The vehicle then made its way across the Atlantic, where it had been traded several times. One of its former owners learned the car was actually one of the four “Fuhrer-cars.”

While the starting bid for the controversial lot has yet to be announced, organizers emphasized its display is “not to glorify Hitler and his destructive policy,” but rather, “to show one of the outstanding cars of the century,” citing a historian at the Canadian War Museum in Ottawa, Ludwig Kosche. Ten percent of the purchase price, the auctioneers promised, will be donated and used “to educate how and why the Holocaust happened and how to effectively prevent such atrocities in the future.”

The Holocaust bullshitters need money.

The internet wants answers.

Of most pressing concern is: where the hell are these six million Jewish bodies buried?

We’ve also got a bunch of questions about how exactly these fake shower room homicidal gas chambers worked, and why there is no evidence that they actually even existed.

Some Good Documentaries

If you’re new here—and we’ve always got new people coming in—check these documentaries. Then, of course, look at the debunking videos of them, which try to explain away the facts presented.

Then come to your own conclusion.

The hard reality is that no honest person can actually believe that Adolf Hitler had a plan to “exterminate Jews” or that anything even remotely close to six million Jews died during WWII.

Of course, once you figure out that the Jews hoaxed this Holocaust, you very quickly begin to wish that it had happened.

Because the only people who truly deserve to be gassed with insect spray in fake shower rooms are those who would make something like that up.

Steve Bannon Blasts Ivanka and Diabolical Jew Husband!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 24, 2017

We have a sickening situation here, with the daughter of the President being married to an evil Jew.

Both were registered Democrats before they became advisers to our ultra far-right President...

Thankfully, Steve Bannon, the most important part of the Trump Train, is able to call it out for what it is.

The Guardian:

Donald Trump’s daughter Ivanka and her husband Jared Kushner are under fresh scrutiny over their influence at the White House after a very public eruption of their feud with former chief strategist Steve Bannon.

In a gloves-off interview with Vanity Fair magazine, Bannon laid bare the mutual enmity with the senior advisers to the president, one of the worst-kept secrets of the Trump administration.

“The railhead of all bad decisions is the same railhead: Ivanka,” he said, using a nickname that conflates the couple.

Bannon, who returned to rightwing site Breitbart News after being forced out of the White House in August, recalled an Oval Office meeting in which he accused Ivanka of being “the queen of leaks”. The first daughter allegedly retorted: “You’re a fucking liar!”

He also condemned Ivanka over her handling of the recent US Senate special election in Alabama, where Republican candidate Roy Moore denied accusations of sexual misconduct with teenagers. Ivanka said pointedly during the campaign: “There is a special place in hell for people who prey on children.”

Yes.

That was inexcusable, above and beyond anything else that she herself has done publicly.

Truly an unbelievable move.

Bannon, who supported Moore despite the allegations only to see him lose the Republican heartland to a Democrat, responded in the Vanity Fair interview: “What about the allegations about her dad and that 13-year-old?” —a reference to an unproven allegation from a California woman that Trump raped her as a teenager (last year the woman dropped a lawsuit making the claim). Trump has faced multiple claims of sexual misconduct and denies all of them.

Bannon added to Vanity Fair: “Ivanka was a fount of bad advice during the campaign.”

As for Kushner, Bannon made little attempt to disguise his contempt.

“He doesn’t know anything about the hobbits or the deplorables” — using two ironic terms for Trump supporters.

He knows about one thing: SHEKELS, BABY.

And settlements. In the West Bank.

Other than that...

Well. He dresses well and appears to maintain good grooming, especially for a member of a race that is known to be filthy and greasy, crawling around in stinking torn rags.

But alas.

He is just another conniving court Jew, attempting to manipulate the king for the purposes of his evil tribe.

But I do not believe he or his shiksa will make it through the first quarter of 2018.

Jared is at the center of the Russia scandal—thus far the only one found to be colluding with the Russians, for the purpose of trying to protect the interests of Israel.

I am still on the Trump Train but I will tell you, sometimes I do wish we were saying “President Bannon.”

Steve would have the nerve to just burn the whole thing down, whereas Trump clearly lacks that sort of nerve.

KSTP:

A Minneapolis woman who was stabbed 14 times while walking to her Uptown home said she is doing better and is focused on helping police catch her attacker.

Twenty-six-year-old Morgan Evenson said she was attacked Dec. 13 while walking home from her job at the Apple store on Hennepin Avenue.

Evenson told KSTP she struggled with her attacker at the corner of 32nd Street and Fremont Avenue and she considers herself lucky to be alive.

"It was horrifying, because I could feel something that felt like it was stinging me, but it was him stabbing me," she said. "Doctor's told me I had 14 wounds that needed stitches, including a lacerated kidney."

Two Blacks Murder White Man During Robbery

This is why you do not relax around Blacks.

CBS:

Baltimore City Police have released surveillance video of what investigators believe is a robbery that turned deadly in Fells Point earlier this week.

The video shows two suspects casually walking down the street just moments before police say they murdered 43-year-old Jim Forrester.

Speaking at press conference held Friday to provide updates about two recent homicides, Baltimore Police spokesman T.J. Smith said the suspects have not yet been identified in the murder of Forrester or 19-year-old Morgan State student Jonathan Tobash.

"I have to maintain my composure and frustration level, if this doesn't infuriate you, then you're really misplaced with the problem," Smith said.

Forrester, known as Reverend Jim, stepped outside of work at the Baltimore Tattoo Museum Monday night to speak to his wife on the phone.

Police say that's when an attempted robbery occurred.

"She heard him say, 'Get away from me. Get away from me' a couple of times and heard some noise and commotion, the phone drop and then no more communication with him," museum owner Chris Keaton told WJZ.

Forrester was killed by a single gunshot, according to police.

Beller was taken to a nearby hospital where she later died.

Police arrested Samuel Ott, 21, on Saturday after police say his DNA was matched to evidence linked to the crime scene. He has been charged with felony murder, aggravated assault, kidnapping and false imprisonment. He has been taken to the Fulton County Jail.

for killing a 19-year-old Blinn College student at a graduation party in May 2015.

Judge Kyle Hawthorne, of the 85th District Court, sentenced Ronald Wayne McNeil to a life sentence just after 2:30 on Tuesday afternoon.

Last week, jurors convicted McNeil for the murder of Lacie LaRose, a 19-year-old Blinn College student, in May 2015.

Testimony from the four-day guilt/innocence phase of the trial indicated McNeil had fired 11 shots into the backyard of a graduation party on May 3, 2015, killing LaRose and injuring two other men. Multiple witnesses who had attended the party that night testified that McNeil and Charles Williams, both of whom are African-American, had left the party after white partygoers called them racial slurs.

Witnesses also testified that one white partygoer, Landon Duke, struck Williams in the face and knocked him onto the ground as the two men were trying to leave.

Fulton County Police tell FOX 5 18 year old De'asia Ra'meke Page is charged with murder in the death of Toni Abad.

Police say Page turned herself in to Union City Police Sunday morning.

According to investigators, Abad's body was found in the trunk of her own car parked behind the Waffle House at the intersection of Thompson Road and Highway 92.

Police tell FOX 5 someone spotted the suspicious car Friday.

When police arrived, they say they noticed the driver's side window was broken before they discovered Abad's body in the trunk.

Arrested: Aubrey Quentin Garrett, an African-American male, 50 years of age

On December 15, 2017 at approximately 6:38 a.m., APD received multiple emergency calls about a man and woman involved in an escalating physical disturbance in the 5000 block of Lynnwood Street.

Once on scene, Officer Delvalle confronted the suspect, Aubrey Garrett, and ordered him to the ground. Garrett failed to comply with the directions and continued to take violent action against Lindsey. Delvalle fired his duty weapon, striking Garrett.

Garrett was then taken into custody following a brief struggle. Once Garrett had been detained, officers facilitated EMS care for both Lindsey and Garrett. Andrea Faye Lindsey succumbed to her wounds and was pronounced deceased at the scene at 7:09 a.m.

The Travis County Medical Examiner performed an autopsy on Lindsey on December 16, 2017 and determined her death had been caused by sharp, forced injuries. The case, ruled a homicide by the Medical Examiner, is being investigated by the APD Homicide Unit.

Olympic medalist McKayla Maroney alleges USA Gymnastics tried to silence her for almost a year by making her sign non-disclosure agreements as part of a financial settlement, which she used to pay for psychological treatment, according to a lawsuit filed Wednesday in California's Superior Court, per NBC News.

The agreement was allegedly signed months before the initial accusations against former Team USA doctor Dr. Larry Nassar surfaced. He pleaded guilty in November to multiple charges of sexual assault before being sentenced to 60 years in prison the following month in a separate child pornography case.

"Plaintiff alleges that Defendant USAG had a plan to keep the sexual abuse of [Dr. Larry] Nassar quiet, and allow Nassar to quietly leave USAG, further silence his victims," the court docs claim.

Maroney's lawsuit also alleges USA Gymnastics wanted a confidentiality accord so "it could further conceal and shield from public scrutiny, outside investigation, and law enforcement, the true nature of Nassar's horrific sexual abuse of minors."

Facebook's Pajeet Army is Completely Inept at Censorship

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
December 31, 2017

If Facebook wants quality thought control agents, they should get them from California, not India.

Facebook is engaged in the largest thought-control project in the history of man, manipulating not only information, but the very emotions of people through algorithms and mass censorship.

Unfortunately for them, being run by Jews, they've decided to skimp on the quality of their operational staff in order to save their precious shekels.

Hmmmm...Yeah that would be a problem.

As a result, their censorship has been kind of wonky from the get-go. And that's definitely triggering the shitlibs who are pressuring Facebook to wipe their political enemies off the public space as quickly as possible.

World Net Daily:

Facebook admitted that its censors made the wrong call on nearly half of a set of 49 situations addressed in a new study.

ProPublica reported that it reviewed the company's practices regarding images depicting violence or statements that are offensive, and in roughly half the cases even the company admitted it should have done better.

For example, it declined to take down a post with an image reflecting graphic violence—the body of a man on top of ground that was soaked in blood, with a message stating, “the only good Muslim is a—dead one.”

But taken down was the single line “Death to the Muslims” which did not have an image at all.

Anonymous sources have reported, however, that the staff has had a 100% accuracy rate in removing “poo in the loo” memes from Facebook, however. Offending posts are known to be replaced with “SUPERPOWER BY 2020!!!”

When millions of children are starving, most adults can't read and cows have more rights than people but it's all good because your country will be a superpower by 2020

but it's all good because Indians are the most powerful race in the world.

“We asked Facebook to explain its decisions on a sample of 49 items, sent in by people who maintained that content reviewers had erred, mostly by leaving hate speech up, or in a few instances by deleting legitimate expression,” Propublica's report said.

“In 22 cases, Facebook said its reviewers had made a mistake. In 19, it defended the rulings. In six cases, Facebook said the content did violate its rules but its reviewers had not actually judged it one way or the other because users had not flagged it correctly, or the author had deleted it. In the other two cases, it said it didn't have enough information to respond.”

Inconsistencies are common, ProPublica said, having “found in an analysis of more than 900 posts submitted to us as part of a crowd-sourced investigation into how the world's largest social network implements its hate-speech rules.”

As much as these Facebook kikes hate freedom, they probably would much rather not engage in this kind of post-by-post censorship. It's expensive and pisses off a large part of their userbase.

They would much rather tailor people's perceptions with subtle manipulations of the algorithms populating people's newsfeed, inducing different feelings and attitudes in the masses in a way that they're not even conscious of. This is something they've actually admitted to.

While Mark Zuckerberg is allegedly not a lizard man, I would put away flying insects you're especially fond of while in his presence—just in case.

But seeing as they're forced to engage in this sort of censorship, doing it half-assedly like this with incompetent staff is probably the worse thing they can do. It turns posting on Facebook into a weird Russian-roulette type scenario where you never know what to expect out of it, and definitely turns off the users.

Social media companies need to be regulated as utilities, so that they don't even have the option to censor regardless of social pressure to do so. Also, Facebook needs to be banned as a subversive organization purposefully and admittedly warping people's minds.

Facebook's Ban of Chechen President Could Have Larger Ramifications

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 29, 2017

I'm interested in any censorship drama that escalates the online censorship debate.

The concept of banning a person from internet services because they are sanctioned by the US government is new, and it has a lot of potential ramifications if it is installed as a policy. If it is not installed as a policy, then they have a different reason for banning the Chechen, which is also interesting.

RT:

The Facebook and Instagram ban of Chechen leader Ramzan Kadyrov, due to him being sanctioned by the US, has raised questions if the tech company is acting as a government agent and trampling free speech rights.

Yeah it's either a government agent or it's run by Jews.
Op. Wait. Googled it.

It's Jews.

"The first and obvious question that must be addressed is by what authority does Facebook block accounts based upon US sanctions imposed? Is there a reciprocity agreement of sorts?" legal and media expert Lionel told RT via email.

Facebook and Instagram accounts of Kadyrov, prominent in Russia over his sometimes controversial social media posts and photos, went offline on Saturday. Facebook, which owns both platforms, later explained the blocking by "legal obligations," arising from the new US sanctions against the Chechen leader, who was black-listed last week as part of the Magnitsky Act. Kadyrov's account on Instagram had over 3.2 million followers.

But wait.
Here's the interesting part.

"Facebook and Instagram are theoretically private companies with no ties to the United States government per se, but one could argue that these actions suggest they are acting in concert as agents," Lionel said. "And if such is taken to the next level of interpretation, the argument could be made that as much as they enjoy agency status—decisions to proscribe speech could be in violation of the First Amendment" [of the US Constitution], which, among other things, protects freedom of speech and press.

Now, I don't really expect that this particular argument will work. But it is very interesting. And, it is yet another angle to put pressure on these companies from.

Ultimately, the goal here is to make tech companies want the government to come in and force them to protect people's protected rights to free speech. None of them want to be in the business of regulating content. Even if they are Jews, they understand that the mob will never be satisfied with whatever amount of censorship they employ, and thus would prefer if the government just said "we're deciding."

Psychological Trauma Mongering: Promo for Next Star Wars Released

Andrew Anglin

December 28, 2017

Just on the heels of the severely psychologically abusive Star Wars 8, the sickening, evil Jew bastards of Disney have leaked a promo for the next Star Wars film.

The posters, for a Han Solo...solo film...features an ape-like Negroid visage.

What this shows is that Disney Jews are purposefully trying to inflict the maximum amount of trauma conceivable on the population of the West.

They are not simply mocking us, spitting in our faces—I believe they are pushing for mass despair and suicides.

I for one simply cannot take it anymore.

I am swearing off anything and everything related to Star Wars for the rest of my life.

I have sat around wondering if I will show my own children the original trilogy that I enjoyed so much as a child, and I have decided that no, I will not. Because I cannot protect them forever, and eventually they will see Star Wars 8 and it will crush them like it has crushed me.

I will not let them have any of the toys, play any of the videos games—none of it. From now on, I am 100% free of any and all things Star Wars, and am encouraging everyone around me to follow this path.

Instead of showing my kids Star Wars, I will show them Dirty Harry. Which are genuinely healthy films for young children, which will never be ruined by evil Jewish sequels.

Dirty Harry teaches good values and the absolute necessity of slaughtering your enemies.

It also teaches that when a woman gets in your business, you look at her like this:

And all of the Negroes in the film are bad guys.

Dirty Harry is the official children's movie series of the Alt-Right.

The series is purely fascistic, and teaches children the ULTIMATE VALUE SYSTEM: that the weak must be subordinated to the strong.

Murdered Basement Quad-Pack Consisted of a Dyke, Her Lover and Two Kids [UPDATE: All Nig-Nogs]

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 28, 2017

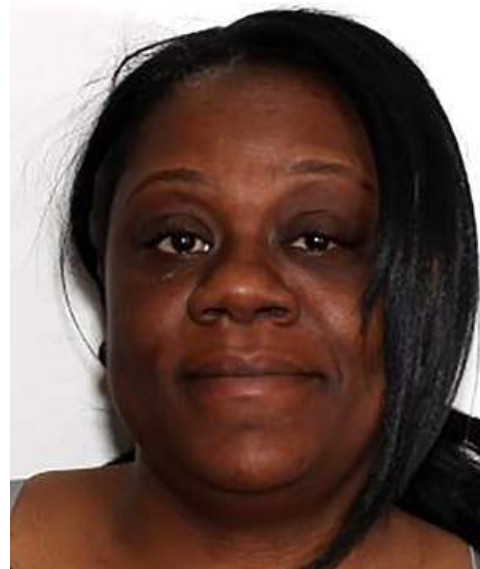

UPDATE:

I'm not sure how much of my original arguments stand, now that it has been revealed that the entire family is nog. Plus the dyke lover is nog.

Kids:

Mother:

Lover:

Nogs are known to kill each other pretty much randomly for no reason or any reason, so I'm not sure that the whole homosexual thing is even relevant.

Still, it is relevant in a general sense, and useful analysis.

But yeah—dead nogs surprise no one.

Probably related to drugs, or maybe someone got angry—whatever. Could be anything. Doesn't really matter. Black lives do not matter and they kill each other like fighting cocks.

Original article follows.

When you have the element of homosexuality, you are going to have an element of the gruesome.

Of course, that is more intense with male faggots than female dykes, but it nonetheless remains true for the latter.

Homosexuality is evil and where this act is practiced, the spirit of evil is present.

Fox News:

Police in upstate New York worked Wednesday to unravel the mystery behind the gruesome quadruple homicide that left a mother, her partner and two young children dead in a basement apartment the day after Christmas.

The bodies of a 36-year-old mother and her two children, an 11-year-old boy and a 5-year-old girl, were found dead in a basement apartment by the property manager in Troy. The body of a 22-year-old woman, who police say was in a relationship with the mother, was also found in the apartment.

Investigators have not revealed many details about the murders, including the identities of the victims or how they were killed.

But Troy Police Chief John Tedesco did give hint at the gruesomeness of the scene during a news conference.

"After being in this business for 43 years, I can't describe the savagery of a person who would do this," Tedesco said. "I don't think there's any doubt that a person who committed this crime is capable of anything."

So that implies it was gruesome—torture and/or mutilation.

You don't have a hard time describing the savagery of people just getting shot, now do you?

Also, if they had been shot, they would have said "they were shot."

The fact that it was in a basement also implies it was a horror-movie-tier massacre.

It is strange that they aren't releasing any details at all. The dyke lover is not described as being in the basement, indicating that she was upstairs. Maybe she did it and then killed herself. Although that would be obvious from the crime scene and they could just say it.

So maybe the kids' father came, killed the dyke, then took his family in the basement and murdered the kids slowly in front of the mother, before killing her. But in that case, he typically would have killed himself also. Personally, I am a fan of the "kill the kids in front of the mother and then shoot out her kneecaps and let her live as she watches you kill yourself" method.

So it could have just been a drug dealer, or a drug-addict friend. Single mothers tend to be on heavy drugs, and when you are hanging out with drug users, doing lesbianism, etc. it is very likely you are going to come into contact with sadistic, unhinged individuals.

ISIS is the only group so far which has presented a rational way of dealing with homosexuality. Although female homosexuals are not thrown off roofs, given that they have precious wombs that can intake the man-seed and spit out small humans. Instead, they are beaten and force-married.

The lesson here, beyond the fact that homosexuals are evil and deserve to die, is that the system of divorce which gives the children to the stupid bitch party automatically needs to be shut down. The man deserves the kids, by default. Even if he is abusive. Because he was probably only abusive because of the wife in the first place.

Marriages would be a lot healthier if it was a system where the man could walk away with no consequences. The purpose of a woman in the universe is to provide services to a man, and she would be providing much better services if she knew the man could take everything she has away from her an moment. That is the way human relationships have always worked. The man was always able to walk away, and this kept the woman obedient and pleasing.

We've got very big problems as a society. New problems, that have largely stemmed from the restructuring of the family.

If we don't fix that, we're not fixing anything else.

Tiger Woods Dresses Up Like a Pimp Version of Santa Claus for His Kids

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
December 28, 2017

Tiger Woods, a negro constantly in the headlines for sex scandals, dresses up as a pimp version of St. Nick called “Mac Daddy Santa” for his kids every year.

Sports writer Alex Myers, a Jew, thinks this is nothing but wholesome good fun!

The “proud” caublasian has used his immense wealth to date only the blondest women possible. This guy is obsessed with white women. Here are two examples of the type of hoes he likes.

Don't expect him to have any professional consequences for this display.

Golf Digest:

Sadly, Tiger Woods didn't give the world a taste of “Mac Daddy Santa” in 2017, but that doesn't mean his infamous Christmas character didn't surface at home. In a recent interview with the PGA Tour, Tiger explained (sort of) this, um, interesting tradition, and how it almost caused him serious bodily harm.

“Last year I burned my face off trying to dye my goatee, which is never going to happen again,” Woods says in a video clip.

Yikes. As if this guy needs to worry about any more injuries.

But despite the dye mishap, Woods says Mac Daddy Santa—colored goatee or not—is here to stay.

“Kids absolutely love it. They love when I do something crazy,” Woods continues. “It provides something that our family does each and every year, even as they get older, I'm still going to do it. And they're still going to say it's me or ‘dad, you look ridiculous,’ or anything like that. But it's something they're always going to remember for the rest of their lives.”

((Myers))) omits the full context, or in more frank terms, lies.

What is a “Mac Daddy,” Mr. Myers?

The term comes from a 1973 blaxploitation movie called “The Mack.” It's a story about a career criminal nigger who eludes evil racist white policemen to become the top sex trafficker in his city.

It's an inspiring story of white women and their enlightened natural ally (according to Jews), the black man, intersectionally cooperating to defeat the White Supremacist Patriarchy!

Information is scant about the director, Michael Campus, who is not black.

Jew or not? You decide!

This clearly wasn't important enough to bring up in Golf Digest. The Jews who work in the media either think this kind of behavior is nothing out of the ordinary, or want you to think it's normal.

A father takes on the persona of a Santa Claus who sells women for sex for his heavily race-mixed 8 and 10-year-old kids every Christmas. A truly Weimerican Christmas story!

Fast Car Nigger Gets Cyber-Bullied for Saying “Boys Don't Wear Princess Dresses”

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 27, 2017

I am sick of hearing about “cyber-bullying.”

It is a buzzword used exclusively for “attacks” on people who support the mainstream narrative.

A fast car nigger can be cyber-bullied for questioning trannyism, and everyone celebrates it as a good thing.

The Independent:

Lewis Hamilton has sparked outrage after sharing a video in which he tells his young nephew: “Boys don't wear princess dresses.”

In the video, the Formula One driver can be seen disapprovingly commenting on his nephew's choice of attire.

Hamilton begins the video by facing the camera and expressing his disappointment.

"I'm so sad right now. Look at my nephew," he says.

He then turns the camera on the young boy, who is very happily wearing a princess dress and waving a toy wand.

This is a toddler, by the way.

He looks about 3.

Hamilton asks: "Why are you wearing a princess dress? Is this what you got for Christmas?"

His nephew responds very enthusiastically, evidently enjoying wearing the pink and purple dress.

The boy seems to be none the wiser that he is being lambasted by his uncle.

Hamilton ends the video by loudly exclaiming: "Boys don't wear princess dresses!"

The video has subsequently received a lot of criticism after being posted on Twitter by Hamilton's followers.

Many people feel angered that Hamilton is teaching his nephew that it's wrong for boys to wear dresses if they want to, thus enforcing negative gender stereotypes.

And now this nigger has a mob on his black ass.

For saying something that would have been totally acceptable to say as recently as 2012.

— Ella Fraser (@ellee_fraser) December 26, 2017

The kid looks genuinely happy! Just let him enjoy his little life without having social norms imposed on him

— Nabeela (@JustNabz) December 25, 2017

Who is imposing social norms, bitch?

This fast nigger is being gang-attacked by a mob of social norm enforcers for saying something that violated the social norms, and if he wasn't a nigger he would probably have already been visited by the British cops.

Jameela Jamil brands Lewis Hamilton a 'careless tt' for mocking dress-wearing nephew

Emma Kelly said on Dec 27, 2017

The fast nigger has been bullied into apologizing and basically saying he is happy to have a mob decide the sexuality of his family members.

Yesterday I was playing around with my nephew and realised that my words were inappropriate so I removed the post. I meant no harm and did not mean to offend anyone at all. I love that my nephew feels free to express himself as we all should.

— Lewis Hamilton (@LewisHamilton) December 26, 2017

My deepest apologies for my behaviour as I realise it is really not acceptable for anyone, no matter where you are from, to marginalise or stereotype anyone.

— Lewis Hamilton (@LewisHamilton) December 26, 2017

I have always been in support of anyone living their life exactly how they wish and I hope I can be forgiven for this lapse in judgement.

— Lewis Hamilton (@LewisHamilton) December 26, 2017

And that is what this is: they are forcing homosexuality on this small child.

Any small child can dress up like a girl. Just like they can dress up like anything else. This is a toddler.

But when they dress up like Batman, they don't have a bunch of obsessive, deranged women saying "YOU ARE REALLY THE REAL BATMAN AND IF YOUR FAMILY TELLS YOU YOU ARE NOT THE REAL BATMAN THEY ARE EVIL AND SHOULD BE IN PRISON."

So Lorde Hates the Kikes Now, Huh?

Adrian Sol

THIS is what an anti-Semite looks like.

I must say I'm quite surprised with this. Well, I'm not surprised that someone would hate the Jews, of course—that's just common sense—but I'm surprised that pop singer Lorde would come forward with this without any chance of getting anything in return.

After all, logically, the reason someone would do this is in order to fish for a Daily Stormer endorsement. But we obviously can't give that to her, because Taylor Swift is already the official pop singer of the Alt-Right.

So I don't know what's going on there. Maybe she thinks we can have two official singers?

Can we? Man, I dunno.

I'll have to consult Anglin and Enoch about this.

Breitbart:

New Zealand pop star Lorde sparked intense backlash and calls for a boycott on social media this week after canceling a planned concert in Israel next summer due to pressure from the anti-Israel Boycott, Divestment, and Sanctions (BDS) movement.

Boycott the boycotter!

The 21-year-old "Royals" singer was due to perform in Tel Aviv in June 2018 but reversed course and canceled the concert this week after coming under pressure from BDS, the hard-left movement which advocates for financial and cultural boycotts of Israel.

As opposed to the hard-right GLS movement (gas, lampshade and soap) which advocates for the biological and territorial boycott of Jews.

GLS activists on the street.

"I've received an overwhelming number of messages and letters and have had a lot of discussions with people holding many views, and I think the right decision at this time is to cancel the show," Lorde said in statement announcing her decision.

Her fans hate the Jews to such an extent that they write to her asking her to boycott these filthy merchants. It's really touching. Especially considering that her fan base is mostly composed of little girls. Generation Zyklon is definitely gearing up to be the most red-pilled yet!

The cancelation was met with widespread backlash both on social media and in the larger entertainment industry.

Actress Roseanne Barr reacted to the news by tweeting, "Boycott this bigot."

In the minds of Jews, it's hypocrisy to boycott an immoral Jewish state without also boycotting a noble European and Christian state which did absolutely nothing wrong.

No, oven-dodgers, that's not what hypocrisy is. Hypocrisy is criticizing people for doing something which you're also doing openly and unapologetically—like, for example, building a wall to keep foreigners out.

Lorde is boycotting the Jews because her millions of fans expect it of her, because she hates them, and presumably also because they killed Jesus. There's nothing more to it than that.

Jews Invent Alt-Right Conspiracy Theory to Explain Bad Star Wars Reviews

Eric Striker
Daily Stormer
December 26, 2017

Disney's latest Star Wars cash grab has a huge gap between the critical reception (92%) and audience reviews (52%) on Rotten Tomatoes. It's also bombing at the box office relative to previous releases.

According to Jews, this is part of an evil alt-right conspiracy.

You see, it can't be that professional reviewers working for mainstream Judenpress are cherry-picked for their ideology or corrupt assholes frightened by Disney's clout as an advertiser. Instead, the disconnect between reviewer and audience is the product of Neo-Nazi bots!

The paranoid fake news kike Drew Schwarz amplified (((Matthew Jacobs))) Huffington Blog entry making these claims and the rest of the MSM picked it up from there.

Vice:

Critics seem to love The Last Jedi, and it's raking in cash hand over fist at the box office. But for a movie that's apparently obscenely popular, it's facing some pretty serious backlash from viewers—as of Thursday, its audience score on Rotten Tomatoes weighed in at 54 percent. So what gives?

According to the Huffington Post, a fringe alt-right group might be to blame. Some anonymous troll behind the Facebook group “Down With Disney's Treatment of Franchises and its Fanboys” told HuffPo he dispatched an army of bots to flood The Last Jedi's Rotten Tomatoes page with negative reviews. The moderator—who self-identifies as alt-right—said he went after the movie for its “feminist agenda,” arguing that Poe Dameron (Oscar Isaac) is a “victim of the anti-mansplaining movement,” Luke Skywalker (Mark Hamill) is somehow being “turn[ed] gay,” and that there are too many women featured in the film.

“I'm sick and tired of men being portrayed as idiots,” the moderator told HuffPo. “There was a time we ruled society and I want to see that again. That is why I voted for Donald Trump.”

In a Facebook post, the moderator took sole credit for The Last Jedi's low audience rating on Rotten Tomatoes, claiming that his bots “rigged this score and still keep it dropping.” But as the review aggregator tells it, that's a load of bunk. A representative from the site told HuffPo that if an army of bots were shitposting on The Last Jedi's page, Rotten Tomatoes would've noticed.

“As a course of regular business, we have a team of security, network, social, [and] database experts who monitor all of our platforms and they haven't seen any unusual activity,” the rep said.

So in other words, Schwarz knows this isn't true, but you don't get the truth until the bottom 1/4 of the article. This is the formula used by the Judenpress to lie, as they know their easy-to-gaslight readers don't look past the title and a few paragraphs.

Any time you see a massive difference between (((critical reception))) and audience reception, it's because there is a political factor at play.

Both Fight Club and Conan the Barbarian were revolutionary works of art when they first came out. Jew-enabled cultural Marxists like Roger Ebert gave them low reviews solely because he didn't like exactly what resonated with the audience: the message. He famously ignored much of Fight Club's artistic merits because of its quasi-Fascist characters.

Today on Rotten Tomatoes, we see the “professional” movie reviewers in lab coats gave Fight Club an average rating of 70%, while the audience rates it 96%!

The audience is indeed offended by the Tumblrfication of Star Wars under the expanding ear shadow of Moshe Rat Inc., but that's just one of the many stink lines coming out of this film can.

Let's see how all-encompassing the Alt-Right conspiracy is when the film premieres in China on January 5th and they find out the negro character's love interest is an Asian girl.

White Male Tech Employees Now Being Witch-Hunted for Visiting Cheap Hookers...!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 26, 2017

These filthy trollops are not going to stop unless we stop them.

Firstly, the idea of “sex trafficking” in America is completely made-up. We have a feminist system wherein the hookers, when caught, are allowed to just claim they dindu nuffin because “men forced me to do this.” And then the record shows that they were “trafficked.”

It's a gigantic hoax by global feminism.

Then of course, if they can hunt down and punish undersexed white males in the tech industry—who are undersexed specifically due to globo-feminism—they will do so.

Not only are they trying to prosecute them criminally, but also get them fired from their jobs—so that women and people of color can take over for them, of course.

AFP:

Unveiling the tech industry's patronage of brothels, an investigation by American weekly magazine Newsweek has found that employees from Amazon and Microsoft, among other tech firms in Seattle, purchased services from trafficked sex workers.

According to the report published on December 21, the employees of the tech giants had brazenly sent emails to brothels and pimps from their company accounts in the hope of obtaining services of trafficked Asian women.

The publication got records of the emails that were reportedly sent to brothels and pimps between 2014 and 2016.

The emails, obtained through a public records request to the King County Prosecutor's Office, reportedly showed that 67 of them were sent from Microsoft employee accounts, 63 from Amazon accounts and dozens more from companies like Boeing, T-Mobile, Oracle and local Seattle tech firms.

The authorities have been collecting them from brothel computers for a few years and have seized records from a fraction of the area's hundreds of brothels and illicit massage parlours.

"Some of the emails were collected during a 2015 sting operation that targeted sex worker review boards and resulted in the arrest of 18 individuals, including high-level Amazon and Microsoft directors. Two opted for a trial, which is currently set to begin in March," the report highlighted.

They weren't "high-level" or they would have just been using escorts instead of some shitty gook illegal massage parlor.

This is an attack on working class men who have been denied sex by the feminist system, then sought it elsewhere, then been hunted down and told they aren't allowed to get it elsewhere.

The only power of feminism is a monopoly on sex and using collective bargaining against men to force them to behave in a certain way in order to obtain sex (and then often denying them anyway). Because women are not actually good at anything.

Prostitution is a victimless crime.

But the feminist, with her sex monopoly, argues that she is the victim.

Trump's presidency has emboldened American white supremacists, so-called "white nationalists," and full-blown Nazis to a level they haven't enjoyed in decades. The Daily Stormer, the paper of record for those despicable groups, has come to represent how those racists have both exploited and tested the limits of the internet's free speech principles. And Andrew Anglin, the site's creator, is the human embodiment of the web's worst racist, misogynist, and anti-semitic streak. Anglin's Holocaust denial and calls for separation of races may look like mere trolling. But after Unite the Right's racist rally in Charlottesville in August that ended in the death of a counter-protestor, the very real danger of that neo-nazism became clear. And despite being kicked off numerous domain registrars and even abandoned by its DDOS protection firm Cloudflare, the site has managed to hold onto a perch online and keep spewing its fascist vitriol.

Tell the Dallas Morning News That Azzmador Deserves to be 2017's Texan of the Year

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
December 28, 2017

Azzmador had an epic run in 2017. It is a travesty that he was not even nominated for 2017's Texan of the Year award. We must correct this mistake!

I just finished reading Anglin's article about Richard Spencer's nomination for 2017's Texan of the Year. Out of all the people nominated by the Dallas Morning News, I guess Spencer was the best choice. However, I maintain that this has been a flawed nomination process. There is nobody more deserving of this award than my friend Azzmador.

First off, it is a known fact that you are not a real Texan unless you hate Jews. Azzmador is by far the most notorious Jew-hater in all of Texas. That alone makes him worthy of a nomination.

And beyond that, Azzmador had a really great 2017.

This past June, Azzmador BTFO'd a group of cucked 3 per-centers and OafQueefers.

Video Link

And right after that he dealt with the lying Jew press!

Video Link

This past August in Charlottesville, Azzmador started the famous "Jews will not replace us" chant at the torchlight march. He was also featured in Vice's documentary on the Unite the Right rally where he calls out Jewish Communists and criminal niggers for shutting down the event.

Video Link

He even recorded the now historic post Unite the Right rally podcast which I was honored to be a small part of.

And if that wasn't enough, he helped lead a raid on a workshop run by Communist faggots that openly advocated punching Nazis.

Video Link

Based on these impressive accomplishments, I find it disturbing that the Dallas Morning News has not nominated Azzmador for this award. In fact, they should just call off the nomination process and immediately make Azzmador 2017's Texan of the Year.

Unfortunately, they seem to be under the misconception that Texans want someone who likes Jews to be Texan of the Year. We know for a fact that this is not true. Texans don't want their Texan of the Year to be someone who likes Jews, Texans want a man who will annihilate Jews! And Azzmador is that man!

Homo Apple CEO Tim Cook Receives Massive Raise After Running Company Into the Ground

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer

December 28, 2017

I'd be laughing too if I was paid 12 million dollars to be a faggot and drive companies into the ground.

As we recently reported, Apple's iPhone X sales have been lagging behind expectations significantly. Given that this is their current flagship product and model for future iterations of the iPhone line, that doesn't bode very well.

More importantly, considering the general stagnation of the smartphone industry in the developed world, where pretty much everyone has a smartphone that does everything they need already, you'd think Apple would be moving towards new avenues for making hip gadgets.

But instead, they're getting left completely in the dust as the other major tech companies move into AI platforms (like Alexa, Google Home, Cortana, etc.), which are generally expected to be the next major transformation of the IT industry.

Smartphones revolutionized how people used computers, by transforming the services that companies offer from a web-based platform to an app-based platform. Now, companies are going to hook their services into AI's like Alexa so that people can buy their product or use their services through voice commands, and later through automated AI decisions.

Once people order their groceries by saying "Alexa, I'm out of butter and milk," whatever companies are using Alexa to sell their food are going to make a lot of money. And obviously, Amazon will be making even more of that money.

Once the AI is connected to your "smart fridge" or whatever, it'll just order stuff for you without prompting, as you run out. Most people will go along with that, because it'll be easier and more convenient, and masses of people always go with what's most convenient.

Considering the astounding amounts of power and money at stake here, and considering that Apple actually has a respectable if outdated AI system already (Siri), you'd think they'd be scrambling like mad to get at the front of the pack.

Well, you'd be wrong.

Instead of making a new version of Siri, which could potentially make them infinite amounts of money if they win this AI market-share competition, they're fuckin' around making new iPhone models nobody wants.

All of this, under the direction of the homosexual affirmative action hire Tim Cook.

And instead of firing his faggot ass, they're giving him a raise!

Wall Street Journal:

A year after delivering an unusual pay cut, Apple Inc. gave Chief Executive Tim Cook and other top executives a big boost in compensation for fiscal-year 2017 as the company exceeded annual sales and profit goals, according to a security filing on Wednesday.

Apple is making profits?
Lol.

Meanwhile, Amazon is reinvesting all of it's revenue into R&D, price cuts for consumers and generally doing everything they can to take over the world. They haven't earned a real "profit" in like a decade.

Are the people at Apple retarded? There's a mad scramble to be the first company to come up with consumer AI, self-driving cars and a host of other vital technologies just on the edge of being commercially viable. The first to make it to the finish line on these techs will have a massive advantage.

Yet Apple is wasting their time and money on "borderless screens" and "face unlock," which nobody even cares about. And they're spending their precious resources giving shareholders welfare checks instead of investing in the future of the company.

Mr. Cook's total compensation for the fiscal year, which ended in September, jumped 47%—to $12.8 million—the largest bump among the five executives listed in Apple's annual proxy filing. Mr. Cook's pay increase was driven by his cash bonus, which was hinged on exceeding the revenue and profit targets set by the board.

Apple's sales improved in fiscal 2017 on strong demand for newer devices, including the iPhone 7, the MacBook Pro and the iPad Pro.

The company also benefited from another year of more than 20% sales growth from its services business, which includes iTunes, Apple Music, Apple Pay and App Store sales.

At this point, these products were sold purely on hype. The iPhone 7 had no meaningful new features—and they actually took away the freaking earphone jack.

The MacBook Pro was a steaming pile of shit.

Video Link

And who the hell needs a really powerful tablet? People just play games, watch videos and browse the web on these things. Any 200$ tablet does it all perfectly well.

If the products are selling well, it's due to momentum alone.

Meanwhile, even Microsoft, of all people, are coming out with products that are more innovative than Apple.

Video Link

Revenue for fiscal 2017 totaled $229.2 billion, while operating income hit $61.3 billion, surpassing Apple's targets of $225.2 billion for sales and $57.9 billion for operating income. Still, revenue remained below the record high set in Apple's fiscal 2015.

Apple's slump in 2016 took a bite out of the total compensation of Mr. Cook and the rest of the executive team. His compensation fell 15%—all in reduced cash bonus—as Apple failed to meet financial goals because of a sharp decline in iPhone sales and a major downturn in the company's China business.

They compensated for their dwindling sales by releasing a whole bunch of crap. But now people are starting to get burned out on buying stuff that does exactly the same thing, while looking exactly the same as their previous gadgets. It's one thing to make the "Rolex" of phones—but good luck getting everyone to buy a new Rolex every year to keep your tech company afloat.

Apple needs to ditch their homo CEO as fast as possible and put in someone who can actually take the company where it need to be to stay relevant against Google, Amazon, Samsung and Microsoft.

Why don't you name the globalists?

Aside from George Soros, the only "globalist" these retards talk about, what other "globalist" individual, group or institution is anti-Israel?

Angela Merkel? Hilary Clinton? The Anti-Defamation League? Bill Kristol? Andrew Lack? Mark Zuckerberg? Paul Singer? Harvey Weinstein? The Saudis?

Name any random "globalist" in any context (whether they are Jew or non-Jew) and they are all hardcore Israel supporters, both morally and materially. That is because people who believe in breaking down borders, replacing white people and destroying Western civilization are all on the payroll of Jews and executing their will. Every major Jewish political donor and Jewish organization supports totally open borders for white countries and hardcore racial supremacism/ethnic cleansing for Israel.

Which is precisely why Cernovich and Jones only talk about (arguable) outlier George Soros, often attributing fake stories to him.

Thankfully, the “new right” (Cerno, Posobiec, Jones, McInnes) isn’t making much of an impact. Nobody is interfering with their finances, deplatforming or censoring them, but they are such transparent con men even Joe Public can’t stand it.

Repackaging Ronald Reaganism using power washed versions of our memes doesn’t work no matter how many ads of thug life Ben Shapiro you shove in our faces.

You can either take the real red pill and be a knowing goy, or take the penis pill and be a dick head.

Against all the odds we will overpower these hucksters and win. Telling the truth and being consistent is all we need.

Richard Spencer Nominated for Texan of the Year!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
December 27, 2017

Every year, the Dallas Morning News chooses a “Texan of the Year.”

This year, Richard Spencer is in the running.

Because yes. Even though you and me and everyone else just assumed Richard was from New England, he is actually from Texas.

Dallas Morning News:

Richard Spencer’s website features bigoted ideas disguised as commentary. Shrill posts carry titles such as “White Alabamans were stabbed in the back!” and “Only the alt-right can save the Jews.” In a video Spencer complains: “We’re told being an American is about being dedicated to a collection of abstractions and buzzwords: Democracy. Freedom. Tolerance. Multiculturalism.”

Oh, jeez.

That actually is a headline on altright.com, wow. I had to Google it.

Only the Alt-Right Can Save the Jews

By relentlessly promoting hatred for all ethno-nationalism for decades, the Jewish community has unwittingly "poisoned the waters" of its own post-colonial Jewish colony.

by COLIN LIDDELL · December 18, 2017 · 12:54

Jeez man oh jeez.

Makes me even more assured in my decision to quit the Alt-Right and join Groyperism.

Groypers sure af aren't trying to save the filthy Jews. The furthest we're going to go is making their free haircuts and showers as cozy as possible—though we're mainly doing that for the staff.

Spencer, a Dallas native, is credited with coining the term alt-right. His speeches and writings represent a new breed of white supremacy that seeks to sound mainstream while adhering to the same ugliness spouted by the likes of former KKK leader David Duke. But unlike Duke, Spencer in 2017 portrayed white nationalists as victims of what he calls an "anti-white agenda," expanding his appeal to people who are fed up with a multitude of social and economic issues. His influence on national politics even drew the wrath of Nebraska Sen. Ben Sasse who called Spencer a "brown-shirt-pajama-boy Nazi."

For his uncommon negative impact, Spencer, who did not respond to interview requests for this editorial, is a finalist for the 15th annual Dallas Morning News Texan of the Year. This designation is not meant as an award but as recognition of those Texans who had uncommon impact, which can be a positive or negative impact, during the past year.

"I would argue for this generation he's the most recognizable white nationalist figure," said Keegan Hanks, a researcher for the Southern Poverty Law Center. The Anti-Defamation League agrees, calling Spencer "the most recognizable public face of the alt-right."

According to the Southern Poverty Law Center, Spencer has been sickeningly strategic about making his white nationalism sound almost academic. He graduated from St. Mark's School of Texas and earned undergraduate degrees in English and music from the University of Virginia and a master's in humanities from the University of Chicago; Spencer surely knows the world of academia.

Through his silence and contentious words, President Donald Trump has left room for Spencer's opportunism. After Trump's surprise victory, Spencer's National Policy Institute sponsored a conference where he saluted the 200 in attendance and said, "Hail Trump, hail our people, hail victory!" Following the violence in Charlottesville, Spencer pointed out that Trump first criticized violence "on all sides" before mentioning white supremacists and neo-Nazis. And Spencer noted in a tweet to his 80,000 followers, "Trump has never denounced the Alt-Right. Nor will he."

Spencer is exploiting America's perception that it is deeply divided. So long as Spencer can portray whites as victims in his imagined cultural war, he will continue to have an impact.

lol @ "imagined culture war."

"You're just imagining it all, stupid goyim."

So here's to Richard Spencer.

Because even if he won't put the old TEXAS HEAT on these evil Jews and is instead trying to save them (honestly, I just found out about that right now), he's still the best Texan that I'm aware of.

Other than Azzmador, who is seeking a TOTAL ANNIHILATION of the Jews.

But Azzmador isn't nominated.

So, yes.

I'm casting a vote for Ricardo.

Merry Christmas Everyone From Your Friends at the Daily Stormer

Gab, the Twitter clone that has been mostly allowing free speech as of late and of which I am a user, has given us a gift this Christmas.

After months of my demands, the site is now publicly visible to all who wish to gaze upon it. Previously, it had been only visible to members of the site.

This is to say that you can now go and view my posts and the posts of others such as Azzmador, Cantwell, Boatsinker, UnCL3 and Pepe Memes without signing up.

I think that after having spent time viewing the site, you will be driven to signing up. It is getting a lot better.

I am disturbed by the CTO's attacks on freedom of speech and mockery of those who believe in it, and fear that CEO Andrew Torba may be having trouble guiding the ship. But thus far, there has only been one speech-related banning, and some of the weirder stuff appears to have been backed-off of.

Whatever the case, it's a good place for now, I have only been censored once and it was done because the registrar was threatening to shut down the site. The user experience is getting better generally.

Every year there is one day when I only write one one article, and that is Christmas day. This is not so much to give me the day off, but to give you, the reader, the day off.

It's also because hopefully, there isn't much happening in the big world.

Christmas time is historically the most important part of the Christian calendar, and before Christmas, we had Yule all throughout Northern Europe and I'm sure the Southern Europeans and Slavs had something similar.

It's important maybe because of some religious reasons, but the religion is only there to support the community and the family anyway, and today should be a day for family. So, if you're reading this—which you really shouldn't even be doing—but if you are, then I ask you to turn your phone off for the day and spend time with your people.

Because your people are what matter. That's the whole reason any of us are in this thing. Fighting for human experiences and the rights of future generations to have them.

So if you're at home alone today—and I would hope you are not, but if you are—call someone up and get together. Even if you haven't seen someone in years, it's okay to call on Christmas. It's always okay to call on Christmas.

Furthermore, even if you're not alone today, if you've got a dysfunctional or split-up family and a parent or a sibling that you haven't talked to in a while, consider that: consider calling them up and just saying “hey, I just wanted to call and say Merry Christmas.”

Now that boyfriend, 17, has been charged with killing the parents.

Police say the teen fatally shot Scott Fricker, 48, and Buckley Kuhn-Fricker, 43, of Reston, after they caught the teen in their 16-year-old

But, you know. Don't mention to your family that the other ones are part of a conspiracy to destroy our heritage by removing our sacred symbols.

In fact, don't talk to your family about any of that stuff today. Keep it about the positive things. Don't get into conflict with boomers or otherwise mind-warped loved ones.

Because even if they're minds are warped, you are tied to them by blood and that comes first. That is the most important thing, the blood. Nothing matters more than that.

Merry Christmas to all of you.

There are all of these millennia of our ancestors focusing on this particular time of year as a sacred time that there is magic in it. That is the feeling that you get around this time of year: all of that ancient celebratory communal energy imbued in this special time, and in the symbols. That is why a Christmas tree, the bells and the songs make you feel something special that nothing else makes you feel at any other time of the year.

Most importantly, kids, remember: no matter how mad you get, don't murder your girlfriend's parents.

daughter's bedroom around 5 a.m. Friday and tried to get him to leave, the Washington Post reported.

After allegedly shooting the parents, the boy, of Lorton, Va., shot himself in the head, but has survived, police said. He remains unidentified because of his age.

On Dec. 17, Kuhn-Fricker sent an email to the principal of the Fairfax County, Va., private school that the daughter and her boyfriend attended, alerting the principal about her concern regarding the boy's beliefs.

In the email, the Post reported, she attached images of the boy's social media account in which he had retweeted messages praising Hitler, supporting Nazi book burnings, calling for "white revolution," and making derogatory comments about Jews.

"I would feel a little bad reporting him if his online access was to basically be a normal teen, but he is a monster, and I have no pity for people like that," the mother wrote in the email. "He made these choices. He is spreading hate."

"He is a monster."

Though it sounds like he had the last laugh.

And maybe your morality—or anyone's morality for that matter—matters less than who is capable of revenge.

The girl's family staged an intervention Wednesday, took her to a friend's house in Washington, D.C., and tried to convince her to stay away from him. The girl eventually agreed it was in her best interests to end the relationship, the Post reported.

The parents went to check in on their daughter Friday morning, after possibly hearing a sound, a detective told the girlfriend's grandmother. They discovered the boyfriend in their daughter's bedroom. The girl's father shouted at the boy, told him to leave and never return. The boy then pulled out a gun and fatally shot both parents before turning the gun on himself.

It's not a very nice Christmas story, for sure.

The family should have made better decisions, rather than pushing this lad over the edge.

Anyway, kids.

Don't do this.

Don't kill your GF's parents. Or anyone else.

We're all angry and that's a good thing, but we need to stay cool. That fantastic anger that was used to kill two people—who may or may not have deserved it, but either way are irrelevant in the scheme of things—could have been used against the enemies that have created this situation for us.

If you're feeling uncontrollable rage, leave your gun at home. Or, better yet, give it to a good friend to hold for you. Tell him not to give it back until he thinks you're ready for it.

I'm mostly speaking to teenagers and early twenties here, but that goes for all of you. If you think you are in a psychological situation where you could harm yourself or others, ask a close male friend for help, and don't hesitate to ask him to hold your gun/guns for you. That isn't being weak, it is just being smart.

At best, this kid is going to do 20ish years for double murder, at worst he's brain dead—for losing his cool over some bitch who could have been replaced in a week with another dumb bitch.

And that is another jolly Christmas life lesson for you: all bitches are interchangeable. "Unique woman" is an oxymoron. Don't ever let yourself get emotionally wrapped up in some bitch, and again, if you do, ask your MALE friends for support.

I can't stress enough: don't be afraid to ask a male friend for help if you need it. The way men's minds work, it is an honor to be asked by another man for help, and there is an immediate sense of duty.

And that goes the other way: if your friend seems like he's in a dark place, be there for him and don't hesitate to ask him if he wants you to hold his weapons for him until he feels better.

We have an agenda here, and it is much bigger than some stupid whore or her overbearing SJW parents.

We have to bring down the entire global order, and we need all hands on deck.

So hey—I was able to twist this into a happy Christmas message pretty good, no?
